CHINESE LEGISLATION.

Senator Dolph will report a bill from the Committee on Foreign Relations, of which he is a member, within a few days to carry the new Chinese treaty into effect, which will undoubtedly pass both houses without delay. The designation of the limited number of ports at which Chinese may enter into the United States in Senator Stewart's bill will undoubtedly be adhered to. In that event, Chinese coming by way of Mexico or British Columbia will be apprehended and sent back.

The provisions of the treaty allowing Chinese laborers the freedom of transit across the country will be comparatively harmless if the Secretary of the Treasury will make proper regulations, and if necessary furnish the Chinese an escort. If this provision is rigidly enforced, few Chinese laborers will cross the country and the expense of the escort to those who do will be comparatively light. The proposition of Senator Stewart to make the Collector sole judge of the right of Chinese to land, with an appeal only to the Secretary of the Treasury, will also probably be adopted and the courts will, if possible, be relieved from further jurisdiction in the matter.

The Herald still keeps up its fight on the County Court for allowing claims in full at times, and not doing so at other times. Alex. Brandon, one of the Commissioners, and republican candidate for re-election, was present when these claims were acted upon and decided upon their allowance. There seems to be no escaping the conclusion that the Herald seeks to defeat Mr. Brandon as well as Mr. Whitney, for Mr. Brandon is equally responsible for this action of the County Court. We are of the opinion that the taxpayers of this county will find no fault with a Court that labors to conduct the affairs of the county economically. What Mr. Brandon's friends throughout the county may think of this clandestine warfare made upon him by the Herald we are not now aware, but it will soon come to light.

We are asked by a republican friend if we are unqualifiedly in favor of the Mill's tariff bill. We answer, no. It is not just the kind of bill we like. We would place coal on the free list. We would restore a part of the duty on wool and make many other changes, but the whole bill will be a compromise, as every one of sense must know, and no one has a right to expect that he will get such a measure as he approves passed. But so pressing is the need of tariff reduction and surplus reduction that every well-wisher of the country will make up his mind to be content with a measure, whether it meets his approval in all its parts or not.

A few days ago some one started the report that I. C. Dickey, former Sheriff of this county, but now in the employ of the state at the penitentiary, had written a letter to a friend in this county urging the defeat of one of the candidates on the democratic ticket in this county. Mr. Dickey having heard of this report writes us that the report is absolutely false and without any shadow of truth. He writes that he will give a reward of $500 for any such letter. He says he is a democrat and wants all his old friends in Linn to "whoop 'er up" for the whole ticket.

As shown by Hermann's own letter to Ed. McPherson, which we published a few days ago, that gentleman's election was secured two years ago by Jo. Simon's money. Jo. wants this $1000 paid back, so that he may secure his own election this year to the State Senate. And yet the friends of Hermann and Jo. Simon are giving vent to continued righteous screechings about Cleveland's sack.

A Michigan man visiting on this Coast writes to the Lansing Democrat from Salem. He tells of being at Vancouver and says:

"Here they have one battalion of soldiers stationed, ready for duty, in case of an Indian outbreak, or in case John Chinaman undertakes to get revenge for his maltreatment by citizens of Uncle Sam."

There is no more danger of an Indian outbreak in Oregon than Michigan, and as for Chinamen no such thought as protection against them ever entered the mind of the whites here. Geese are as dangerous as they are.

The St. James Gazette of London calls attention to Salisbury's speech, and says that if the peace of Europe depends upon the life of the Emperor, it hangs on a very slender thread, indeed. It calls upon the government to strengthen the army and coast defenses.

The Times devotes a column leader to the Prime Minister's grave statement. All the papers comment upon the declaration alleged to have been made by Bismarck to Schurz, that there was danger of European war this year.

The muddled declaration of the republican state platform on the surplus provokes from the Philadelphia Press the criticism: "It does not mean what it says and it does not say what it means." The mild calculator who got up the tariff resolution declares the proposed change in the wool duties would entail a loss on the country of $355,000,000. This is only about seven times the value of the entire wool clip of the United States for 1887. A party is hard put to it that emits such stupendous nonsense.

Mrs. Hancock is occupying the house in Washington presented to her by the General's friends. It is a fine, four-story, brown stone building, on Twenty-first and R. Streets, and Ingalls makes a snoot at it every time he goes that way.

New Hampshire democrats have nominated ex-soldiers to all important places on the state ticket and for Congressmen. That is right. The republicans have neglected the soldiers in official preferment, and they are entitled to a chance.

The lively candidacy of Gov. Gray and Gen. Black appear to be making the Vice-Presidency a question of color as well as of politics.

Pick off all the blossoms that may appear on your young strawberry vines set out this spring. Do not allow any of the young plants to fruit. It will injure their growth and lessen their productiveness next season.

It is suggested that if Blaine is nominated when he is half-seas over he will complain that advantage was taken of his helplessness and refuse to run on that ground.

Chairman Mills thinks there is a little inconsistency in a system of taxation that leaves playing cards free of internal tax while it levies a duty of twenty per cent. on Bibles. Most people will agree with him.
