After the recent death from scarlet fever in this city, the home of Mr. Ludwig was thoroughly fumigated, as well as those who were in the house and every precaution taken to prevent the spreading of the disease. The case was well attended to. This statement is made on account of a wrong impression that has been made.

An Oregon Story.

The September number of the Pacific Monthly contains a clever story written by Jack Becholdt, son of Superintendent Becholdt, of Eugene, and a graduate of the Eugene High School. Jack has been reporting on the Seattle Post-Intelligencer all summer, and is a clever writer. His story is based on an experience imaginary or real, it matters little, near the mouth of the Snake.

A lone man, under the evil influence of a Hippu diamond, has written the story of his life and left the manuscript in a cabin on the mountain side. The discovered MMS make interesting reading and the readers of the Pacific Monthly will enjoy the relation of the strange experience intensely.—Guard.

Returned From Yaquina.

A special train arrived in Albany at 6:30 o'clock last evening bringing back Senator Fulton and the Albany and other rooters for the much needed Yaquina improvement. At the meeting Senator Fulton made a strong speech in favor of deepening Yaquina harbor and was followed in strong addresses on the subject by State Senator Jones, of Toledo, Hon. J. K. Weatherford, Hon. J. J. Whitney and Judge Palmer of Albany, and Col. C. B. Mortague of Lebanon. Indisputable facts and figures were given, with strong stress on the future greatness of this country.

The engineers left for Portland on the lighthouse tender Columbine, and will make their report sometime before Congress meets.

LET VIC, the Broadalbin street boot black give you a shine. He will do it all right. Try him.

G. Co.'s Promotions.

At the regular meeting of G. Co. last evening Capt. Stellmaker reported Olin B Stalnaker's promotion to first sergeant, Corporal Willard Marks to a sergeant and Privates Walter R. Bilyeu and Homer J. Moore to corporals. Sergeant Leslie Viereck at his own request on account of his duties as mail carrier, retires. The promotions are good ones. Sergeants Stalnaker and Marks after the meeting gave their fellow soldiers a treat at Pfeiffer's Oyster Parlors. It is said there will be more changes.

There have been a good many new members during the past month or two, so that the work of drilling will be strictly attended to this winter by Capt. Stellmaker and his lieutenants C. W. Wallace and O. S. Harnish.
