LINN CO. COAL.

A Big Thing in Sight.

From the Telegram : Measre. Parker, Wilson and McCros-key, of this city, are developing a coal mine in Linn county by which they expect to land coal in Portland at much lower rates than can be done from any other coal yet discovered.

lower rates than can be done from any other coal yet discovered. This mine is situated within 11 miles of the Coburg branch of the Southern Pacific, in the Wilamette Valley. and 25 miles east of the city of Albany. A depth of 387 eet has been reached by tunnel, and a vero nine feet thick has been followed a considerable distance. This coal, according to J. H. Fisk, a well-known assayer, shows 49 per cent of fixed carbon, and a coking capacity of 65 per cent. It is good coal for weld-ing rof making gas or steam, while for domestic uses it cannot be beaten by anything in the market, according to the owners. "We have ample cspital to build a railroad to the mine from the Southern Pacific," said E. P. McCroskey today, "and we are not trying to sell stock or advertise the mine in any way. We have 800 acres surrounding the mine secured, and are confident that, by this time exct year, we will be sending coal into Forthand by the trainload. The 11 miles of railroad we are to build can be constructed with very little expense, as the right of way is as level as any por-iton ... It he willamette Valley. We have been quicity developing the mine for two years, but have asid very little about it. We have now reached a point where we don't care who knows what a rick property we have within 100 miles of Portland."
