"The South's Largest Gain."

EDITOR DEMOCRAT:

We would like to call the attention of the voters of Linn county to an editorial in The Saturday Evening Post of October 15th, under the above caption. This paper is published by the Curtis Publishing Co., which publishes also The Ladies Home Journal. It is not an organ of the Anti-saloon League or any other temperance organization. Following is the editorial which is published by request of THE MINISTERIAL ASS'N. OF ALBANY.

"For a decade a remarkable change has been going on in the South. The manifestations have been local but the results bear the semblance of a great movement. After the war the South had almost as many drinking-places as it had stores. Today more than one-half of the counties below Mason and Dixon's line prohibit the sale of liquor. For instance, almost sixty per cent of Texas, nearly eighty per cent of Georgia, ninety per cent of Mississippi and all of Tennessee except eight cities have voted out the saloon, while even in Kentucky forty-seven counties are under prohibition rule.

"There is nothing of political importance in these facts, but there is in them a vast deal of social and personal significance. In literature pretending to represent the life of the South the mint julep figures as conspicuously as the genial sunshine or the climbing roses, when, as a matter of fact, ice-water or lemonade might be more realistic. The Southern 'majah, sah!' with some of his old manner, still hangs on, but the Southern man of today is quite another kind of person. This may be a loss to romance, for, even to the abstainer there is a fragrance in the mention of mint which lemonade fails to suggest, and the major with his large manner and contempt for statistics fills more of the atmosphere than the quiet, agile worker who thinks of crops, cotton mills and stock quotations instead of the lost cause and its battles.

But the same qualities of grit, endurance, fidelity and cheerfulness which made splendid records in war are bravely at work solving the problems of peace. In most cases the liquor question has been handled as a plain business proposition. The saloon barked enterprise, reduced the labor supply, increased lawlessness and kept communities poor; worse still, it played havoc with the individual. In more than four hundred counties the good citizenship of all parties arose and banished it.

Behold the benefits! This year the South has more money than it has ever known, more money for spending; so much of it in fact that three of the great cities of the North have formed special business organizations to secure Southern trade, while the cities of the West have met the competition by the most alluring inducements. But the largest gain is in the general uplift of the population. Despite the occasional outbreaks of crime—in most cases where the saloons still exist—the whole trend of the South is steadily toward wise and safe conservatism, and the evolution of Southern personality is producing broad-minded Americans who live clean lives, do good work and carry no chips on their shoulders.

It has been said that had it not been for whiskey there would have been no Civil War. Hard drinking, both North and South, inflamed the passions engendered by slavery. It follows as a most hopeful fact that in the consideration of the race question, which lingers long after the abolition of human bondage, the work of conciliation and adjustment will be done by men of temperate habits and temperate minds. In the new conditions being wrought by the South itself there must come higher character and achievement than its oldest and finest chivalry could show."

An exact reproduction in wax of a 33-pound turnip grown north of the Arctic Circle, in Alaska, is exhibited in the Government Section of the Palace of Education at the World's Fair. Its diameter is 12 inches. The model is of one of the large turnips grown under the supervision of the United States Experimental Stations.

Portland Doings.

PORTLAND, Or., Oct. 26.—Lewis River ranchers are negotiating for the steamer Leona, owned by the Oregon City Transportation Company, which they will run as an independent steamer between Portland and Lewis river. So certain are the ranchers of securing the steamer that they are also negotiating for a dock in this city. They propose to stop at 24 landing places between Portland and the head of navigation on the Lewis. Their cooperative plan is such that the Washington farm owners, in one of the most promising valleys in that state, will land their freight in Portland at a merely nominal cost.

The first clash between the striking telephone operators and a strike breaker took place yesterday and lasted about seven seconds. While the conversation was not unprintable, its volubility was such that no expert stenographer could have kept track of it. A clinch, which threatened to dismember and possibly decapitate the two combatants was broken by bystanders and peace was restored through male unionists, who sternly frowned upon the hair pulling.

Young Charles Walton, whose sister was of "spotted horse bandit" fame, was yesterday sentenced to serve ten long years in the penitentiary for shooting Policeman Nelson. Hardly had the sentence been passed when he was again put on trial charged with highway robbery. A jury was speedily empanelled and today the trial is in full blast. It will be brief. It is believed that before sundown this evening, a verdict will be reached, and should it be "guilty" Walton may be given 20 years on the charge, making a total of 30 years imprisonment in which time he may possibly learn that boy banditism, while heroic in certain forms of literature, is frowned upon by courts of law.

No. 13 will hereafter occupy a place among the numerous superstitious signs that are considered bad omens by the gamblers that fell into the hands of Sheriff Tom Word and his deputies last night. A number of knights of the green cloth were contentedly and to every appearance, as they supposed, safe from the incursions of the law, enjoying a quiet game of "draw" in an upstairs room over a prominent gaming establishment. The manager, George Fuller, who was taking a hand in the game, had just finished relating a peculiar dream that he had experienced the night before, in which it appeared to him that he was one of a coterie that numbered just 13, who were engaged in a game, as they thought, safe from interruption, when suddenly they were arrested, hauled to the city bastle and experienced some difficulty in regaining their liberty that night. Fuller had just finished his story, and remarked that there were just 13 players present, when the door suddenly flew open and there stood Sheriff Word, and Fuller's dream of 24 hours previous was a reality.

Within a few days the Central Baptist Church of this city, will commence the erection of a $7,000 edifice, as according to announcement made yesterday, the necessary amount of money has been secured.

CHRONIC SORES

Wheeling, W. Va., May 28, 1903. Some years ago while at work, I fell over a truck and severely injured both of my shins. My blood became poisoned as a result, and the doctor told me I would have running sores for life, and that if they were healed up the result would be fatal. Under this discouraging report I left off their treatment and resorted to the use of S. S. S. Its effects were prompt and gratifying. It took only a short while for the medicine to entirely cure up the sores, and I am not dead as the doctors intimated, nor have the sores ever broke out again. Some 12 years have elapsed since what I have described occurred. Having been so signally benefited by its use I can heartily recommend it as the one great blood purifier. JOHN W. FURDYS, Care Schmilback Brewing Co.

Chronic sores start often from a pimple, scratch, bruise or boil, and while salves, washes and powders are beneficial, the unhealthy matter in the blood must be driven out or the sore will continue to eat and spread. S. S. S. reaches these old sores through the blood, removes all impurities and poisons, builds up the entire system and strengthens the circulation. S. S. S. is a blood purifier and tonic combined. Contains no mineral whatever but is guaranteed purely vegetable. If you have an old sore write us and our physicians will advise without charge. Book on diseases of the Blood free. The Swift Specifics Company, Atlanta, Ga.

In view of the fact that J. Edward Addicks, who moved to Delaware with the avowed intention of securing either by fair means or foul a seat in the United States Senate, is one of President Roosevelt's lieutenants and is in turn receiving the administrations support in his efforts to break into the Senate, the following tribute(?) to him paid by Thomas W. Lawson may prove of more than ordinary interest. Mr. Lawson knows the man; has had dealings with him, and in a magazine article that he is writing exposing alleged crooked dealings in finance he says of Mr. Addicks: "Yet this Sybarite, this daring coward, this sincere hypocrite, this extraordinary blending of contradictory qualities, is the man who from 1837 to 1892 made Boston look like the proverbial gawk at a circus."

$100 Reward $100 The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials Address: F. J. CROSBY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.
