Ladies Talk of Easter Hats

At her beautiful home on Telegraph Hill yesterday afternoon, the ladies of the A. N. W. Club were most delightfully entertained by Mrs. Is Lando. The occasion was the regular weekly business session of the organization, at which time matters of considerable importance were considered. The beautiful day, and the hospitality of the charming hostess was assurance of a full attendance of the membership.

After worrying over the club's business affairs, the public needs of the municipality and an exhaustive discussion of the appearance of the soon-to-be-worn Easter hats, and the most popular shades of Easter eggs, the ladies were served by their hostess with a dainty luncheon.

The next meeting of the club will be held next Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. H. Hazard, at which time Mrs. McKnight will be the hostess.

Death of William Nasberg

Seldom in the history of our town, has there been a more genuine shock and feeling of sorrow than this morning when the citizens received the news that our young townsman William Nasberg had passed from this life to the eternal.

The citizens of Marshfield have lost from their midst one of the staunchest young tradesmen of our town. Mr. Nasberg was respected by all who came in contact with him as a neighbor and as a man. Though a young man, he will be sorely missed from the social and business circles of Marshfield.

He was born in Marshfield, on Nov. 28, 1874 and died at 3 a. m., April 1, 1904. He received the common school branches in Marshfield and finished his education at St. Matthews Military College at San Mateo, Cal. He entered active business life, in Marshfield, in 1898 and by strict application thereto had built up a fine business and was enjoying the prosperity and fruits of honest toil in business strife at the time of his death.

He was married on April 26 1899 to Miss Florence Matson, who survives him. He was a Mason and a member of the A. O. U. W. and the Degree of Honor. He was also an active and valued member of the Marshfield Fire Department.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home on Second street by Rev. Wm. Horsfall, at 1 p. m. Sunday, after which the Masons will take charge of the remains and give them interment with the rites of the order.

Pleasant Marsh Items

The revival is still in progress at Bay City. Elder Irvine delivered a discourse there on Monday evening.

The school directors in district no. 12, Catching slough, have employed Prof. Mulkey, of Coquille, for a term of six months. They consider themselves very fortunate in having secured the services of so talented a teacher.

B. F. Ross has hit on a novel plan to keep little Veri Bonebrake out of the slough. A passer-by might have seen him at the end of a ten foot rope, fastened securely to an apple tree, the other day, sitting.

David Wallace has nearly completed his barn. David is covering quite a good deal of land with new buildings. When done, he will have one of the nicest little homes in Coos county.

Fred Haglund is improving his home which he bought recently. Mr. H. is a rustler.

While Ray Cox and Frank Mulkey were carrying milk on the landing this morning, the latter fell into the slough. Frank says the water was about three feet deep but he would not like to estimate the depth of the mud as he didn't get to bottom of it.

The Catching slough ranchers have a grievance against Mr. Sacchi. While they were landing last Saturday, Mr. S. came out and yelled, "Eggs are worth 25 cents a dozen at my store." Six or eight ranchers grabbed their baskets and ran up there, but Mr. Sacchi just gave them the "hose laugh". One man said he wouldn't sell him eggs for $1 per dozen.

Two men went to Marshfield, each having one hundred lb. of potatoes. One sold for 1c per lb, and paid $1.10 for a sack of flour; the other sold for 1 1/2c per lb. and paid $1.20 for a sack of flour. Which did the best?

A large Plymouth Rock rooster known as Big Joe, has developed a very severe case of quincy. He has been trying to cough up a crow but has utterly failed. The owner doesn't know which to administer German Cough Cure or Sengstacken's White Pine Expectorant. (Respectfully referred to the Coast Mail's Poultry editor.)

Best Cough Medicine for Children

When you buy a cough medicine for small children you want one in which you can place implicit confidence. You want one that not only relieves but cures. You want one that is unquestionably harmless. You want one that is pleasant to take. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy meets all of these conditions. There is nothing so good for the coughs and colds incident to childhood. It is also a certain preventive and cure for croup, and there is no danger whatever from whooping cough when it is given. It has been used in many epidemics of that disease with perfect success. For sale by Jno. Preuss.

Chamberlain Club Meeting

The Chamberlain Club met last night with a good attendance. The members of the club are all enthusiastic over the prospect. Thus far in the Democratic camp it seems to be a case of the office-hunting the man. However, the party leaders are aware that they have among their numbers good material, and that material will take up the standard of the Democratic party and walk to victory. So sanguin are they of success that it is a foregone conclusion that their strong organizing will do good work in this fight.

Sciatic Rheumatism Cured

"I have been subject to sciatic rheumatism for years," says E. H. Waldron of Wilton Junction, Iowa, "my joints were stiff and gave me much pain and discomfort. My joints would crack when I straightened up. I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm and have been thoroughly cured. Have not had a pain or ache from the old trouble for many months. It is certainly a wonderful liniment." For sale by Jno. Preuss.

Appointed Water Bailiff

Frank Smith, superintendent of the Coos river hatchery, has been appointed state water Bailiff for this section of the state, his duty, as such, being to see to it that the laws of this state governing its fisheries are not violated, and he will have authority in whatever part of the state he may be. No better selection could have been made.

To Extend Front Street

There is a movement on foot to extend Front street from Dalton street to the town limits at Dimmick's just below Ferndale. The proposed improvement would be a very good thing for the town if this can be done with satisfaction to the property owners. The city council are having the grades established and it is hoped for the benefit of the progress of Marshfield, that the work will be carried out. There is no good reason why this town can not improve its water front to Ferndale and in due time carry this street to join with Sherman Avenue, North Bend.

Easter Services

At the Episcopal church the services were most impressive and the sermon was a masterly effort of Rev. Horsfall, the pastor. The Easterday program was characteristic of that church. The auditorium was beautifully decorated. The road screen was covered with clusters of beautiful daffodils entwined with ivy. The altar was most beautiful in pure white "Easter lilies, which were brought from California. The work of decorating the room was done by the Sisters of Bethany. The music by the choir, led by Miss Susie Eickworth was beautiful and grand and lifted the soul Heavenward. The uplifting influence of such a service as this cannot help but solemnly impress the congregation.

Easter at the M E Church

The joy and gladness of the Christian world over the fact of the Resurrection were well expressed in every exercise of the day. The purpose to exalt the risen Christ was apparent.

The decorations, in green, white and yellow, were beautiful. In the morning Rev. D. T. Summerville, the Presiding Elder, preached a brief sermon, the choir rendered several selections in a delightful manner, and six little girls brought their dainty tribute of flowers and crowned the cross. The annual missionary offering was taken.

In the evening the seating capacity of the church was not sufficient for the large audience. The program was unusually interesting and impressive. The choir began their work under difficulties, as the church was in darkness. When the power came on, the transition from darkness to light seemed almost symbolic of the Crucifixion and Resurrection. The songs, scripture and recitations were admirably arranged to express the sadness of the one and the joy of the other. All those who participated in the program seemed to enter into the spirit of the occasion, making all hearts feel the tender influence of the sacred day.

There was a fitting climax when, in response to the earnest invitation of the pastor, one of our prominent businessmen came forward and was taken into the church, thus expressing his purpose to lead a different life.
