A Birthday Surprise

A pleasant surprise party took place last evening. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, the turnout was good. The occasion was the forty-third birthday of Mrs. O. F. McCarty, of West Marshfield. An excellent time was had, it being a complete surprise to the family. The refreshments were bounteous and delicious and the occasion of this surprise at the forty-third milestone of Mrs. McCarty's life will be long remembered by all present.

Those participating were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Nasburg, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Rochon, Mr. and Mrs. H. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Colgan, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ploeger, Mr. and Mrs. C. H.

School Ground Improvements

Pursuant to a call the Marshfield High School Alumni Association met at the home of Miss Grace McCormick, the school board, Prof. Golden and a committee of the A. N. W. Club were present.

The meeting was called for the purpose of arriving at a conclusion as to means and methods of beautifying the public school grounds, for which the association has been earnestly laboring for some time.

At last night's meeting the initiative step was taken by the school board to have the bulkhead on A street rebuilt at once, and the association will be able to proceed immediately to cover the now unsightly slopes and otherwise improve the grounds, having been granted the privilege of doing so by the school board.

In the improvement of the Artistic Needle workers will assist. Various suggestions were offered by those present among them fixing the slopes which will be planted to ivy and it was also suggested that the "Top" or school grounds be covered with elack so it could be used for a play ground at recess time.

It was thought advisable to seat the assembly hall with moveable benches so the pupils could be seated during assembly exercises which has been a long felt want.

The Jewess of St. Louis

There was a young man in St. Louis, Who married a talkative Jewess: Her feet were so cold And her stories so old That he called her his Chauncy Depewess. —Ex.

Will Change Hands

Thomas Nichols has sold out his express and delivery business in Marshfield to Frank Haynes, who will take charge on April 15. Frank Haynes is well known here and will, no doubt, give the best satisfaction to the business men.

Thanks Governor

(Salem Statesman) One of the sprightly little papers that is doing a good work for the community in which it is published, is the Daily Coast Mail, of Marshfield, Coos County. Marshfield is located in one corner of the state, and, in one sense, somewhat out of the world, but its surrounding country is one of vast resources which are being rapidly developed. Such a country will come to the front.

Reaching Out For Trade

There is a disposition among the North Bend citizens to move for telephonic connection between there and North Coos river and it is becoming more evident every day that such a line can be arranged for and that it will be of great benefit to both the Coos riverites, North Bend and Marshfield as well. The business men of North Bend are reaching out for trade and will no doubt assist in building the line.

Death of Geo. W. Williams

Coquille Bulletin Geo. W. Williams died at the Hotel Coquille, Monday evening, of heart failure. He had resided in this county for some time, being employed on the river steamers until the last few months when ill health compelled him to give up his work. He was born in Harrison county, Missouri in 1857. The remains were buried Wednesday, March 9, in the Masonic cemetery.

His mother, a daughter, three brothers and two sisters living in Texas; two cousins, Bill Williams and Mrs. John Shelton, of this county, are left to mourn his loss.

Another Bear Killed

Will Wirth and Harry Schrock killed a fine big black bear yesterday afternoon on Willanch slough and brought the meat to town today. Henry Holm bought the meat. Mr. Wirth found his majesty in a hollow tree and shot into the den when he came out and was killed. The pelt was a beauty. This is the third bear which has been killed in that neighborhood within a week.

The Marshfield management of the base ball team have received a large number of letters from amateur players seeking positions. It is not definitely settled, as yet, as to whether a club will be organized for the coming season.

Miss Breezy—"Yes, I'm engaged to George. It was pretty hard to decide, because I liked Tom quite as well as George, and they're equally wealthy." Miss Wabash—"What finally decided you?" Miss Breezy—"George promised me the most alimony in case of divorce." —Philadelphia Press.

Myrtle Point Enterprise—Schiller B. Hermann is being discussed by prominent Republicans of the county as a candidate for Joint Senator, and has decided to enter the race. Mr. Hermann is a prominent business man of this place and one of Coos county's solid substantial citizens. He has served the people as a representative with credit and would faithfully represent Coos and Curry as senator.

Teacher—"If you face the north, directly behind you will be the south, on your right hand will be the east, and on your left hand west." Seeing a lack of attention on the part of Bobby, and wishing to catch him: "What is on your left hand, Bobby?" Bobby (in deep confusion)—"Please, it's as me tar, an' it won't come off." —Tid-Bite.

A New Building.

Robert Marden is contemplating putting up a large new building on the lot recently purchased at Port Orford. It will be a two story structure, the upper floor to be used for a hall and offices. The main hall will be 40x80 feet and will be finished in modern style. The plans have been prepared by a competent architect. The lower floor will be used for a first-class saloon, something which Port Orford has long been in need of.

Proper Treatment of Pneumonia

Pneumonia is too dangerous a disease for anyone to doctor himself, although he may have the proper remedies at hand. A physician should always be called. It should be borne in mind, however, that pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of the grip and that by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the threatened attack may be ward off. This remedy is also used by physicians in the treatment of pneumonia with the best results. Dr. W. J. Smith, of Sanders, Ala., who is also a druggist, says of it: "I have been selling Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and prescribing it in my practice for the past six years. I use it in cases of pneumonia and have always gotten the best results." Sold by John Preuss.

Marshfield Democrats Organize

On Saturday night the Democrats of Marshfield organized a "Chamberlin Democratic Club." A fair attendance was present at the Firemen hall. The following officers were elected: E. B. Seabrook, President; G. A. Bennett, Secretary; E. G. Flanagan, Treasurer; J. W. Flanagan, assistant Secretary. The organization was effected for the purpose of furthering the first interests of the Democratic party in Coos county. A similar club will be organized in Coos county and a grand rally of all Democratic forces will be made in Coos. The club will hold their first regular meeting on Friday night.

The Quarterly of the Oregon Historical Society, No. 1, Vol. 4, for December, 1903, has reached our table. This is the closing number of the volume, and with the three preceding numbers makes 410 pages of carefully prepared historical matter directly relating to the "Oregon Country," which cannot be found in any other form. The contents of this number are—History of the Origin and Authorship of Bancroft's Pacific States Publications; a History of a History, by W. H. Morris; Pioneer Newspapers of Puget Sound, by C. B. Bagley; Sketch of Willard H. Rees, a pioneer of 1844, by John Mintz; Sketch of Joseph Holman, a pioneer of 1840; Letter of Smith, Sublette and Jackson, of October 20, 1830, descriptive of a trip into the Oregon Country. In addition, several extracts from newspapers in the early 40's referring to Oregon. Full particulars about the Quarterly may be obtained from George H. Himes, Assistant Secretary Oregon Historical Society, City Hall, Portland Oregon.

Entertained

Mr. and Mrs. L. Lando entertained a number of their friends at their home on Telegraph Hill, Saturday evening. A most delightful time was enjoyed. The two new society games, Pit and 500, and a round of progressive whist were the amusements of the evening. Mrs. W. E. Dungan and Mr. E. L. C. Farrin, being the victors, were presented with pretty souvenirs, and Mrs. Hazard and Mr. Will Dungan came in for the consolations.

The guests then adjourned to the dining room where a very daintily prepared luncheon awaited them, to which all did ample justice.

The entire party voted Mr. and Mrs. Lando charming entertainers. All seemed loathe to depart but the final break away was begun before the coming of the small hours.

How the Dentist Came In Heaven

When Dock had tired of life's turmoil, Had shuffled off this mortal coil, 'Twas wondered much how one so given

To Nameless sins should live in heaven, But this, I'd told, is how it came, When flickered out this earthly flame, His spirit knowing justice well, Flew down before the gate of hell; He knocked; "Whose there?" the answer came.

"Dock—sir, that is my name; I have a beastly load of sin, So open the gate and let me in." "Can't do it," said the porter, quick, "You'll have to wait, the devil is sick; For yesterday, while making dinner, Upon a fat, ungodly sinner, He broke the largest fang he had, And has the toothache hellish mad." "Hold on," says Dock, "that's just my trade;

I'm a dentist, sir; the best that's made. Just let me in, and, sure as truth, I'll quickly ease the boss' tooth!" The gate flew open, and in he went, Conducted to the devil's tent, Where, on a pile of sinners' skins, Old Coos sat and ghastly grinned. Old Serpent stopped and eyed him well, Then said he'd make him king of hell, Where unmolested he might reign, If he would only ease his pain. Dock opened his valise and took His forceps out with knowing look, And bade the devil spread his jaws, And hold his breath and clinch his jaws.

Put on the pullers, gave a jerk, Out came the tooth, 'twas speedy work; But to the tooth, alas! there clung Full half the jawbone and the tongue, And Dock says, "As recompense I'll only charge you fifty cents."

The devil rose, he did not speak, Nor did he want to, words were weak; But, seizing Dock, he showed the skill The devil has of paying bills; With one wide kick done up in state He landed dock beyond the gate, And then it was the fact belied, He banished dentists all from hell.

—W. B. Armstrong, D. D. S.

Myrtle Point Enterprise—The Daily Coast Mail is now publishing the Scripps-McRae telegraphic service. It is a big step forward for the little daily and we admire the pluck of the proprietors in taking up the proposition. The service gives the people the war news and other important happenings a day sooner than they would otherwise get it. Business men should encourage the paper by giving it liberal patronage.

Nasal CATARRH

In all its stages there should be cleanliness.

Ely's Cream Balm cleanses, soothes and heals the diseased membrane. It cures catarrh and drives away a cold in the head quickly.

Cream Balm is placed into the nostrils, spreads over the membrane and is absorbed. Relief is immediate and a cure follows. It is not drying—does not produce sneezing. Large Size, 50 cents at Druggists or by mail; Trial Size, 10 cents by mail. ELY BROTHERS, 54 Warren Street, New York.
