

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the full size. Ely Brothers, 66 Warren St., N. Y. The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads thick over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

WILL BEGIN WORK ON FIRE DEPARTMENT SOUVENIR

An arrival on the steamer Alliance which came into port last evening, was Dwight L. Looftbourrow who has been engaged to compile the proposed souvenir for the Marshfield Fire Department, the proceeds of which publication will go towards the building fund. Mr. Robinette, the other gentleman whose services have been secured in this work was unavoidably delayed in Portland but will arrive within ten days.

When seen by a Mail reporter at the Blanco last evening, Mr. Looftbourrow spoke enthusiastically of the project.

"I am confident the souvenir will be a success—financially and otherwise, and that its publication will be a source of extreme gratification to the members of the department goes without saying. Upon the occasion of a previous visit here I noted that your people are loyal to your fire laddies. This is as it should be. I anticipate the hearty co-operation of everybody in your city.

DERELICT ON A ROCKY SHORE

A Telegram coast special, dated Vancouver B C Feb. 17, says: The topsail schooner Emma Utter is being pounded to pieces off Leonard's Island, near Barclay Sound, and it is feared that Captain Hansen and five of the crew have been drowned. The schooner cleared from Gray's Harbor February 7, for San Francisco, sprang a leak was dismasted and the captain and five of the crew took to the boats. Henry Byndall, the other member of the crew, refused to leave.

Yesterday Indians at Clayoquot saw the Utter drifting before a fierce gale upon the rocks at the entrance of Barclay Sound. They boarded her and rescued Byndall. The latter blames the tugboat captain who towed the Utter out of Aberdeen Wash. for the misfortune of the schooner. He claims the latter cast off too soon and the schooner had no chance to make the offing. She struck heavily on the bar and commenced to leak. On February 10 she filled, and the captain and crew with the exception of himself, abandoned her Friday.

So far nothing has been heard of Captain and his five men.

WRECK OF THE FULTON

More Particulars of the Recent Disaster

The first authentic accounts of the wreck of the steam schooner Fulton at Port Orford was gleaned from L. W. Shaw, agent for the owners, on his return from the scene of the disaster, Friday.

The steamer, which had run in to Port Orford on account of shortage of oil fuel and was caught there by a hard storm from which there was no shelter, hung to her anchorage until Thursday noon, when the storm was at its worst, having too little fuel to attempt to put to sea. At that time the starboard anchor chain parted and the vessel started for shore. Seeing that there was no possibility of the port anchor holding her, the cable was slipped, and with the small amount of steam available the vessel was turned and headed for the beach. Then she broached to and the waves rushed over her decks.

The boats were then lowered, and the 2d mate, J. Ingleson, and two sailors taking the first one in an attempt to get a line ashore. The boat capsized, and the mate was struck on the head by a stick of timber from the deckload, which was now washing overboard. He went down and was seen no more, being the only man lost. The two sailors reached the beach and were assisted by the people on shore.

All on board the vessel were now in great danger, as the water was sweeping the decks and the deckload was going to pieces. Ed Elwell, the cook volunteered to go ashore with a line and tied the rope around his waist to make the attempt. As he was about to go over board, however, he was dismasted by other members of the crew. Finally a line fastened to a float was drifted to within reach of those on shore.

By means of a line and life rafts the remainder of the crew were rescued, though their peril was extreme and there were many narrow escapes. A number of the men were washed from the raft in transit, but managed to get aboard again or to reach the beach, where willing hands were awaiting to render any assistance possible. The captain was the last to leave the ship staying with her until darkness was falling.

The names of the officers and crew were as follows: Captain Lee; 1st mate, A. Hansen, 2d mate, J. Ingleson; chief engineer, B. A. Coanally; Assistant engineer, J. S. Sycett; firemen, G. Torney, T. Hoey; Seamen, G. Carlson, F. Wileda, G. Gustafson, A. Forsen, P. Wilcox, J. Jonson, S. Jonson, cook, Ed Elwell; waiter Max Konig.

The vessel now lies high up on the beach and can be reached dry from the shore. Captain Lee remains with his vessel, and an attempt will be made to save her.

"I enjoyed good health until about two years ago when I noticed my back began to ache frequently. It became sore and lame, and headache soon added to my misery. I also found that my general health diminished. I became thin and weak and nervous, having severe pains at regular intervals," writes Mrs. Augustus Emory, Treasurer New Century Club, 34 Dean Street (Boston), Boston, Mass. "She continues: 'My work which before had seemed an easy task soon seemed like a heavy burden. I decided to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which several of my friends praised so highly. I felt relief within a week, my appetite came back, the pains gradually decreased and I enjoyed sound sleep. Within fourteen weeks I had completely recovered my health. I seemed built up anew, my pulse, which had been weak because normal, and new life animated my entire being. I gladly endorse your medicine.'

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores weak and sick women to sound health, by curing the local womanly diseases which are generally responsible for the failure of the general health. A woman's entire being is centered in her womanly nature. When the delicate womanly organism is attacked by disease; when there is irregularity or a disagreeable drain; when inflammation bursts and ulcers grow the general health will reflect the progress of disease, in increasing weakness, nervousness, headache, loss of appetite and sleeplessness.

So sure of it is the World's Dispensary Medical Association, of Buffalo, N. Y., proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that they offer $500 reward for women who cannot be cured of Leucorrhoea, Female weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the stomach, liver and bowels.

MYRTLE LODGE CELEBRATES

Anniversary of Founding of the Pythian Order

Myrtle Lodge No. 3, K. of P. observed the Pythian anniversary Friday evening in a way every enjoyable for all those fortunate enough to be present, and members of the lodge, their wives and sweethearts and invited guests, to the number of over 150 spent several hours in a most pleasant manner.

The musical program in the lower hall with which the evening's pleasures opened, though, albeit, was well rendered by all the performers, which included Miss Jennie Wickman and Billie Smith in solos, Messrs Ayre and Secchi in a duet, Dungan and Pratt in a laughable original sketch in which Dungan represented one of our prominent business men and Pratt was a man with a load of chittim bark to sell.

At the conclusion of the program the hall was cleared and those with nimble feet took part in the pleasantest of social dances. In fact, those not quite so nimble were given a chance to get out on the floor in several square dances, which was appreciated to the fullest. In the meantime, in the lodge room above games were instituted, and a social circle around the stove caught the overflow. The liveliest feature was the bean bag game, in which a hard-fought contest between opposing forces led by Mrs C. A. Metlin and F. S. Dow resulted in a victory for the former.

At 11 o'clock the banquet was served, in a room devoted to that purpose, by J. W. Tibbets and a corps of assistants. The menu was simple but everything was of the most toothsome quality.

After the banquet the festivities both above and below were prolonged for several hours. Universally expressions of pleasure were heard and it is safe to pronounce the whole affair a great success in every particular.

Preparations have been made through out the country for the celebration, this week of the fortieth anniversary of the founding of the order of the Knights of Pythias, the largest fraternal and benevolent organization having a purely American membership. It was on February 19, 1864, that five men met in Mr. Arin's Hall in Washington D. C. and took the initial steps toward the foundation of the order. The five men were Justus Henry Rathbone, who conceived the idea, Robert A. Champion, Dr. E. Kimball, David L. Burnett, and Wm. H. Burnett. Messrs. Kimball are still living and are active members of the fraternity.

Justus Henry Rathbone is famous as the actual founder of the order, and the person to whose dramatic inspiration is due to the most beautiful features of the order, and the Pythian ritual. He submitted the first draft of the ritual based on the story of Damon and Pythias to the members of the old Arion Club, a musical organization which existed in Washington in the later years of the civil war. From this small beginning sprang Washington Lodge No. 1 K. of P., afterwards merged in Franklin Lodge No. 2, which is still in existence. This latter lodge is the fruitful mother of nine thousand Pythian lodges now flourishing in fifty-four grand domains, and carrying upon their rosters an aggregate of nearly six-hundred thousand members. There are also about fifty thousand of the knights who belong to the uniformed or military branch of the order, which is known as the "Army of the Lily."

It has long been supposed and generally believed in this fraternity that the idea of a great society based on the immortal story of the friendship of Damon and Pythias first came to Mr. Rathbone while he was teaching school at the copper town of Eagle Harbor on the Keeweenaw peninsula, Lake Superior, in 1860-1. Later Mr. Rathbone removed to Washington and became a clerk in the surgeon-general's office. He was a vocalist and ritualist of note, and his skill was displayed in many ways, but in none more notably than in the first draft of the Pythian ritual, which is recognized as remarkably beautiful and effective. Mr. Rathbone died at Lima, Ohio, in the residence of past Supreme Chancellor, Walter B. Richie, about thirteen years ago.

According to Pythian history, the ritual was read and the first steps toward organization were taken just forty years ago, when Mr. Rathbone and his friends met at the room of Robert A. Champion, the occasion being a rehearsal of the Arion club. Later in the same week another meeting was held and the preliminary organization completed.

The supreme lodge was organized in 1868, and incorporated by Congress June 29, 1894. Once founded, the fraternity grew marvelously, and today while one of the youngest of such orders, it is one of the largest and most flourishing from every view-point. In addition to the grand lodges in every state and territory in the United States, the order has jurisdictions in British Columbia, the Maritime Provinces, Manitoba, Ontario, Hawaii, Alaska and Cuba.

CONDENSARY WILL BE PUT IN

Good Prospects for Its Location at

Marshfield

E. J. Seeley, the gentleman who was here some weeks ago looking over the ground with a view to establishing a milk condensary here, returned on the Alliance, and the MAIL is informed that he intends to put in a plant at some point on the bay.

He was in consultation yesterday with quite a number of the prominent farmers and dairymen, and later expressed himself as much pleased with the feeling of friendship manifested by the people interested.

A strong effort is being made to secure the location of this industry in Marshfield and a committee from the Board of Trade is using every available means to bring about that end, with good prospect of success.

It is certainly worth while to put forth every exertion to add this important feature to Marshfield's industrial equipment, and it is fortunate that the new Board of Trade is in working shape to handle the proposition.

To the Public and Parents of Marshfield

I do not want to make trouble for anyone but it has recently been my luck to be shot in the leg, once, also, have had two bullets land in my ware house beside me, and several times have had bullets from 22 rifles come very close, and today just as I stepped into the crossing at 3rd and C street, three boys sent a bullet up 3rd street, and I am not over the fright yet.

I understand there is an ordinance against firing guns in the city limits, and in justice to myself and family I shall take it upon myself to make complaint, if I see any one breaking this ordinance, and will see that it is tried out. My life is well insured against death and also accident, but I am selfish enough not to want to leave a rich widow, so take warning, everybody, and be sure Dow is not around when you shoot. Signed,

F. S. Dow.

A Party—Coos River Notes

The patriotic young people of Coos river met at the home of E. J. Coffelt to celebrate the father of our country.

A most enjoyable evening was spent in playing flinch and other games, beside music, both vocal and instrumental. One of the main features of the evening was the leap year proposals by a number of charming young ladies to Mr. Floyd Coffelt, as a result a number of school ma'ams decided to teach the young idea how to shoot four more long tedious years.

Delicious refreshments were served by the genial and hospitable hostess, Mrs. E. J. Coffelt.

At an early hour of the morning the guests departed full of gratitude and chicken sand-wiches. The following guests were present: Mrs. A. Yoakam, Misses Marion, Mary and Grace Yoakam, Mildred Rogers, Anna Clinkenbeard, Rosa Gibbs, and Helena Wessela, Messrs. Geo. Clinkenbeard, W. Quick, A. O. Rogers.

Miss Helena Wessela of Empire is spending a few days with the Coffelt family.

The following children in Dist. No. 7 received the large certificates for not being absent or tardy for three months: Ernest Cutlip, May Cutlip and Loyd Cutlip.

Miss Rosa Gibbs spent Saturday with Miss Bronte Coffelt, and went up Catching slough Sunday to visit Baby Black. Mrs. Ren Smith is nearly recovered from her recent illness.
