Blood Humors

It doesn't make any difference whether you believe in the modern theory and speak of the causes of diseases as referable to germs, microbes or bacilli, or whether you use the older and better understood terms of "humors" and "blood diseases"—Hood's Sarsaparilla cures them all.

It cures scrofula, salt rheum or eczema, catarrh, rheumatism, malaria and all other blood poisons; nervous troubles, debility and that tired feeling.

This is not merely modern theory; it is solid up-to-date fact.

"Salt rheum on my hands so severe I had to wear gloves most of the time, and could not about my thumbs and fingers together, was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. A. D. SPALLING, North Seaside, Me.

"My three months old boy was cured of a very bad case of scrofula by Hood's Sarsaparilla." Wm. H. GARDNER, West Earl, Pa.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Promises to cure and keeps the promise. No substitute for Hood's acts like Hood's—be sure to get Hood's.

The Cause.

From the Cleveland Plaindealer
The "silent vote" was cast for McKinley. That tells the story of Tuesday's election.

The problem before the voters was confusing. The issues presented by either party were not along the party lines, but crossed them in various directions. Only the thorough partisan, who accepts without question whatever bears the official party stamp, was quite satisfied with the policies proclaimed or acted upon by his own party, whether republican or Democratic. On each side there was distrust of the candidate himself, or of the influences at his back. The voters who do their own thinking, and who are yearly becoming more numerous in all the parties, held the deciding votes and studies how to use them with least danger of evil consequences. They cast them for McKinley and hoped for the best.

The result was not an endorsement of the Philippine policy of the administration. If a vote could have been taken on that question, President McKinley would have been condemned by a majority of his own party. The mistake of saddling ourselves with the Philippines is now admitted and regretted by a large proportion of the thinking members of the President's own party, but the way out of the difficulty is not clear. Even if it were, there was no opportunity for the election for passing judgment on that question without at the same time approving other policies still more repugnant to these satisfied republicans.

There is good reason for believing that the principle involved in the legislation for Porto Rico does not meet the approval of a large proportion of those who voted for McKinley on Tuesday. The doctrine that congress or the executive can govern any part of the United States or its territory free from the restraints of the constitution, does not commend itself to the majority of the American people. But, a year before the supreme court, and with that tribunal those anti-imperialists who still preferred McKinley to Bryan were content to leave the decision.

The consideration that had more influence on the result than any other was the business one. "Let well enough alone" was an argument of powerful effect on the minds of those who are doing well under present conditions. Anything which suggested a possibility of change in business and industrial conditions was unwelcome, and there was persistent effort to arouse fears that a change of administration would be followed by a change of financial policy that would have disastrous results on business. "Prosperity" and the "full dinner pail" arguments had more weight than any other, and are mainly responsible for the sweeping victory won for McKinley. It is a victory that entails grave responsibilities and carries with it a menace of future disaster.

The "typewriter decoy" is the latest thing in Wall street confidence games. If you get a letter signed "Your own Carrie," addressed to you apparently by mistake, and telling you how to turn $100 into $1,000, believe it not. Such letters are being sent all over the country by a bucket-shop man to persons who are likely to swallow the bait. He is Carrie. The prospective victim gets the letter in the business envelopes of the bucket-shop man. It is seemingly written by the firm's typewriter to her best young man and tells him how many people are getting rich by sending their money to her employers and how many thousands of dollars in profits she mails back to them each month. Under promise of secrecy she arranges to send him her savings, which he is to mail for investment under his own name and at the end of the month they are to be married and spend the profits on their honeymoon. The best thing about the typewriter decoy from the bucket-shop man's standpoint is that the postal authorities cannot accuse him of using the mails to defraud.—World.

There is more Catarrh in this section of this country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. A recent Baltimore dispatch says:—Rumors are current in this city that a combination of trans-Atlantic steamship companies is to be formed involving several companies and several millions of dollars. The Atlantic Transport Company, which operates lines of steamships between New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and London, will be a part of the combination, it is said. Bernard N. Baker, president of the company, when seen today said: "I have nothing to give out."

It was learned also here, however, that negotiations are going on in New York and that a representative of the Atlantic Transport Company is in that city looking after its interests.

Details of the deal are carefully guarded, but it is understood that the stockholders of the Atlantic Transport Company will receive more than $500 per share for their holdings, in the event of the consummation of the deal. The company has in service now seventeen vessels, ranging in tonnage from 4,250 to 13,240. Two other vessels are now building at Belfast, Ireland, two at New York Shipbuilding Company yards at Camden, N. J., two at the Maryland Steel Company yards and contracts will soon be awarded for two more. This company owns the Maine, which is now in the service of the British government as a hospital ship.

From the World.
The one-legged watchman who stands guard at the visitors' gate at Bellevue Hospital is ever on the alert to prevent visitors from taking in liquor or other intoxicants to their friends who are ill. There is a strict rule against it.

Among the hundreds who had parades to visit relatives last Sunday was a gray-haired old man in his best black suit, whose pistol pocket had a suspicious bulge beneath the tails of his coat.

"What you got in your pocket there?" demanded the gatekeeper, indicating the bulge.

"It's a milk punch for me boy Mike," said the old man, producing a bottle full of white.

"You can't take a milk punch in here, said the keeper.

"Indeed I will," said the old man.

"Indeed you won't, for a million dollars," retorted the keeper. "It's against the rules."

"I'll take it in anyhow," and pulling the cork, he put the bottle to his lips and drained it.

"I told you I'd take it in," he said triumphantly, "and here's a present of the bottle for you."

"That there was the most obstinate old lad I've seen in many a day," said the keeper, as the old man passed in.

Talk about reorganization is absurd. The democratic party is already organized. If by reorganization is meant a change in the national committee, that will have to be done at the next national convention. If by reorganization is meant a radical change of platform, with a candidate whose views accord with it, that will also have to wait the next national convention. I have noted that those men who clamor for reorganization after defeat are the very ones that contributed to defeat. There are some people who go to a convention and demand a certain platform, insist upon the selection of certain candidates, and at their failure to get what they want immediately withdraw their support, and become opponents of the party. If they want changes let them work in their state organizations for the selection of delegates to bring about those changes.—WILLIAM J. STONE, Vice Chairman Democratic National Committee.

COAL
Does not warm except through combustion. Food does not nourish except through digestion. You may as well hug a coal pile to get warm as expect to get nourishment out of food which you cannot digest. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the body to assimilate food and so put on sound flesh and develop strong muscle.

"The praise I would like to give your 'Golden Medical Discovery' I cannot utter in words or describe with pen," writes James B. Ambrose, Esq., of 125 1/2 Millin Street, Huntington, Pa. "I was taken down with what our physicians said was indigestion. I doctored with the best around here and found no relief. I wrote you and you sent me a quantity of your Discovery and I did so and you then advised me to use Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took three bottles and I felt so good that I stopped—being as I think, cured. I have no symptoms of gastric trouble or indigestion now."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay cost of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for paper or 31 stamps for cloth binding, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

OSTEOPATHY.

Definition.
Osteopathy is the science of treating disease manually by the adjustment of all parts and organs to their natural relation with each other, thus removing the irritations resulting from their abnormal relation, and removing obstruction to the vital forces and fluids of the body; and by stimulating mechanically all organs to their proper function or inhibiting abnormally active processes or movements of portions of the bodily organism. It, therefore, must have for its foundations a thorough and comprehensive knowledge of human anatomy and physiology, and of the normal and abnormal action and metabolism of all parts of the bodily mechanism.

Illustrations.
Osteopathy recognizes in man a "most perfect and intricate, and to a certain extent, self-regulating machine, which with every part or organ in its proper position and relation with every other part will run smoothly and perfectly, and that after replacement of parts displaced by accident, or any of the various forces incident to its surrounding and movements, a restoration of function and health will supervene. All recognizes these conditions in the infinitely less complex time piece, driven by a spring of human make; why do we see them also in the mechanical body, different only in that it has driven by the God-given spring of force, called life?

Disurses.
Treated successfully by Osteopathy, Nervous, resulting in headache, Insomnia, Loss of Appetite, Loss of Flesh, Constipation in its worst forms, stomach and liver troubles, many kidney disorders, consumption in its first stages, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Tonsillitis, Female diseases, painful suppressed, and increased Menes. The results in these troubles alone are sufficient to recommend the treatment to all suffering women. Rheumatism in all its forms, eye troubles, give excellent results, lumbago, curvature of spine, etc.

Consultation Free.
My previous practice has given me a wide experience in the many forms of disease and I will give an honest opinion of cases coming to me for consultation of treatment.
