Distance Leads Enchantment.

This is a restless world. There is a class of people wanting to make a fortune in short order who are ever on the go after the delusive dollar, changing locations continually. It is easy to see twenty dollar gold pieces across the state, but as a rule when one gets there they have to be rustled for just as hard as at home. A man with a fortune already in his hands can go into a big city like Portland and get opportunities for increasing it he cannot secure in a place like Albany, but the poor man plods along just the same, and for the average citizen there is just as much if not more in Albany, with excellent prospects ahead. This is a splendid business center, and with its transportation facilities always will be, gradually increasing until it reaches an importance which shall establish it in a position where it can snap its fingers. But there is more than money making in this world, things worth striving after more, and it pays to look above just mere money advantage, and at least have other things in mind with it.

It Has Knocked The Boases.

Some of the valley papers are trying to make the primary law as intricate as possible, and one might think from some of the editorials that it was a regular Philadelphia ordinance that no one could understand without several codes and numerous other things at ones elbow. Of course it is not quite as bad as that, as intricate as it may be in some respects. But we need to give our brains exercise, and, by the time we have gotten the law solidly in our minds we will have something in our heads sufficient for any kind of expansion theories. Back of all the red tape there is considerable cream worth drinking, and it is probable that when the law is properly doctored it will be a good thing for the people. Any way the miserable boss system of the past has been pretty well slaughtered by it.

Afraid of His Shadow

No American citizen should be obliged to go around with a body guard, and none needs to do so if he conducts himself decently. John D. Rockefeller has an uneasy head, but he has been the cause of it himself by his selfish course, his system of robbing the people to pay Paul. He has become a skulker, dodging his enemies, fearful lest his life be taken or he shall be kidnaped for his money. This should not be in free America, and would not be if the man had lived as he should have lived.

He Can Be Trusted

Every democrat in this judicial district will have a young man to vote for for congressman, who if elected will be a credit to the state, a broad-minded man, one of our folks style of fellows. A young man of absolute integrity Chas. V. Galloway also possesses the ability for representing the people well. But better than all he has the qualification just now needed, he can be trusted.

300,000 for Portland

The DEMOCRAT expects to see Portland a city of 300,000 people within a few years, doubling its present population. There are many things to indicate this. The present development along industrial lines makes it plain that much may be expected. Sometimes it looks as if there was simply a boom on, but undoubtedly it means a good deal more than that, and has a permanent character to it.

$100 Reward $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dread disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Frenzied Thoughts.

With Tom Lawson on one side and Missouri on the other, Mr. Rockefeller must feel somewhat surrounded.

Tom Lawson makes so many predictions nowadays, that it would be impossible for some of them not to come true.

St. Petersburg society has been enjoying a cycle of Wagner operas, thus drowning out the noise of the revolutionary bombs.

Thus far the nearest the Senate has come to making the dirt fly at Panama, is making the fur fly in the Senate committee room.

We supposed that the pure food bill would have passed the Senate by now, but Senator Bailey gave it such a forensic stab, said that it was a matter for each state to regulate, that the thing had to be put in an ambulance and sent to the hospital and has not been heard from since.

Many Russian Liberals have no confidence in the duma. They fear that the Czar will have no difficulty in making it turn hand springs and loop the loop.

The New York surgeon who sewed up a towel inside of a patient, did not include it in his bill. Some doctors are so generous.

Although the first robin has been here for some time, standing around on one foot, for some unaccountable reason, the first straw hat has not seen fit to blow in.

The Captain Went Insane.

When the French ship Crillon reached Portland from Antwerp after having battled with raging gales and mountainous seas for 14 months Captain Parado, master of the vessel was found to have lost his reason through the heavy strain which he had been under. The skipper went insane while the Crillon was making an attempt to round Cape Horn. Here nearly all of her rigging was carried away and she began to drift. Half the time her decks were under water and the crew sought refuge in their quarters. The arms and yards snapped and parts of them fell into the sea. When the storm died down the tars fixed up an improvised rigging and then it was found that the Captain had lost his mind. It required constant vigilance on the part of the other officers to keep him from destroying himself and he was finally locked in the cabin.

New Telephone Arrangement.

The World:—The telephone in ordinary use today is the same as the telephone of a century ago, at least so far as its outward appearance goes and its results on short distance transmission. Now a New Yorker, S. P. Levenburg, has invented an instrument of an entirely new design, and that does away with some of the inconveniences of the present telephone. The transmitter and receiver are combined in a simple instrument. The receiver is provided with a horn fixed in the proper position for the ear when the mouth is near the transmitter opening. Thus the hands are left free for taking notes or jotting down memoranda.

This feature of the instrument also does away with the tiresome experience of holding the receiver to the ear while waiting for the despatch.
