Death of Edward Davis

Edward Davis died at Lake, Or., at 10 o'clock, July 29th after an illness of about 36 hours, at the age of 76 years. The remains were interred at the Sand Hill Cemetery at 2 o'clock July 30, Rev. G. M. Strowen officiating.

Mr. D. was a native of Kentucky, but spent most of his youth in Alabama and other Southern states. At the outbreak of the civil war he gave his fortune and service to the cause of the confederacy, something of which he was always proud. When it became evident that he was working for a lost cause he left the army and with others went to Mexico, returning after the close of the war and engaged in livery business in his native state where he married and where he leaves several grown up children with his first wife. His second wife to whom he was married about 8 years ago survives him together with 3 stepchildren. Mr. Davis has lived on his estate near the Tenmile creek bridge for about nine years, previous to which he lived for a while on South slough and at Empire. His property was left to his stepdaughter, Viola Ruth, of whom he was very fond.

Big Hole in the Mudflat

Parties on the hill who were looking toward the Standard Oil warehouse, about low tide Friday, were surprised at noticing a sudden agitation of the whole surface of the mudflat in that vicinity, as is from the impact of some heavy body. Presently a portion of the flat was seen to partially separate itself from the rest, and take the semblance of a man's form. Then people were seen putting down a plank from the wharf above, and up this incline the mud-monster crawled, finally standing revealed as what was once T. E. Dow.

Further investigation disclosed the fact that Mr. Dow had become envious of his wife's ability to ride a bicycle, and borrowing a wheel of his son, F. S., he essayed the task of conquering its peculiarities. He declined Mrs. Dow's assistance, on the ground that he could learn better by himself. He soon learned to stay on to such good effect that when the wheel started toward the edge of the wharf and refused to turn, he couldn't get off, but rode plump over the edge and some 10 feet down to the flat below.

Fortunately he struck where it didn't hurt, but the amount of mud he brought away has not been measured.

Dysentery Cured Without the Aid of a Doctor

"I am just up from a hard spell of the flux (dysentery) says Mr. T. A. Pinner, a well known merchant of Drummond, Tenn. "I used one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was cured without having a doctor. I consider it the best cholera medicine in the world." There is no need of employing a doctor when this is used, for no doctor can prescribe a better medicine for bowel complaint in any form either for children or adults. It never fails and is pleasant to take. For sale by John Preuss.

DISASTROUS FIRE

Consumes Upper Bunkers at the Libby Coal Mine

The upper bunkers at the Oregon Coal & Navigation Co's mine at Libby were burned yesterday afternoon, by a fire which started in the oil house. There was in the bunkers about 75 tons of coal, which was also consumed. The loss is considerable, as the bunkers cost in the neighborhood of $15,000.

The shipment of coal will be delayed while the wreck is being cleared away, but it is hoped to resume in a few days.

Not overwise

There is an old allegorical picture of a girl scared at a grass hopper, but in the act of heedless treading on a snake. This is paralleled by the man who spends a large sum of money building a cyclone cellar, but neglects to provide his family with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a safeguard against bowel complaints, whose victims outnumber those of the cyclone a hundred to one. This remedy is everywhere recognized as the most prompt and reliable medicine in use for these diseases. For sale by John Preuss.

ERIC ANDERSON DROWNED

Falls Overboard from a Rowboat and slaks

Eric Anderson, aged about 33 years was drowned Monday night at 9 o'clock at the mouth of Catching slough. He leaves a mother, brother and sister, Mrs Chas. Smith, who lives on Kentuck slough.

The unfortunate man, accompanied by Hermann Kronman left Marshfield in the evening about half past seven for Alex Matson's place on Catching slough, and when they entered the slough the row boat was stuck on the flat. Kronman in endeavoring to get free rocked the boat and Anderson lost his balance and fell overboard just as they shot into the channel. Anderson was a strong swimmer but did not come to the surface.

Coroner Mingus was summoned and a party will drag the slough for the body
