LOCAL RECORD.

WILL VACATE.—Our present county officials are putting things in order for their successors. Every office in the county this year changes hands. County Clerk Galbraith, who has filled the office with marked ability, we understand will take a trip to the Sound with a view of locating there. Mr. Montague and Mr. Davis will occupy the present Clerk's office together. Neither expect to have deputies after they get the run of the office. Sheriff Smith, than whom there is none more competent in Oregon, may be relied on to remain in Albany and there will be no trouble about keeping track of him. Sheriff Smallman will not have to hunt houses in the desperate manner that is proving the experience of several officials, as he will only have to mount the jail stairs. Treasurer Carl has a home here, and will probably remain in Albany, where he will prove the steady, reliable citizen that has characterized his administration of the Treasurer's office. Mr. Reid the Superintendent is already pretty comfortably settled, and his successor, Mr. Curi will move to Albany and devote all his time to the business of the office. Judge Whitney is already located in the Foster Block, and Judge Blackburn will retain his present office in the O. F. Hall. Surveyor Fisher is sufficiently "well fixed" so that the change of the compass to Mr. O'Connor will not affect him. John Shea will remain in Sweet Home, and like Mr. Thompson, will gaze from a distance at the Albany Justices as they tackle most of the business before he can get here.

STOLEN FROM A LAUNDRY.—San Wainforms us that on Tuesday morning when he went to his clothes lines over the laundry, he discovered that during the night a thief had climbed up to the place and taken quite a quantity of clothes belonging to different parties. Among the things stolen were thirteen flannel drawers and undershirts, fifteen pairs of socks and stockings and one handkerchief. He is very anxious to know who the thief is, and if the fellow will return the things he will confer a great favor on the pioneer laundryman.

A FINE LETTER.—The DEMOCRAT takes great pleasure in presenting to its readers a letter from the hands of the talented wife of Consul General Bonham, of Calcutta, Hindostan. Mrs. Bonham has many friends in Albany, Salem, and through the Valley generally who will be delighted to be able to hear from her in this way. The letter was over a month on its long voyage, but is as fresh as a May morning.

A BROKEN AXLE.—This morning while hurrying along one of the streets of Albany at the rate of fully four miles an hour, perhaps five, the delivery horse of Brownell & Stanard run into a blind mare, and the two horses and wagon became mixed up generally, resulting in a broken axle, and this is the reason the festive delivery wagon has been off the streets since then.

A SMALL PICNIC PARTY.—This morning a small picnic party from Mr. Hearst's boarding house left for Sedaville to spend the day. It consisted of Mrs. Hearst and daughter, Mr. Thompson, Mrs. A. W. Mathews and son, Miss Burkhardt, Rev. Rominger and Mrs. Pollock.

BUSINESS CHANGE.—Our enterprising merchant, T. C. Peebler in company with Harry Simms, have bought out the well-known and popular St. Charles Hotel, and will conduct the business under the name and style of T. C. Peebler & Co. We bespeak for them a liberal share of patronage. —Express.

EXCURSIONISTS.—This morning the Raymond and Whitcomb excursion party from Boston, passed through Albany for Portland. There were between fifty and one hundred on board, and we understand some of them pronounced the Willamette Valley as fine as anything in this world.

DEPILICATION.—The amount of depilication from Dayton & Hall, of Portland, is now figured out to be $3689.69. The crime of taking this money is charged to Wm. Emery, of Corvallis, a son of Prof. Emery, agent at Klamath. Emery denies it. What the proof is in the matter we are not informed.

TRIED FOR ASSAULT.—On Wednesday Mr. Thomas, of Harrisburg was tried on a charge of assaulting a boy, son of C. C. Baber, of that place with a cane. He was acquitted.

GOLDEN WEDDING.

1838—1888.

Married June 21st, 1838, by Rev. Nathaniel Ingles, in Carroll county, Indiana, Mr. William McBride to Miss Ann Crews. After the lapse of half a century the golden wedding was celebrated yesterday at their home in Albany. The stalwart form of the young bridegroom of twenty-three is but slightly bowed and the bony young bride of twenty-two is now a well preserved and venerable grand-mother. True indeed, time has done his work with them as he has with all the world. The lines of age are in their faces and their whitened locks give token of advancing years; yet as they stood up before the happy company of children, grand-children and friends their hearts were young as ever. They told with delight of the fashions and scenes of fifty years ago. What would our young people of to-day think of having to publish the bans "three several Sabbaths in the church" and then have a marriage ceremony an hour long? Their Golden wedding was a little less tedious and less formal. They have had ten children; but four of whom are living, viz: Mrs. Isaac Elder, of Eddyville, Iowa; Mrs. John Crawford, of this county; Mrs. John Millard, of Albany, and Mr. John McBride, of Peoria. All were present and with nineteen grand-children and a few friends made a company of over fifty. The venerable couple took their places on the floor and after a few remarks of a historical character by their pastor, Dr. Irvine, all joined in fervent prayer for Heaven's richest blessing upon their declining years. Then came the golden presents from children and grand-children. A fine gold watch and gold-headed cane for Mr. McBride and a beautiful pair of gold framed spectacles, gold thimble and wedding ring for Mrs. McBride. After hearty congratulations and many kisses from the little folks all sat down to a bountiful dinner prepared by loving hands. Then after some hours spent in a social way the company dispersed, with many good wishes for the venerable couple.

Mr. McBride emigrated to Linn county in 1865 and has resided in Albany for the last three years.

A BRIDGE BY ALL MEANS.—If the Albany Board of Trade would like to submerge itself with glory and do more for Albany than several hundred thousand circulars can do, let it put on foot a scheme for building a bridge across the Willamette at this city. It is bound to come sometime and the sooner the ball is set rolling the sooner the bridge will be built. Ferries are antiquated affairs and eye-sores to an advancing community, even Fox Valley was too far ahead to put up with the institutions and the precinct got a bridge. One can be built here if our citizens only say the word, and, as the Board of Trade is the spokesman, let the members act, and the sooner the better. For years Albany, which pays nearly a fourth of the taxes of the county, has been helping to bridge every little stream in the county, and very properly. Now isn't it about this city's turn to get a benefit. For a bridge here the county should contribute a very liberal amount and probably would; Albany would come to the front with a good sized sum, its citizens and business men would subscribe very liberally, because it would be a bonanza to them, and the farmers of Benton county would turn their pockets inside out. Now see how easy the matter is, and shall we any longer remain idle when such a structure is so much needed here. Every city on the Willamette will in time have its wagon bridge. Does Albany propose to be the last? Not much!

BELLS.—While the "Champion," of the O. R. & N. lines, was lying at the wharf this morning, Bro. Bell, clerk of the railroad commission, hove in sight, coming up First street, blowing and puffing. Said he wanted to go to Corvallis. The hotel man had told him the boat was going north; but he suspected the contrary, and when he found out he had been deceived offered a DEMOCRAT man a large fee to show up the hotel proprietor, which was declined, as the fee had to be charged. After Mr. Bell had boarded the boat with Capt. Bell, there were three bells present, the Capt.'s son being on board, and as the boat left things sounded as if the Swiss Bell ringers were around.

A JUDICIAL PARTY.—How the rails must creak and groan through Eastern Oregon, during the touristic expedition narrated in the following item from the Pendleton E. O.: "Hons W. W. Thayer and R. S. Strahan, of the supreme court, accompanied by Mr. L. B. Cox, of Portland, arrived in the town this morning. The judges are on a little pleasure jaunt, and expect to be joined here to-morrow by Chief Justice Lord and Mr. Bush, of Salem, when the party will move on to Baker City. Judge Deady is also expected through on the train to-morrow night."

THE M. E. ENTERTAINMENT.—To-night the entertainment heretofore announced will take place at the opera house, and promises to be largely attended. The program is a good one, the kind that many people like to see and hear. Prof. Miller, the expert pianist, will be present and give one or two instrumental solos, which will add to the entertainment. Reserved seats at Blackman's.

FIREMEN'S TOURNAMENT.

PORTLAND, Or., June 22nd, 1:25 p. m.—The first race of the tournament, the wet test was called, and after some delay the East Portland hose team started running 500 feet laying 200 feet of hose and getting water in the fast time of 42½ seconds. Portland followed. Time, 37 11-12 seconds. Albany, 37½ seconds. Ross fell and Moore broke coupling and put on nozzle alone. Adjourned for dinner amid immense cheers.

No report could be obtained of the remainder of this race, but it is said Walla Walla made it in 37 seconds.

MARRIED.—At the Evangelical church, Corvallis, Or., June 21, 1888, by Rev. J. L. Hersher, Mr. Augustus Becker, of Albany, Or., and Miss Sarah E. Wood, of King's Valley. The young couple will reside in Albany, the present home of the groom, where our hearty wishes for their welfare follow them. —Leader.

THE MONEY PAID.—County Treasurer Giesy has finally terminated the difficulty and litigation between himself and Ladd & Bush by paying to them the sum of $15,000 and accrued interest for over nineteen months, amounting to $1953.54, making in all $16,953.54, to compel the payment of which a peremptory writ of mandamus was recently ordered issued by the supreme court. —Statesman.

THE TOURNAMENT.—Seven teams, to-wit, Portland, East Portland, Walla Walla, Vancouver, Lebanon and Albany are entered. The races to be run to-day are the wet test, 100 yard foot race and championship race. To-morrow the speed race will be run in the forenoon and the 150 yard foot race and the dry test in the afternoon.

IN CHICAGO.—Among those witnessing the exciting scenes of the Chicago Convention to-day is Mayor Cowan, of this city. Next Tuesday he will go with the committee, of which he is a member, to Washington and formally notify President Cleveland of his re-nomination.

A LIBEL.—Ben. Barker says that the part of the horse item published yesterday about his saving his "chaw" of tobacco was an unjust insinuation in reference to a habit he does not possess. We rejoice to be able to place Ben among the boys not addicted to the filthy habit.

FOUND.—This afternoon on the street by M. Payne, a gentleman's sleeve button. Owner call on him.
