Governor Geo. E. Chamberlain.

The re-election of Governor Chamberlain is a just tribute to his administration, a good one in the interest of the people of Oregon. The people of this state appreciate the fact that he had kept his promises and so far as he was concerned had attended to the executive duties of the state government in the interest of the people and their pocket books. They believe in his integrity, and their votes gave expression to the fact. The campaign against him was a poorly managed affair. The "vote it straight" plan was a bad one in these modern days of independence. The attacks on the Governor's record were ill-advised and made votes for him. The foolish caricatures circulated through the state did him more good than harm. In fact his opponents did much to help elect him. Back of it all though, was his excellent record as an official.

Living Up to One's Religion

The genuine Christian takes his religion into all avenues of life. It is not a Sunday affair, but a seven-day-in-a-week concern. He has it with him particularly when election day comes. But it is with him just as much in every day business affairs, and in rough sailing as well as in smooth sailing. A friend tells the DEMOCRAT of a case in point that occurred in San Francisco after the earthquake. A leading member and officer in a church, who ran a grocery store out in the suburbs, immediately put the price of flour up to $10 a sack and got it, because people had to have it. A man with only $5 in his pockets could not buy, then went to the store of a grocer who made no professions religiously and asked him the price, "$1.25" was the response. "What! no raise in the price?" "No sir just the same as before; I never take advantage of any one." Of course the church members weren't to blame for his conduct. He was just simply a hypocrite, that was all. In a case like this he should have made his religion speak if he had any. That's what the world is demanding, and when men fail to come up to the standard there is trouble all along the line.

Senator Hale recently went after the government clerks with considerable violence. He declared that they were a set of mendicants on the bounty of the government and not satisfied with the good things they had were like Oliver Twist, always asking for more. He particularly objected to the granting of annual leave either inside or outside of Washington. Now this was a tirade that may be of some effect in his next campaign. The annual leave and sick leave provisions are abused in some instances and in some of the departments, as has been noted in the Patent Office, the clerks may be idle. But they are not so as a rule and such a sweeping denunciation is decidedly unfair, says a correspondent.

EDITOR DEMOCRAT:

The writer drove recently 5 miles to watch a shearing machine run by a gasoline engine, equipped with 12 sets of shears, each man shearing from 90 to 110 sheep in a day. By timing one of the men, I found he could catch his sheep, shear it and let it up in from 3 to 4 minutes. The writer remembers when he sheared sheep at home in Missouri. It took him three days to shear 25 head. While watching the shearing a man brought in two hand sheared sheep taken from a band of 3000 or 4000 that had been sheared the same day and sheared them again with the machine and got one pound full weight from each one, which demonstrated that you could save more than enough wool by the machine process to more than pay for the shearing. There are from two to three train loads of sheep shipped from here each week some to Montana, some to Wyoming and some to Wisconsin. They have dipping vats here where they dip all sheep before shipping, costing 3 cents per head. They heat the dip to a certain degree with steam. The vats are about 20 yards long, just wide enough for a sheep to pass through and deep enough to swim them. They are driven in at one end and are made to swim the length of the vats and come out at the other end where they are allowed to stand for awhile to drain, all the dip running back into the vat. From 5000 to 8000 are dipped in a day. They are then loaded on the cars and started for the ranges.

Last Friday being wool sale day in Heppner, there was a large crowd of sheep men and buyers. Wool sold 15 1-2 cents to 21 1-2 cents per pound, averaging about 19 cents.

The weather being very dry until a week ago, considerable of the grain was badly damaged, but the late rains have brought out the grain wonderfully and the crops look fairly well. It has been quite cold here and we had considerable frost a week ago and ice froze quite thick last week.

The Effect of Six Months in Jail.

An Oklahoma man tells a good story which illustrates the difference between the effect of putting a man in jail and merely compelling him to pay a fine, and shows how the blackmailers and thieves who manage certain trusts and railroads may be tamed. According to the story, a ferocious person came in to South McAlistier some time ago and disturbed the public peace by announcing that he was a wolf, that he came from the headwaters of Bitter Creek and that this was his night to howl. He emphasized this statement by firing a pistol several times and was promptly put in the calaboose. Next morning he was brought before Judge Stewart and the case was heard.

"I fine you $50 for being a wolf, $50 for being from the headwaters of Bitter Creek and $50 because it was your night to howl," said the Judge.

"All right, Judge," the bad man replied, slyly. "I've got that amount right here in my jeans."

"I also sentence you to jail for six months," continued the Judge. "Have you got that much in your jeans too?"

This was too much for the bully and he wilted like a coddled cabbage. Wouldn't it be a good thing to try the same remedy on the trust bullies?

The republican party claims to be "the party that does things," but when the record of the present Congress is made up its sins of omission will be found as numerous as those of commission. The republicans of the fifty-ninth Congress will go down into history as the procrastinators and as the most scared lot of politicians that ever sat on the lid.

That our high tariff prevents trade between the United States and the Republics of America south of the Caribbean Sea is shown by the government report that but 12 per cent of their imports comes from the United States. We cannot expect other countries to deal with us, if we raise a barrier against trading with them.
