A Graft Opposed.

Washingron, Mar. 1 .- From present appearances, Congress intends to em' bark recklessly on the scheme of building storage reservoirs in the arid lands of the West with a view of making them fertile. While this is a very praiseworthy object and the plan no doubt will be wary profitable-to somebody-it is the opinion of many men both in and out of Congress, that the Government should go and count the enormous cost of th job before beginning. The millions poured out for endless river and harbor improvements will not be in it, it is said with the expenditures necessitated by this procedure when once it gets fairly

So flagrant is the proposition that Representative Tongue of Oregon, who has a good deal of arid land in the west ern part of his own state, has nevertheless felt impelled to place on record his opjections to the plan in a minority reication of the proceeds of the sales of public lands in the arid and semi-arid served for educational purposes, for irrigation and reclamation of the arid lands in those regions has my cordial and sincere approval. The proposed plan, however, se crudely drawn. The distinction between Federal and State authority is likely to ensue. Some of the provisions are inconsistent with each other; others are quite obscure. Should it become a law, there would be much legal controversy arising over it.

Some features are very objectionable and should be eliminated. Under the provisions the proceeds of the gales of court. public lands from the 16 states and terriories named, excepting only such as has been already reserved and designated for educational purposes, is to be placed in an arid-land fund, and the entire sum to be expended under the sole control and in the sole discretion of the Secretary of vested with the full and unrestrained die for one's country? power to expend the whole of this money in any one state or territory, in any portion of the United States which he may adjudge to be and, according to his own restricted and uncontrolled diserction. Such power is vested in no other officer of the Federal gove-nment.

"If this provision becomes a law, Congress pours this money into the Treasury, delivers the key to the Secretary of the Interior, and relinquishes all control."

A Chicago dispatch says:

In the excitement attending what Mrs Mary Conley and her husband had hoped would be a pleasant journey to unite them with friends from whom they parted forty years ago, the savings of a lifetime amounting to $3,670, were sold inadvertently to a rag picker for II cents.

The steamship tickets were purchased and farewells exchanged. The few remaining articles in their little rooms were being packed when the husband opened the door in response to the rap ping of a rag picker. A small bundle scraps were swept together by him and handed to the man, who counted out eleven pennies.

A few moments later the wife entered the room and noticing the disappearance of the scrape asked her tusband where they had been placed. When told she rushed screaming to the alley after the ragman, who had disappeared. To the husband who had followed her, she gasped out that the money had been put in a small bag and thrust among the rage for safety.

The rag-picker has not been found.

Saturday Night Thoughts.

The leading event in the eyes of the people of the United States this week has been the inauguration of the president of the United States for a second term. The event is an important one, but it is not one which under our form of government should be made a gaudy display of pomp and power, as this one was made. A nation no more than an individual should be ostentatious in matters of this character. We have progressed in long strides during the past few years. Nevertheless the old simplicity of our fathers is to be commended in the matter of inaugurations. While it may be propbonorable and useful member. As judge er for the president to ride, and not walk of the circuit court of this state, Judge as a said to have been done on at least one occasion, it should not be done with fair, able and conscientious juret. The such an extravagant display as to make opinions rendered by him as a member the public justly suspicious of the reason sively by twelve thousand more English soldiers being shipped to South Africa. Our war is also on its last legs, but it continues to take several columns to tell about the trouble. The Chinese trouble is being fixed up all the time, but the end of each succeeding week sees something more to be done before the negotiations have been completed. Candidly all of them are several hundred miles from their destination.

This week saw another deadlock brokclock back over three hours in order to accomplish. This state of affairs is due to known as the Hoar proviso, added to the Philippine amendment at almost the ast moment without being submitted to the President for his approval. It reads as follows:

"Provided, that no sale or sease or other disposition of the public land or the timber thereon or the mining rights therein shall be made; and, provided further, that no franchise shall be granted which is not approved by the President of the United States, and is not in his judgment clearly Inecessary for the immediate government of the isla indispensible for the interests of the people thereof, and which cannot, without great public muchief, be postponed until the the establishu ent of permanent civil government; and all such franchises Depew, Kean and Wetmore-who are so shall terminate one year after the setab-

They say: "The news that the Spooner amendment prohibits the sale of land, timber, and mining concersions for the business success. Three chambers of the commerce of Manila, the International, the Spanish and the American, are writing pretests. Many business men in the Philppines are waiting the inauguration of a sivil government to apply for railway, timber and mining concessions," Divested of frells, this means that the looters see their finish and are bringing all the influence at their disposal to bear on the President to come to their aid
