

IT IS A MATTER OF HEALTH

PERSONAL AN LOCAL

From Wednesday's Daily.

The red spar buoy, No. 8, is adrift in the lower bay opposite Empire.

George Keating of Gardner is making a short visit to his relations here.

Dr. E. E. Straw, who has been absent for some time, returned on the Casrina yesterday.

Bert Folsom, who is running a logery near Dora on the east fork of the Coquille, was in town Tuesday on business.

W. W. Gage, who has been visiting his son Fred near Allegany, came to town yesterday on business, returning the same day.

What Are They?

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. A new remedy for stomach troubles, biliousness, and constipation, and a good one. Price 25 cents. For sale by Jno. Preuss.

Robert Marsden Jr. and Alex Campbell received each a new slide trombone yesterday which they will play in the band.

The surveyors have now worked down as far as sand point opposite North Bend, and are sticking their stakes for triangulation of the crossing between Glasco and North Bend.

John C. Frye of McKinley while assisting Lee Mast Monday to haul logs got into a mix-up with his team and wagon which tipped over throwing him across a log which resulted in breaking two of his ribs.

Here is one way to build up your list of bona fide subscribers: Get some one residing, say on Haynes slough, for instance, to give you a list of all the people in that section over 6 years of age. Slip these names into your list; swear to it; and there you are.

Appropriate: Cassidy—"O! want a wreath of flowers, an' put on it: 'He rests in peace.' Florist—"Don't you mean 'He rests in peace?' Cassidy—"O! mane phwat O! sed, 'Tis for Casey that was blowed up in the quarry."—Philadelphia Press.

Marshall Carter was busy with his shovel yesterday clearing up some of the accumulation of dirt and trash along Front street. This is a work which was somewhat neglected during the time that Carter was out of office, but the street is already showing the effect of his re-instatement.

Her explanation: "Do you mean to say such a physical wreck as he is gave you that black eye?" asked the magistrate. "Says, your honor, he wasn't a physical wreck till after he give me the black eye," replied the complaining wife.—Tit Bits.

Death of Miss Josie Cowan

By a telephone message from Mrs. Josie Cowan, David Cowan yesterday received the sad news of the death of Miss Josie Cowan at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening at Blue Lake, Cal., whither she went last December for her health. The remains will be brought home as soon as possible for interment.

Miss Cowan was the daughter of John Cowan, and had lived many years in Marshfield. She was a member of the D of H lodge and had many friends who will be grieved to hear of her untimely end.

From Thursday's Daily.

A movement is on foot to establish a pulp mill at Marshfield.

J. D. Dyer, of Sumner was making some purchases in town yesterday.

A tree fell across the track this side of the McAdams place delaying the train several hours yesterday.

The Ladies Art Club held its last meeting at Mrs. Prentiss' on the Marshfield Heights and the next meeting will be held at Mrs. Richart on A street.

Services at the Methodist Episcopal church tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The pastor will preach Friday at 7:30 p m. Subject, "The Value of the Love."

Frederic Villiers, the well known war artist and correspondent, declares he saw the following sign in a prominent hotel in an Australian town where water was scarce: "Please don't use soap when washing, as the water is required for tea."

Suspense: "Been hunting today?" "Yes," said the amateur, with the wild apprehensive look in his eye. "Have you shot anything?" "I don't know yet. I'm waiting for the rest of the party to get into camp, so that we can call the roll."—Washington Star.

Frank Smith, superintendent of the Coos river hatchery was in town yesterday. He is preparing to plant about 1,000,000 more salmon fry in the creeks tributary to Catching slough as soon as the storm is over. He says that the fry might as well be planted on a sidehill as in Coos river at this time, as the river is swarming with trout that put in overtime grabbing the little fellows.

Our esteemed contemporary down the creek, evidently fearing that its 1078 bone fide subscribers would think that the new Spreckels steamer was coming across the Isthmus, solemnly informs them that she "will make the trip around the horn." This is an error; the Breakwater will not make the trip 'around the horn," unless Captain Seaman is as badly off his base as some editors.

North Bend Notes

Judge Turpin, of Empire, was noticed among our busy people Monday.

At present there are no new cases of measles reported, and it is the general opinion that the malsady has run its course.

J. E. Robertson, of Haynes slough, who has been suffering with a severe attack of bronchitis, is some what improved, and will be able to attend to business in a few days.

Mr. J. B. Robertson, a new arrival of Long Beach, California, went to Haynes slough Monday intending to purchase a farm in that neighborhood.

Roy Ingle, a young man who is acting in the capacity of apprentice in the printing office at this place, severely mangled two fingers on his right hand, last week while working with a press.

Quite a little excitement was created in our city Sunday by a report that a large whale had drifted down near Empire. Several of our citizens, in order to satisfy their curiosity, chartered a boat and went to the beach. After the party returned, several were questioned in regard to the monster of the sea and was told very emphatically that it was only a "Johak."

The report is current that North Bend is to have a $30,000 hotel as soon as the material can be secured. This, no doubt, is a good investment for the gentlemen who are at the head of this improvement. The rapid growth of this city will support another good hotel and we predict that before another year rolls around, there will be a good opening for another as large as the one contemplated, and possibly larger.

Perfect Confidence

Where there used to be a feeling of uneasiness and worry in the household when a child showed symptoms of croup, there is now perfect confidence. This is owing to the uniform success of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the treatment of that disease. Mrs. M. I. Basford, of Poolesville Md., in speaking of her experience in the use of that remedy says: "I have a world of confidence in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for I have used it with perfect success. My child Garland is subject of severe attacks of croup and it always gives him prompt relief." For sale by Jno. Preuss.

HOW AN OUTSIDER VIEWS IT

Discussion of Marshfield's Advantages and Drawbacks

Yesterday a Coast Mail reporter asked a newcomer a few questions in the replies to which we think there is food for reflection.

The gentleman who was interviewed was a man who had the appearance of being in ordinary circumstances, but bright and seeming a man of broad experience in the ways of the world. On being asked as to what he thought of our country he expressed himself pleased that the climate compared very favorably with that of his eastern home, only ever so much milder, but he said: "You have a peculiar population here. I never have seen so plain a contrast between enterprise and get and stolid conservatism as there is here and the general idea of what constitutes an energetic citizen in Marshfield and North Bend.

"Down there every man is a pusher for the town. New moves for different new industries are discussed and even though many of them are something in the line of air castles, there are evidences of men putting up their own money to show their good faith in their idea or scheme. Everybody seems to have a good word for the town, and, of course, a conservative stranger is at once a little embarrassed, from the fervency and zeal with which these things are impressed and, I should judge in many cases this would cause the investigator to hesitate.

"Some of the real estate men have gone even so far as to try the "capper" plan to sell lots, in their greed to make sales.

Here a third party stepped into the conversation with the question: "How do you like Marshfield? Haven't we got the stability and solid firms here; men who have been in business here for 40 years, some of them; men who have made fortunes here and still can't see any reason why this spot on the bay is not supreme and will always remain so in a business way."

Here the stranger, with a twinkle in his eye interrupted the interrogator by saying:

"I concede all you have said may be true, but I see no great monuments to the credit of any business man in your town. Most of the merchants are carrying on their business in rented stores and some of the merchants are even complaining that their business hardly justifies the heavy toll on their business. You have an excellent school here, which would be a credit to a more pretentious town. Your churches are poor things, for so prosperous and stable a community. I have attended them all and have been impressed by the scanty attendance. Your streets are better than the average, and reflect great credit on the town council. Permanent street improvements, even though they are high priced, if the quality is good, are the best investment any town can make, and are the cheapest in the end. I note your town is not a cow town, like your neighbor down the bay.

"The wollen mill and other factories are good things for North Bend and look good to the new comer. Considering the age of your town your bay front should be lined with factories. You have a good channel on your water front but if you had a large shipping business your miserable front would be a barrier to handle the shipping. Yes, I like your town for its stability, but in most every business sense the cart is before the horse. I have bought some property in both places, and will be a better judge a few years hence."

The conversation was beginning to attract attention and the group of talkers dispersed.

From Friday's Daily.

The bar at Empire City was very rough yesterday.

The Alliance is scheduled to sail for Portland tomorrow.

The steamer Casrina crossed out over the bar yesterday morning.

Less Smith has bought the Hougar place on Haynes slough. Consideration $3000.

Jack Flanagan has now taken up the long and tedious work of learning to play the banjo.

Mrs. W. A. Border and her daughter, Mrs. L. Traver, of Myrtle Point, are visiting friends in Marshfield.

One of Tom Johnson's delivery horses took a spin down town last evening with his harness on, after being unhitched from the wagon.

Ernest Norton, who has been staying at Brewster valley, was in town yesterday, having come in repairing the telegraph line as far as Sumner.

It is now rumored that the new railroad will cross the bay at Dublin (the sand-point) instead of Glasco as was at first intended, and lots will be put on the market in a few days.

The Margarita Fischer Company now includes a bride and groom, Mr. Fred Lewis and Miss Virginia Francisca, of that organization, having been married at Eureka during their engagement there.

Rusty Mike's Diary, Feb. 12, 1904.—The more putators you raise this year the more seed you will lev fur next year—the better advertisin' you will do this year the bigger your business will be next.

While at Eureka Miss Margarita Fischer received from San Francisco two elegant new stage costumes. They are said to be finer than anything of the kind heretofore seen in Marshfield, and of this the ladies will be able to judge on the opening night of the coming engagement, when both will be worn.

Coquille Herald—Deputy Clerk Mast informs us that the tax roll was finished on Thursday, the 5th inst, and has been turned over to the sheriff for tax-collecting purposes. This is the third year in succession that the roll has been completed on the 5th of February.

Explanatory

Some of the readers of the Coast MAIL have asked us if it was our intention to drop the morning paper in case we start the contemplated evening paper. Yes, the idea is to change from a morning to an evening paper.

When You Have a Cold

The first action when you have a cold should be to relieve the lungs. This is best accomplished by the free use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The remedy liquefies the tough mucus and causes its expulsion from the air cells of the lungs, produces a free expectoration and opens the secretions. A complete cure soon follows. This remedy will cure a severe cold in less time than any other treatment and it leaves the system in a natural and healthy condition. It counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. For Sale by Jno. Preuss.

In the Land of Sunshine

John F. Hall is in receipt of a letter from J. E. Fitzgerald, who is now in San Francisco. Mr. Fitzgerald has been seriously ill but is now on the road to recovery. Mr. Hall will furnish any of his friends who wish to communicate with him the address.

The Margarita Fischer Company

The Margarita Fischer Company arrived on the Alliance from Eureka, where they played to large audiences, giving good satisfaction and doing a fine business. They will remain in the county between steamers, playing at the various points, giving Marshfield three or four nights. They will open here on the 25th.

Travel by Sea

Arrival by Alliance from San Francisco Feb. 10:—A Ferrian, C Stedman, Geo Howard, Verne Howard, J Davery, and wife, C A Norris, H Carlson, T McDermott, Mrs A Ferrin, and 2 children, W P Ballance, H Carlson, J B Dans J D Johnson, W H Heahy and 2 2d class.

From Eureka:—R R Soper, E R Simpson, A B Cartis, A L George, C Norman, J W Nye and wife, and 3 2d class, Fischer Co. 14 people.

Methodist Revival

The revival at the Methodist Episcopal church is, in the estimation of all who are attending, a great success. People are crying unto God for mercy and pardon. People are being converted and are enlisting in the King's service. All who are interested in the progress of our fair city are most cordially invited. The services tonight will be of unusual interest and importance.

The pastor will preach on "The value of the Soul." Come early come praying.

Marshfield to Have a Pulp Mill

A movement is now on foot amongst the business men of this city to establish a pulp mill. A company is being formed and it will be governed by local capital.

We hope this will be the corner stone for numerous industries. We would kindly ask the knocker to hide his hammer for awhile and help the good cause along. All it needs is the backing and the good will of our citizens to start this ball a rolling, for once get in and dig.

Coquille and Forks Raging

The Coquille river is very high and the rain of yesterday and last night will probably put the river out of its banks. Some of the booms on the middle and south forks have broken and a large number of logs have been caught in the booms along the river.

None of the logs have escaped so far and unless there is a constant downpour they will all be saved.

The prospect is a very heavy freshet, probably the heaviest of the season. There are now boom facilities large enough to accommodate all of the logs now cut.

The A. N. W. Club

The A. N. W. Club met with Miss Eickworth and enjoyed a very profitable and pleasant afternoon, Thursday, despite the stormy weather. The next meeting to be held at Mrs. Friedberg's.

The following letter will explain the position of the A. N. W. Club in regard to the public drinking fountain.

Marshfield, Ore.,
To the Artistic Needle Workers' Club,
City.

Madames:
At a meeting of the Common Council, held on the 8th day of February, 1904, it was unanimously resolved by said common Council that the petition of your club asking permission to construct a public drinking fountain at the intersection of First Streets be denied for the following reasons:

1st. That the use of public drinking fountains has been condemned by authorities on public sanitation for the reason that they are detrimental to the public health, being frequently the means of spreading infectious diseases.

2d. That on account of the extreme narrowness of the streets at this point, a public drinking fountain would tend to obstruct traffic.

We fully appreciate, however, the motive which actuates your club in this movement, and are heartily in favor of, and will do all in our power to further any project for civic improvement which does not prejudice the interests of the city.

Very respectfully yours,
HENRY HENNINGSTADEN
Mayor.

deal to you. Follow your doctor's advice and take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It heals, strengthens, prevents.

"For 40 years I have depended on Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for coughs and colds. I know it greatly strengthens weak lungs."
Mrs. F. A. ROBINSON, Saline, Mich.

Weak Lungs

Ayer's Pills increase the activity of the liver, and thus aid recovery.

Molting and Showing.

It is absolutely necessary to success in the showroom that the specimens molt properly. The fancier realizes this and gives his fowls special care at this time. Fowls out upon the farm, where unlimited range is accorded them, will usually come through the molt without any special care. Nature provides the food necessary to the growth of new feathers and the replenishment of the system. Insects in abundance supply the necessary animal food, while the grasses and other vegetable growth furnish the remaining required elements which enter into the composition of feathers, blood and flesh.

Stanley as a Fighter.

A thoroughly good man was Henry M. Stanley, whom I first met in the Ashanti expedition. No noise, no danger ruffled his nerve, and he looked as cool and self possessed as if he had been at "target practice." Time after time as I turned in his direction I saw him go down to a kneeling position to steady his rifle as he plied the most daring of the enemy with a never failing aim. It is nearly thirty years ago, and I can still see before me the close shut lips and determined expression of his manly face, which, when he looked in my direction, told plainly I had near me an Englishman in plain clothes whom no danger could appall. Had I felt inclined to run away the cool, firm, unflinching manliness of that face would have given me fresh courage. I had been previously somewhat prejudiced by others against him, but all such feelings were slain and buried at Amoaful.—"Lord Wolseley's Recollections."

COLLEGE AND SCHOOL.

Indiana does not permit consumptives to teach school.

Principal Peterson of McGill university will introduce a railway department in connection with his institution. By the will of William Wyman of Baltimore the Johns Hopkins university may expect ultimately to receive the residue of his estate, valued at $500,000.
