Some Education Thoughts.

"City Superintendent L. B. Traver has taken up earnestly the work of re-organizing the Salem public schools.

There is urgent necessity for this, as Salem has dropped sadly behind other towns in the state in some features of public school work.

For the past two years some teachers have had a dozen or twenty children in their rooms, while others had fifty. As a result the children in the crowded rooms could not make their grades, and many dropped out of the schools.

Under this system the larger boys and girls have abandoned the public schools before they could fairly read or write English.

They have flocked to private schools, business college, law and medical colleges, many of them unable to spell, punctuate or capitalize.

Prof. Traver's earnest labors to put Salem public schools on a better footing will be appreciated by all who love the American free school."—Salem Journal.

This suggests a general defect in school work, a lack of individual sympathy with the efforts of bad as well as good pupils. Many young people are continually leaving school because they fall behind in perhaps only a single study, and getting further behind at last drop out of school entirely, where if kept advancing, even though below the standard, they would finally find the field for which they were adapted and be in a position to fill it. Some pupils, for instance, have absolutely no faculty for mathematics and fail, but they should not be kept back in all their studies because they do, as is done so often, but should be given a chance along the lines for which they are best adapted. Red tape rules may well be broken, and the broad minded teacher will enter into the spirit of progress and not permit a boy's or girl's education to be stopped in the beginning because they lack wings or are weak along some lines. The responsibility of the teacher is great, one affecting in a material way the future life of those under him.

The American Queen.

A girl may not be at all musical or well read or clever in any way, but she may become popular simply by being trustworthy, by listening sympathetically to people's confidences and keeping them sacredly locked in her own keeping. Most people, especially young men, like to have some sympathizing friend they can come to when they feel discouraged or elated to unburden their trials or their plans. All the girl has to do is to listen, perhaps to say some words of help or encouragement, but above all she must never repeat what has been told. A girl may be plain in feature and ungifted with talent, but if she becomes known as perfectly trustworthy and discreet she will generally be preferred to her more entertaining, pretty but less reliable sister.

A terrible commotion is on in London and all because King Edward visited Andrew Carnegie in spite of the fact that Carnegie had never been presented at court. It is said that after the king had been shown about Skibo castle and observed the works of improvement thereon he expressed keen regret that he did not possess the wealth of a Carnegie. If Edward had emigrated to the United States at an early age he might have become a tariff baron like Carnegie; and so far as wealth and power are concerned, there is little comparison between a European king and an American tariff baron.—Ex.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

HARMLESS AS MILK

Look out what you put into the child's stomach! Children are especially sensitive to the action of medicine. But you need never fear Scott's Emulsion. That is one reason why it is so popular as a children's medicine.

"As harmless as milk"—that is saying a good deal. But we may go even further and say that Scott's Emulsion will stay on the child's stomach when milk will not.

A little added to the milk in baby's bottle and a little after meals for older children is just the right thing for the weak and sickly ones.

Well send you a little to try if you like.

Likes to be Kicked.

From the Guard.
Wm. Post, of Blachley, is a peculiarly built fellow. He has a double and triple set of muscles across his abdomen and chest which gives him power to stand any kind of a blow on any part of the chest, solar plexus or abdomen.

Saturday evening the wonderful armless man, John Pa ne, was about the saloons. In the "Reception" there is a slugging machine which registers the number of pounds a man can lift. Payne walked up to it and raised it to 1250 pounds with a terrific kick. Mr. Post was standing by and offered to let the man kick him in the stomach. Payne finally consented to kick him in the stomach, saying that he could knock any man in the world down with a single blow from his foot.

Preparations were made to carry Mr. Post away but he stood like a rooted tree and let the powerful man kick him with all his might on any place from his neck to his loins without experiencing any inconvenience.

The feat resulted in an offer from Payne's manager to Mr. Post to travel with them for $100 per month and expenses. He accepted.

Post has stood some terrible blows from pugilists without flinching.

The lowest actual bid for building the new battle-ship Louisiana, of 16,000 tons, is $3,990,000, or $249.37 per ton. Or three biggest ships now under construction, the Georgia, Nebraska and New Jersey, of 15,000 tons each, were let at respective contract prices of $239,33, $248.88 and $227 per ton, or an average of $238.40.

The new ship will therefore cost, if the present bids are acted upon, $10.97 a ton more than her sisters, or a total of $175,520 beyond a proportionate price. This increase and the very great similarity between the bids have given rise to the suspicion that there may have been collusion between the bidders.

If the lowest present bid is accepted the payment of $1,000,000 for a single battle-ship is a heavy single item in the cost of becoming a "world-power."—World.

A few months ago a most remarkable pack of playing cards was reported to have been purchased by no less a personage than Queen Christina of Spain. It was a pack made entirely of ivory, which had been carried and used by Prince Eugene, the colleague of the great Duke of Marlborough in the campaign against the French under Marshal Villars.

Though not of superlative merit the "court" figures on the cards were all hand-painted, and the pack derived additional historic interest from the fact that it was at one time in the possession of the Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, father of the late prince consort, and grandfather of his majesty King Edward VII. The queen of Spain acquired the pack as an interesting relic.

Quite unique is the pack of playing cards in the possession and regular use of the Emperor William of Germany. On the "court" cards are excellent likenesses of actual reigning sovereigns selected by the kaiser. All loyal Britons will appreciate the delicate compliment paid to the late Queen Victoria, who figures in the pack as queen of hearts.

The queen of Italy is queen of diamonds and the late empress of Austria of clubs, with the czarina of Russia as queen of spades. To the pope is allotted the kingship of spades, while his late majesty of Italy serves as king of clubs. The sovereignty of diamonds is held by King Leopold of Belgium, and last, but by no means least, the Emperor William himself reigns as king of hearts.

As a sly bit at these distinguished statesmen, the leading premiers of Europe are made to serve as the knaves of the pack; and grace and beauty in the picture of some celebrated lady of the stage adorns the center of each ace. The kaiser keeps the original plates in his own custody, and needless to say, no copies are issued to the public.
