I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it be possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

THE BEST COUGH MEDICINE.

I sell more of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy than of all similar preparations put together and it gives the best satisfaction of any medicine I ever sold. I guarantee every bottle of it.—F. C. JACQUES, Inland, Mich. This remedy is for sale by John Preuss.

Off His Course

Some excitement was caused on the waterfront back of Flanagan's market yesterday evening, by cries for help coming from under the wharf. After some search, a man was found perched on a water pipe a few feet below the planking with his head at an opening in the wharf large enough for a man to crawl through. When a small crowd collected the fellow was inclined to resent the interest he had aroused, and claimed to know exactly what he was about. Later he was helped out of his uncomfortable position by Paul Wilbur.

The man was a stranger, said to be a sailor. He was well dressed, but had evidently looked upon something when it was red, and probably crawled down through the opening in the wharf under the impression that he was going down into the force-escape to turn in.

Annual Reunion

One of the most enjoyable occasions of the season was the annual reunion of the Alumni Society, which took place in the dining room of the Blanco Hotel, Friday evening, immediately after the graduation exercises in the Hall. When the exercises were over in the hall the members of the society adjourned to the Blanco, where they commenced "to eat, drink and be merry."

The occasion was made merry by songs and toasts. All know that the Marshfield school enjoyed an enviable reputation at one time in regard to its singing, and was suffering from a very severe cold, and was unable to do that justice to her answer which she would have done under more favorable circumstances.

Miss Evarda Erickson representing the class of '00 by adding her toast to the occasion, stamped more firmly on the minds of all present the ever pressing needs of a firmer friendship.

The last but not least was a toast "To the occasion" by Miss Jottie Watson.

Those present were: Mr and Mrs F. A. Golden, Mr and Mrs P. M. Wilbur, Mr and Mrs E. L. Farrin, Mr and Mrs W. H. Short, Mr and Mrs Wm. Lawlor, Misses Annie Bieson, Ellen N. Beamis, Mary Foshay, Gertrude Engle, Maggie Anderson, Evarda Erickson, Jottie Watson, Agnes Hutchison, Eva Anderson, Stella O'Connell, Grace McCormac, Esther Ogren, Clara W. Johnson, Alice Hagelstein, Maud Brown, Mamie Mahoney, Josephine Cordes, Tolle Cordes, Alice McCormac, Clara A. Johnson, Millie Johnson, Lottie Larsen, Ruby Wieder, Genevieve Sengstacken, Messrs. Robt. Ray Watson, Henry Hagelstein, Jay Tower, Claude Nasburg, Dan Keating, Fred Hofer, Emile R. Peterson, Walter Butler, James Cowan Jr, Russ Tower, Thomas Bennett.

Some wanderer from the outside world tried the brakebeam act on the C. B. R. & E. last Saturday. He jumped a work train coming over with a light load of logs and only touching the high places, and by the time he had reached the landing at Eagle point he was ready to walk the rest of the way into town, having accumulated enough thrills to set him several years.

The News learns from Jas. Walt, Mr. Burke, owner of a mine on Cripple Creek, Colorado, has bargained for the mine at Maxwell, and that his superintendent, Mr. Jones, who has had much experience in coal mining, is due here now to take charge and to commence active operations. The driving of a slope, to tap the big vein, is to be commenced at once, and three shifts will be kept steadily at work. Some of the employes have already arrived, and others will follow. It is the intention to commence shipping coal by next winter, as development work will then be well under way.

Lively, But Harmless Runaway.

One of F. P. Norton's work teams, which had been left standing at the corner of Front and C streets yesterday, took fright at a steamer whistle and ran away. Going up C street they ran into another pair of Norton's horses, harnessed but not hitched to a wagon, and then joined the procession, which proceeded at a lively pace out into the Fourth street bridge. Here the hero of the occasion appeared on the scene in the person of Edgar Mauley, who jumped into the wagon and stopped the one team, while the loose pair kept on to Norton's barn, near the race track. Fortunately no material damage was done.

Paid His Fine

L. B. Masters, of Catching slough pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery in Judge Hyde's court Tuesday, and was fined about eleven dollars, which he paid.

The charge was brought by Andrew Hongell, who lives on Catching slough. It seems that Hongell and the Masters boys got into a controversy at Hongell's landing, which culminated in L. G. Masters hitting him a swipe on the side of the head knocking him into the slough.

One story is that the Masters boys then helped Hongell out, and another story is that they kept shoving him back in. Any way he got out and came to town and swore out a warrant, which Marshal Carter served Monday morning, when Masters came down and paid the $11.00.
