HOME AND ABROAD. MISFITS. A Mixture of Things and Thoughts Some of these endless chains are endless nuisances.

There are quite a number of murder manufacturies in this world.

Hanging would be too good for that Milwaukee Ave bank crowd.

Of course Harriman won out in the Wells Fargo fight, and high rates will continue to operate.

Of eight Alrany college school boys who began their vacation season work-ing in a saw mill up the Santiam only two are left there.

Astoria politicians are in a turmoil Astoria politicians are in a turmoil over the recommendation for collector of customs of a man not satifactory to many of them, just made by Senator Fulton. The Astorian editor wanted it, and, of course failing, is now howl-ing himself hoarse. And that's modern politics.

The Eugene Register favors the The Eugene Register favors the candidacy of J. M. Shelley for collector of customs at Portland and says: "So far as Senator Fulton is concerned we know he is very friendly to Mr. Shelley's candidacy, but even a man in Fulton's position cannot always do as he would like. Portland should let loose, etc."

The Eugene Register boasts of a re-markable record for Superintendent Dillard and assistants, who completed the grading of the papers in the teach-er's examination on the day of the completion of the examination, a list of 54 succeasful candidates being given in this morning's Register. Must have worked nights or done a lot of skim-ming.

A Georgeous Parade.

The Great Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' Shows present this season the most attractive and colospal free street parade ever attempted in the spectacle called "Fighting the Flames." will exhibit in Albany, Thursday, Au-gust 23. - Since last season the parade has been enlarged and improved upon by master hands in the art of producing circus at-tractions. There is something in this pageant to interest and hold the atten-tion of ever spectator. The student of natural history has the wonders of the wild animal world brought before him in living, breathing reality. The lover of fine stock has here 500 magnificent J thoroughbred horses upon which to feast his eyes; the admirer of physical perfection is regaled with the sight of hundreds of the world's greatest acro-bats, equilibrists, gymnasts and riders; the artistic interest is gratified in the coulent splendor of massive, beautifully carved floats representing the known countries of the globe. Men and wo-men in nicturesque garb of the various nations form regal allegorical tableaus. Each floats is accompanied by a detach-ment of the soldiery of the country represented, and the picture is further enlivened and made more realistic by bands, composed of German, Russian, r French, Scottish, Indian and Persian musicians. The parade is in thirty sec-tions, and each one is a superb attract-ion in itself. Sold Their Restaurant.

Jack Hammel of Albany, who is doing brick work on the Taylor building, is a full fledged cousin of J. C. Hammel, the millionaire landlord of Hotel Cor-valis. In spite of the kinship, however, they never met until a few days ago. "You are from Michigan, I believe," a scharked Jack Hammel as hesidled up to the landlord and spoke in a confi-dential tone. "Yes I am from Michigan when I'm in Oregon," replied the land-lord, eying the stranger cautously.
"Yes; I too am from Michigan and I guess you and I are related," replied the brick mason.
This was two much for the millionaire. In spite of the very respectable ap-pearance of the stranger and of the honesty anybody else could see stamped of on his face, the landlord had a great vision that he was about to be struck to a loan of $10. All millionaires get that way and the landlord, who is also a well known telephone inspector, edged hurriedly away from his cousin and got busy elsewhere. Friends later explain-s do thim that the stranger was his own real cousin and that he was and danger of being goldbricked or sand-barged, after which the popular land-lerd made proper aplogies and extended to the brick man that cousinly affection that was his due. that was his due
