LOCAL RECORD.

IS TROUBLED.—The Herald feels very badly over the manner in which the DEMOCRAT wrote up the ratification, and did not like it because we mixed up Chinese houses and Mrs Lawrence's with the names of well known citizens.

LYONSVILLE.—J. C. Lyons, of the new town of Lyonsville, on the line of the Oregon Pacific railroad, was in the city yesterday. He says his embryo city is booming, and that it will be one of the principal towns on the road between Albany and the summit.

APPOINTED.—Mr. Chas. Metzgar, of this city, has just been appointed agent for Linn county of the German Immigration Association of the Northwest, with headquarters at Portland.

A FIGHT TO THE FINISH.—D C Howard last night arrived in the city from Pacific county, W T. Among other curiosities and relics brought back were the locked antlers of two elk. They were discovered lying on the ground in a dense wood and all evidences are that the stags met their death in the forest.

JACK ARRESTED.—Jack Huston, of Scio, was arrested last night on complaint of Mrs. Huston charged with child stealing, and will be examined at 7 o'clock to-night. It is alleged that he stole the children and sent them to California.

A CHANGE.—Mr. E. W. Langdon has purchased part of the interest of Geo. E. Chamberlain in the First National Bank and his residence, paying $3800 for the latter, the sale being consummated last evening.

TWO SUITS.—Portland creditors through I. R. Dawson yesterday brought a suit against H B Keniston, of Halsey, and attached the goods, of Mr Ellison, merchant, of Sheed. Deputy Sheriff Smith served the papers.

FOUND.—Near the M. E. Church a ladies' purse. Owner can have the same by calling at this office.

BE THANKFUL.—Leave your orders at Sloan & East's for turkeys and fowls generally for Thanksgiving.

Try our mince meat in glass, its fine. WALLACE & THOMPSON.

ROBE AND ADDAD.

Salem is to have an ice factory. Mr John Rogers is home from King's Valley.

Mr Chas Johnson, of Scio, was in the city yesterday.

Dr C H Rafferty, of East Portland, has been in the city to-day.

If Albany escapes without a case of small pox it will be a remarkable thing.

A full line of Christmas candies and nuts will be kept by Brownell & Stuard.

A real live Chinese lawyer has been in the city to-day, the guest of "Jim Westfall."

New—raisins, currents, citron, lemons and oranges received at Wallace & Thompson's.

The Dr. in Echo says Thomas Lenoir, of Elkton, was killed by his father Wednesday.

A fine stock of new walnuts, almonds, Brazill's, Peacau's and Filbat's at Wallace & Thompson's.

Two sales took place at the court house to-day, being those of the Smiths, of Oakville, and the Coates estate at Halsey.

Rev C C Poling, of Salem, will preach at the Evangelical church on Sabbath morning.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present.

The only democrat elected in Napa county, Cal., is named William Shakespeare. Who says there is nothing in a name. It certainly saved William's bacon.

The great debate between Clark Braden and B. F. Underwood takes place at Silverton, beginning on Wednesday, Nov. 21st, and continuing eight days.

Fred Blumberg, wife and son left last night for California, where they will spend several months for the benefit of the little boys health.

Mr Gus Thompson, three miles from So-daville, is reported as having taken the small pox, which he caught by attending his son in Portland, he having died there recently of the disease.

If the government had as small a surplus as newspaper men, and capitalists when the tax-collector is around, there wouldn't be much to quarrel about politically now-a-days.

A Skeptic and a Christian at Lebanon have been having a long siege through the paper of that city on different subjects; but neither one seems to be converted to the others belief.

The most contemptible people in the world are those who are everlastingly calling other people contemptible, and we advise the Herald man to remember this "this gauze," Porter referred to once before airing himself too much.

Many people will remember the Davis Brothers, who performed some daring feats of tight-rope walking in Pendleton. The sum of $175 lies in the Pendleton National Bank awaiting the disposal of these gentlemen.

They wagered $100 against $75 while in this place on Harrison's election, which explains the above.—Pendleton E. O.

Hechenger, a German brewer of San Jose, Cal., undertook on a $200 wager to carry an eight gallon keg of beer, weighing 103 pounds from Santa Clara and Market streets to the Alam Rock House, a distance of seven miles.

Considerable betting was done, and Hechenger walked briskly and without apparent fatigue until near the six-mile post, when he threw down his burden, saying that he had a wife and children to support and that he did not propose to kill himself. Lumps as large as a man's fist rose on Hechenger's neck where the keg had rested. The time occupied in traversing the distance was one hour and thirty-five minutes. On a previous occasion Hechenger carried a similar keg five miles on the same road without distress.

ALBANY.—The Oregonian's special Wil-lamette Valley edition came to hand to-day. It is a very creditable production.

Its page illustration consists of scenes from Albany, Oregon City, Salem and Eugene.

From Albany are three river scenes, the S P depot, O P round house, Central school building, the Foslay & Mason and Tweed-dale block, W F Read's store, St Charles Hotel, a fine scene of First Street, only too wide, S E Young's block and residence, O P bridge, Presbyterian Church, Revere House, Sister's school, Red Crown mills, Court House, residence of Walter Turrell and the Flinn block. Among many things it says: The present population of Albany is about 3500. This is a conservative estimate based on the vote cast at the last election, and on the present number of the regular attendants at the public schools of the city.

Albany is now in a better position for demanding cheap rates from the transportation companies that touch the city than is any other town in the valley.

In business activity Albany is not far behind any of her rivals in the struggle for the general appearance of the large and well stocked stores of the city leads the visitor to believe that this is one of the best business points in the valley.

A number of important enterprises are located in the city of Albany, chief among which are three large flour mills. Albany has a most efficient fire department and a water supply for use in case of fire that is inexhaustible and unfailing at all times.

Albany has the best supply of water for manufacturing purposes of any town in the valley outside of Oregon City.

MARRIED.—On Saturday, Nov. 17, 1888, Mr. Fred Anderson and Miss Nanny Bunch, both of Linn county, M. Brink, J. P., officiating.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

The Man About Town suggests that the Albany boy lay aside his tin horn. The business is over and the noise is getting tiresome.

You take people of small calibre and you will always observe that they are instantly shocked when they see the name of a fallen woman in print. The number, though, is few. We do not suppose there is more than one in Albany. Those same people will laud to the skies men whose characters do not compare with that of the woman they will heap honors on him and confer with him in great matters of public concern and push him forward. This is not right. The same conduct that condemns a woman should condemn a man, and so far as the Man About Town is concerned he has more respect for the woman who openly shows her colors than for the man who sneakily covers up his.

Fame is generally said to strike the man who least expects it. This being the case several in Albany will never get struck.

A man without opposition is a man without opinions, has been said, so there is very little credit in going through life without having stirred up a few hornets nests. At the same time a man doesn't need so much opinion that he will always be in strife. A drunken man is always quarrelling; but it is not on account of opinion.

BEAR STORY.—The following bear story from an Idaho paper rather caps the climax: "Bob Brainard attempted to capture a cub and was chasing it when the old bear rushed from the brush to a hand in the chase, and Bob lost all interest in the cub, the interest then centering in his own salvation. The bear was too fleet for him, and soon had Bob in her embrace, Bob had a butcher knife, and he never needed a knife worse in his life than at that particularly perilous moment. He raised the knife and slashed away, and when he endeavored to pull out the instrument of dissection found that it was fast, but the bear tumbled over, and Bob flew. He was badly scratched and chawed about the body and arms and was a bloody sight when he reached home, but not seriously injured. The next day the bear was found dead. The knife was still sticking where Bob had stuck it with such precision and deadly effect. It had penetrated the heart. We have heard of many hair-raising, blood-curdling fights, but this one caps them all. It is the narrowest escape on record."
