LAUNDRY MARKS

that are not found on linen fresh from this laundry are rust stains, ink stains, fruit stains and especially "soorches" from overnated irons. That's what we particularly guard against. Fleckless, flawless, immaculate—white as white can be, or as strong of color as when you brought it if originally of a color pattern, your washable apparel is returned clean, well washed, well ironed.

Prof. and Mrs. Torbe left today for Dallas, where the Professor is down for seven talks on educational matters at an institute to be held there this week.
Miss Marguerite Hopkins was given a delightful surprise party last evening at the home of her father, previous to her leaving for California for the winter. The evening was spent very pleasantly. Miss Marguerite is beloved by all knowing her and every one will wish for a speedy benefit from her California trip.
Charley Sanders, who spoke at the court house last evening was one of the famous sixteen with whom Capt. Wells started out to take Malaban, nearly all of whom were killed or wounded. Sanders was hit twice, in the thigh and hand. He is not only a brave fellow but has a good head.

The Jefferson Tragedy.

Miss Lulu Jones, the victim of the tragedy in the school house at Jefferson yesterday, continues to live with a chance for life, yet with some doubts of her being able to pull through. Clyde Vaughn, the young fiend who perpetrated the act, was captured about two miles from Jefferson by Frank Libby. He was on his way home. He made a confession, according to which, when he had called Lulu into the hall he tried to get her to go with him into the basement. Upon her refusing he struck her, knocking her insensible, and then dragged her to the basement, filled with wood, where he struck her as she partially lay, hitting her over the right eye with the poll of the ax. Then he fled. The girl was found partially sitting up. Some small pieces of bone were taken from the skull in dressing it and the pressure from the brain was relieved.
There are different opinions about Vaughn. It is said he was good in his studies and kept good company, but he had melancholy spells and twice tried to drown himself. He wrote the girl a note recently that she would be sorry if she continued to refuse to like him. After the tragedy he went to his home, told his mother that something had happened and then fled toward the river, it is thought with a view to suicide, but he changed his mind and ran into the country.
There was intense indignation at Jefferson, and had Vaughn been captured in the city it is possible there would have been prompt justice. It is said insanity will be the defense.

THE POPULAR VOTE.—A subscriber wishes to know the popular vote for president since 1876. As near as the figures can be secured the elections have gone as follows: In 1876 Tilden was elected by a big majority but a returning board gave the office to Hayes 183 to 184. In 1880 Garfield received 4,449,053 and Hancock 4,442,035, a difference of only 7,018. Weaver's vote was 307,306. In 1884 Cleveland received 4,911,017 and Blaine 4,848,334 a plurality of 62,683. Butler's vote was 133,825 and St. John's 151,809. In 1888 Harrison was elected 233 to 168 for Cleveland. In 1892 Cleveland reversed things getting 5,536,918 to Harrison's 3,176,198, a plurality of 380,810 for Cleveland. Weaver's vote was 1,047,028 and Bidwell's 264,133. In 1896 the vote was McKinley 7,104,779, Bryan 6,022,925, Palmer 133,424, Levering 132,007. The electoral vote was 271 to 176.

When Filling Prescriptions

We give our individual attention to the matter in hand, that is only the safe way.
We dispense only drugs of known purity, holding that when human life is hanging in the balance it is a poor time to economize by using "cheap" materials and trusting to luck for results. This is an important matter and one worthy of serious thought and consideration.
