SOUND TO THE CORE.

The great principles which underlie and are the foundation of the democratic party, and which to-day are moving them to act in the defense of the laborer, the mechanic, and the farmer, are so little understood that in this article we shall endeavor to make it so plain, and to bring it right at home so forcibly, that he who reads cannot help but understand them, and to understand them will be but to admire them. First was the enunciating of that great principle, by the father of democracy, that all men are born equal and entitled to life, liberty and equal chances in the pursuit of wealth and happiness. Thus democracy is opposed to aristocracy in every form, and to every measure which may tend to give one class the advantage over another. It considers all occupations, which do not infringe upon the rights or disturb the peace and happiness of another, as honorable and just, and entitled to the same consideration by government. It favors the raising of money necessary for governmental expenses, as far as possible, from the luxuries and not from the necessities. Hence, it is the friend of the poor.

It is these noble principles which are moving democracy, at the present time, towards securing a reduction of the burdens of the masses, which we will now clearly demonstrate by the following figures. In this table we will show what a farmer with a family of six—husband, wife, two sons and two daughters—has to pay every year into the government, or to manufacturers. If he buys imported articles the tax goes to government. If he buys domestic articles the manufacturers receive it. We will give below the articles which the farmer and his family will be compelled to have, showing the tariff which now exists on each and the reduction as proposed by that democratic measure known as the Mills bill. With few exceptions all of the foregoing articles will be required each year:

ARTICLE	VALUE	DUTY	MILLS BILL	SAVING
1 cook stove	$35.00	47 per cent	$16.45	$18.55
12 crockery	12.00	55	6.60	5.40
1 cheap carpet	27.00	47	12.69	14.31
Sugar	60.00	30	18.00	42.00
Molasses	30.00	17	5.10	24.90
Salt	10.00	17	1.70	8.30
Clothes for father and 2 sons	100.00	40	40.00	60.00
Clothes for mother and 2 girls	100.00	40	40.00	60.00
6 wool hats	12.00	33	3.96	8.04
Farming tools	18.00	33	5.94	12.06
Medicine	20.00	47	9.40	10.60
Trunk	30.00	47	14.10	15.90
Blankets, etc.	12.00	33	3.96	8.04
Shirts, etc.	4.00	33	1.32	2.68
Miscellaneous	100.00	33	33.00	67.00
Total	$750.00		$419.66	$330.34

Thus it will be readily seen that a farmer purchasing $750 of the necessities of life now pays a tax of $419.66. The majority of the goods enumerated are manufactured in this country, hence nearly all of this $419.66 goes into the pockets of the manufacturers as clear profit, because the price of goods here are kept up to the tariff point. Even under this enormous tariff some kind of goods are manufactured in other countries, brought here and sold at a profit. "Oh!"—but the protectionists say—"it costs more to manufacture goods here because we like to pay more for labor," which is all a huge farce, as the Commoner will fully show at some future time, as we can obtain all the statistics.

Now, we know by accurate reports that in England it costs just 9 per cent. of the value of manufactured goods to manufacture them; but we will be liberal and suppose it costs 15 per cent. here. We then have 6 per cent. to deduct from the $419.66 which will leave $394.44, which each farmer pays to manufacturers when he purchases $750 worth of goods. If they can stand that amount of tax to enrich one class, besides their country and territorial tax, and wants to, all well and good.

The Mills bill, as heretofore said, proposes to reduce this burden $135.93, yet our leading republican journals says it ought not to be done. Why? Because it is a democratic measure and "is partial;" but they advocate for free whisky and tobacco. We do not claim, by any means, that the Mills bill is all we would like to have it, but it is in the right direction. We should like to see the tax reduced to the lowest possible amount commensurate with the needs of our government, to maintain it in its proper relations with all the nations of the world, and this raised, as far as possible from the luxuries of life and not from the necessities. —Commoner.

The very fact that republican leaders find it necessary to stake Harrison's election upon the fact that he is the son of a man whose father, forty-seven years ago, occupied the presidential chair thirty days is very conclusive that they find very little in him now to elicit support from the great mass of the people.

"Cheap coats make cheap men." These are Gen. Harrison's words. Quite epigrammatic, aren't they? But what sort of men does cheap whiskey make?

We can sell you a ticket to any point in the East over the famous Canadian Pacific railway from five to ten dollars cheaper than any other road. Call and see us.
