MONDAY.

For a Common Rate.

Mr. G. W. Wright, of the board of trade has received the following from the Union Pacific railroad in response to the memorial asking the railroad to grant this city a common rate with other cities...

Eddie Hogue's Broken Arm.

Between 12 and 1 o'clock this afternoon Eddie Hogue met with a peculiar accident. He was coming down town on his bicycle, and was near the Congregational church when he took out his watch to see if the tower clock was right.

BATHED IN SALT LAKE.—An Albany man who recently bathed in Salt Lake thinks it a great treat. The water is so dense that you can't sink if you wish, and the lake is so shallow that you can wade out in it a mile or more.

Col. Denby, a democrat, and one of the Philippine commission, has come out or McKinley, a slight offer to the many republicans coming out for Bryan.

Deeds filed:

E. F. Miller to J. J. Barnes, 280 acres 11 W 1... $840

Mr. J. W. Rowell, Frank Collins, John Holland and Prof. Dorgan left this morning for their homes at Dorganville, on the Calapooia, where there is to be a reunion of Dorganville people this week.

Mr. Barney May, of Harriburg, was doing business in the city today.

Mr. J. W. Compton, of Scio, one of Lin county's most substantial pioneer farmers, was in the city today on business.

24th day of September, A. D. 1900.

At the north door of the County Court House in Albany, Linn county, Oregon, at the hour of 1 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, I will sell the above described real estate at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash in hand, subject to redemption, according to law, to satisfy said warrant, costs and accruing costs.

The installation of the new officers of the Maccabees last Saturday evening was well carried out, followed by a banquet served in the usual tasty manner of the lodge. The Maccabees are a flourishing order.

The salmon have begun running some at the Bay. Yesterday Fred Weatherford, of this city, made the biggest catch to date, getting seven weighing from ten to fifteen pounds, though he hooked fourteen missing even.

Mr. J. W. Compton, of Scio, one of Lin county's most substantial pioneer farmers, was in the city today on business.

Mr. J. W. Compton, of Scio, one of Lin county's most substantial pioneer farmers, was in the city today on business.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Young, Miss Mildred Burmaster and Mr. O. A. Petty left early this morning on a trip to Dorganville, on the Calapooia, where Mr. Young has a timber ranch. On their return Mr. Petty will leave immediately for Seattle, where he will preach for a month before returning to the seminary at Alhambra.

Mr. Gus Englander, of San Francisco is in the city on a trip through the state in the interest of an electric lighting establishment, placing agents in the several cities. Mr. Englander was a resident of Albany for several years leaving here about eighteen years ago. While here he ran a barber shop and invested in patent rights. He was a prominent freeman and one of the first members of the A. O. U. W. of this city, in which he is always retained his membership, and is in first class standing.

TUESDAY.

Tangent.

Owing to the light crops there is but little grain being hauled here. Usually there has been as many as 20 to 30 teams hauling grain to the warehouse here, but now a dozen or less comes each day. The fact is quite a number of farmers will have no more grain than they will necessarily need at home. They will have to economize with their grain, and one of the first things they will not be able to make both ends meet by the end of the year. Machines will commence on the spring grain this week, but the run will be short.

The order of Vigilantes gave an ice cream social at their hall Saturday evening which was well patronized. J. F. Deard and daughter, Miss Georgie, have returned from their visit to Fossil. Mrs. Annie Berry, of Silverton, is visiting the family of Mr. John Fisher.

Prof. John Stanley, of Corvallis, was paying his respects to the ladies of Tangent last Sunday. Miss Susie Jones was baptised in the Calapooia by Rev. Corner, last Sunday.

The blacksmith who was working here has gone to Dr. Smith leaving this place without a smirch for the present. The mirmans here are having a fine time shooting China pheasants, and we suppose they are as gassed as heard at all hours of the day and every Sunday.

W. O. Hudson & Son have completed a fine large packing house on their block in Tangent, where all kinds of trees, shrubs and flowers will be kept for sale. The building is a credit to the town.

The shipping station continues to run six days in the week and seems to give good satisfaction to its twenty or more patrons. Lovell Knight and family, old residents of this vicinity, will soon move to their new home near Crawfordville.

There are quite a number of young men and women near here who talk of attending the O. A. O. this coming year. Jenks Bros. are buying calves and are going into the stock raising business. They expect to pasture the most of their land thinking it will pay better than to raise grain. CUMTUX.

Oakville.

Mr. C. O. Smith, of Tacoma, was a visitor here last week. Mr. S. has been all over Alaska and feels satisfied that most young men can make money in any other place easier than in the Yukon country.

Messrs. Johnnie and Robert Miller accompanied by Mrs. Lou Miller made a pleasant call last Saturday. Mr. John A. McBride dropped in last week and we discussed the merits of the "rural free delivery." Mr. Mc is well satisfied and wouldn't be without his box.

Mr. Barton and family have taken up their abode in the palatial residence formerly occupied by Nate Needham. Some hoodlums made an attack on the melon patch of Jim Pinkerton one dark night last week but Mr. P. (like some of his relatives) is not averse to sleep and is somewhat of a detective and when the invading army advanced, they were repulsed with a volley of shot and retreated in confusion. Next morning four men of a threshing crew were laid up with meloncholic but with shoes.

Mr. James Morgan made us a pleasant call this morning. Millhollen and Wade are busy repairing bridges. LITTLE ROCK BUD.

The oldest wager yet reported was made in Kansas, between J. P. Johnson, an irate father, who is a strong republican, and James Howard, a live young democrat who wants to win. Johnson's daughter, against his will. Here is the wager: "I hereby relinquish all claim to Mary, daughter of J. B. Johnson, if W. J. Bryan is defeated for President of the United States," reads the declaration of the Democratic lover. "I hereby agree to consent to a union between James Howard and my daughter Mary, if President McKinley is not re-elected President of the United States," reads the declaration of J. Johnson. Everybody should vote to help unite these loving hearts.

The St. Louis Republic tells of a very striking political stub more significant than Col. Denby: A democratic club was formed at Oconee, composed of former republicans. It is known as the "1890 McKinley Democratic Club," and has a chart membership of sixteen. James Backett, ex-representative from the sixteenth district, is the prime mover, and among the membership is Charles D. Bailey, the district land officer in Dallas county; David Todd, ex-president of Oconee McKinley club; J. M. Moore, and owner of the stamping district for McKinley in 1896; Otis Slater, leading business man of Oconee, and others.
