

Personal and Local

(From Saturday's Daily.)

David Hudson is a visitor in Marshfield today.

The steamer Breakwater sailed for San Francisco today.

M. P. Horn, of Denver, is a guest in our city today and may be found at the Blanco.

The fire works for the Fourth arrived on the steamer Breakwater yesterday.

Max Thomsen is re-painting and otherwise repairing his gasoline launch Comet this week.

Mrs. Alfred Johnson and daughter, of Coquille City, were passengers for San Francisco on today's Breakwater.

Dr. Francis has returned from his trip down the coast, and can now be found in his office, ready for business.

Mrs. Len Hazard, wife of our county clerk, was a passenger on today's Breakwater for San Francisco.

Harry Alder, the well known clothing salesman for Hoffman & Rothchilds, of San Francisco, is interviewing the business men of our city.

Mrs. A. A. Williams, of Empire, went up Coos river today, to visit her daughter and son-in-law. Mr. and Mrs. K. V. Pugh, at Tower's camp.

F. S. Holt, a San Francisco commercial man, arrived in this city from Coquille yesterday and was a passenger on the south bound Breakwater today.

E. C. Laxton, of Portland, arrived in this city yesterday to accept the position of local lineman for the P. S. T. & T. Co. at this place. Mr. Laxton has been in the employ of this company about ten years.

Miss Mills, who has been keeping her Ladies' Hairdressing Parlors open only two days in the week, will hereafter, keep them open during certain hours of each day, as will be seen by reference to her ad.

Rev. H. T. Murray, pastor of the Presbyterian church there, has been called to Los Angeles on urgent business, and leaves on the Breakwater. He expects to be absent about a month, and his pulpit here will be supplied by Rev. Thos. Waller, of North Bend.

Chas. Olive Hurt

Word was received here this week that Chas Olive, who had been working in a mill near Los Angeles, had his leg crushed in the machinery, blood poison set in and the physicians had amputated the limb above the knee, and his recovery was still very doubtful.—Coquille Bulletin.

Not so Easy

The ordinance recently passed by the North Bend city council giving the North Bend Publishing Co. an EXCLUSIVE franchise for telephone and telegraph lines in the city of North Bend for 50 years has not been approved by Mayor Simpson, and a strong impression prevails that it will not receive his signature.

From Our County Exchanges

(Coquille Herald)

R. A. Eastum, of Sitkam, was in town yesterday and informed us that Superintendent Bunch, of that section of the Coos Bay Wagon road, was doing excellent work. He is putting down split puncheon corduroy and doing an excellent job of it.

On Thursday afternoon of last week, our young friend, Walter Hodge, of Fishtrap, was so unfortunate as to be thrown from his horse with the result that both bones in his left leg were broken between the knee and the ankle. He is getting along nicely, however, at this writing. We hope to see him out again in the near future.

Dr. Culin returned from his trip to Portland Saturday evening. Owing to a little breakdown and the roughness of the road, he left his automobile at Remote and proceeded to Roseburg by stage. The girl whom it was reported his auto frightened severely, was not frightened at the machine, but because of the horses becoming scared. She was exceedingly weak, having had two other fits or sinking spells on the way in from Roseburg, and has since died. She had been an invalid all her life.

(Bandon Recorder)

W. Teubrock and wife were thrown from a buggy last Sunday, and Mrs. Teubrock received considerable bruises about the shoulders.

They were driving along the road between town and Rosa's mill, when the bolt that fastened one side of the tongue to the forward axle came out, and the other fastening broke, leaving the horses loose. The buggy sheared and a wheel locked under the bed, causing the rear end to pitch up, throwing out the occupants. No other damage resulted.

(Port Orford Tribune)

Mr. F. E. Allen, who recently purchased the extensive Tichnor coal lands in the Eckley country, arrived in Port Orford yesterday. Mr. Allen will soon have all the necessary machinery on the ground for thoroughly testing the coal and mineral values of the lands purchased, and all wish him the full realization of his expectations, for his success means much for Port Orford and Northern Curry.

NIGHT WAS HER TERROR.

"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Chas. Applegate, of Alexandria, Ind., and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would cough and spit blood, but, when all other medicines failed, three bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gained 55 pounds." It's absolutely guaranteed to cure Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Bronchitis, and all Throat and Lung Troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at all druggists.

(From Monday's Daily.)

The steamer Arcata will sail from San Francisco tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

The Jas. Keane Co. is due on the Alliance today, and will play at North Bend tonight.

The steamer Alliance is due from San Francisco today and will sail for Portland this evening.

H. C. Gates, wife and daughter, of North Bend, will leave for Portland on tomorrow's Alliance.

Don't miss the day fire works on the Fourth of July. Mr. Lewis promises something new and pleasing.

WORKING DAY AND NIGHT

The busiest and mightiest little thing that ever was made is Dr. King's New Life Pills. These pills change weakness into strength, listlessness into energy, brain-fag into mental power. They're wonderful in building up the health. Only 25c per box. Sold by all druggists.

Fire balloons will be sent up at intervals throughout the day on the Fourth. Don't miss this feature.

G. W. Hoster, is a Boise City man who is registered at the Blanco here pending the next sailing of the Alliance for Portland.

Wm. Gordon and wife, of Myrtle Point, are staying at the Blanco in this city today, and will leave for Portland on the Alliance.

Miss Carrie Rodine, a popular school teacher of Coos river, is in the city today and will be a passenger of the Alliance for Portland tomorrow.

T. F. Thompson and wife, of Empire, are guests at the Central hotel here today and will be passengers on the steamer Alliance when she goes north.

W. S. McFarland, traveling representative for the Folger Coffee and Tea House, of San Francisco, has been in our city the past few days, and was a passenger for Coquille on this morning's train.

Tom Holland's new gasoline boat is today being moved from his workshop opposite the Bear livery barn to the water near the Hirst building where it will be launched tomorrow.

As we go to press, over 250 tickets for the opening night by the James Keane company at the new Masonic opera house have been sold. If the sale is continued at its present rate, two more days will find "standing room only" for this grand opening.

Jay Montgomery, formerly business manager of I. S. Kaufman's branch real estate office in North Bend, is booked today as a passenger on the Alliance for Portland. Mr. Montgomery goes East to visit the St. Louis Fair and his home in Decatur, Ill. He expects to return in about four months.

The fishing party consisting of J. W. Bennett and son Tom, of this city, and Messrs H. L. Mills and J. N. Teal, of Portland, who have been in the Teumie country for the past week, returned to Marshfield this morning. They report a very pleasant outing and a very good catch. Messrs Mills and Teal leave for Portland via the Roseburg wagon route tomorrow.

Yesterday's Games

Marshfield vs North Bend on Marshfield grounds; score 27 to 3 in favor of North Bend.

North Bend Juniors vs Marshfield Juniors at North Bend diamond 9 to 8 in favor of North Bend.

Tenmie Lizzards vs Haynes slough Stars 28 to 11 favor Haynes slough.

The Old Maids

The "Old Maids Convention," held Saturday evening in the I. O. O. F. hall by the M. E. Ladies' Aid society, under the management of Mrs. Howard of North Bend, was a decided success as an entertainment, though the attendance was not nearly so large as it should have been.

The costumes of the old maids were marvels in their way and the convention was replete with laughable features, the characters all being well sustained. Without going into details, it may be said that the part of the deaf spinster was probably the best sustained on the stage.

The rejuvenating machine accomplished some surprising changes, and the recitations and vocal and instrumental music rendered by the transformed characters were very pleasing. The ladies are entitled to much credit for their work.

Children's Day

The Children's Day exercises at the Methodist Episcopal church last evening cannot be too highly praised, especially as to the parts enacted by the little folks, who have been in training for some time by Mrs. McPherson. That lady has taken infinite pains, and with the bright material she had to work on, the result was most pleasing.

Some of the special musical features of the program were as follows: Ladies' Quartet "Softly Fades the Light of Day" Kratz

Miss Maude Brown, Mrs. Dungan, Mrs. McPherson and Mrs. Sheldon. Anthem "Bless the Lord" Jackson Choir

"Rejoice, the Lord is King" Klein Choir

A chorus of small children took part in several selections.

The special literary features were as follows:

"The Golden Band" by seven little girls;

"The Royal Bequest" by five young ladies and a band of children, Miss Maude Brown being the Queen;

"The Little Wanderer" or "The Portals of Yontland" by three young ladies and five children.

Mary Levar was the Little Wanderer; Miss Bess Brown and Miss Daisy Reedy, the Guardians of the Portals.

The church, which was tastefully decorated, was crowded to the doors, many being unable to obtain seats.

BRUTALLY TORTURED.

A case came to light that for persistent and unmerciful torture has perhaps never been equalled. Joe Golobek, of Colusa, Calif., writes: "For 15 years I endured insufferable pain from Rheumatism and nothing relieved me though I tried everything known. I came across Electric Bitters and it's the greatest medicine on earth for that trouble. A few bottles of it completely cured me." Just as good for Liver and Kidney troubles and general debility. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by all druggists.

VALUABLE PRIZE OFFERED

For the Best Decorated Launch in Water Carnival

T. J. Lewis, who has charge of the evening water carnival on the Fourth, informs the Mail that F. S. Dow on behalf of the Standard Oil Co., has donated a tank of gasoline as a prize for the best decorated boat in the procession. It is to be hoped that the owners of gasoline boats will show their patriotism by freely donating the use of their launches during the one short hour, from 9 to 10 on that evening in order to bring the exercises of the day to a fitting close.

Judging from the successful work of Mrs. Wilbur and Miss Margaret Anderson, who are assisting Mr. Lewis, the water carnival promises to be the most pleasing feature of the Fourth of July observances, as well as something new to most of the people here.

This feature of the celebration will not take place until it is sufficiently dark to well display the colored lights and fire works, and will in no wise conflict with the entertainment at the opera house.

It may be said that as a finale, the participants in the water carnival will be invited to an ice cream social after the parade is over.

In the Country.

Where the colt with relish races
Runs the sorrel calf a race
There are rest and soothing peace.
Life takes on a fresh, new lease.

Where the cockle of the hen
Wakes the piglets in the pen
Pleasures unalloyed unfold,
Or, at least, so we are told.

Where the boy with stubbly head
Wrestles with the onion bed
There you have an appetite
Working morning, noon and night.

But you find these pipe-dreams rare
A delusion and a snare;
Hoing makes the joys seem tame
When you go against the game.

Humor and Philosophy

SUMMER PLEASURES.

Come the flies with cheerful rustle
Of their all pervading wings,
Causing much ado and hustle
To get out the screens and things;
Then one hears complaints and protest
That to beat flies there is no rest.

Then another summer blessing
Is the day of pinching chill
That ensues when you are guessing
That the heat, unbroken, will
Still continue and are caught out
In the linen suit you have brought out.

On the next day dust is sifting
In gray ridges on the green;
Milky clouds are idly drifting.
But no sign of rain is seen.
No cool promise to uphold you
While dry waves of heat unfold you.

When a picnic party, building
On the weather clear and fair,
Plan a jaunt with cheerful gilding
Of the hopes they gayly share,
Just when sunset tridents crown them
Then a thunderstorm most drowsy
Them.

Borrowing Neighbors.
"Here comes them borrowing neighbors again. I wonder what they want now?"

"The hairbrush, like us not."
"What did they borrow yesterday?"
"The wheelbarrow."
"And the day before?"
"Sugar and coffee."
"That's the way it has been ever since we moved here. Mandy, there must be some place to draw the line. When they come over to borrow a hen to lay eggs for them you must refuse it even at the risk of losing their friendship."

No Chance to Save.

Hardly has the dusty coal hod been pulled down the door
Ere the woman from the oil and
Tracks about the kitchen floor,
Making Bridget hot and snuffy
By his manner cool and bossy.

Same Effect.
"I hear you are engaged to the charming Miss Blank."
"I was, but I am not at present."
"Did she throw you down?"
"No; she threw me up in the air, and I came down."

Getting It One Way.
"Not many Russian generals at the front are being decorated this season."
"They are being nicely japed though."

Back Numbers.
How can we tell when our powers begin
With old age to decline?
When we howl aloud for a noiseless Fourth
Then that's a certain sign.

Could He Guess?
"What color is your wife's hair?"
"You can guess. The neighbors always call out the fire department every time she goes to the window."

All Depends.
"Do you believe majorities are always right?"
"Yes, when they agree with me."

Quite a Shower.
The thunder rolled, the lightning flashed,
The rain in torrents fell,
And in the air you almost could
Go out and dig a well.

Proof Enough.
"Do you think that it is wicked to flirt?"
"It is so pleasant that it must be."

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

Even though a girl knows that she can't sing,
It is not very hard to persuade her that she can.

A new broom does not sweep clean unless there is an energetic push back of it.

Even if some persons are poisoned by ice cream occasionally, the girls are brave.

If a man is wise, he will propose a fast in house cleaning week.

A stitch in time often saves a big dressmaking bill on time.

A girl in the kitchen is worth two in the parlor.

When the course of true love doesn't run smooth, a little Standard Oil might facilitate matters.

Drying preparations simply dehydrate dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A large size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c size. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It reaches itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.
