A Night in the First Ward.

Several people in the First ward near Third and Vine street last night were awakened by a man yelling help! help! at the top of his voice. A number got up and hunted for whoever needed help. Earlier in the evening a couple of women near that part of the city heard some one rapping at the front door of their house, and then at the back door. They were frightened, got up and went over to the office of the ice works and spent the night.

What was the matter of the First ward anyway.

For Albany is that of Prune Packing.

S. E. Comstock, a big commission man, of Newark, N. Y., and Mr. L. Rosen, of St. Louis, his western representative, arrived last night to look after their big Albany business. Mr. Comstock handling all the product of the Albany packing house, the output for this season already being practically spoken for. He also handles canned salmon and other products, doing a general commission business and is covering the coast. Mr. Comstock was in Albany last year also. He and W. F. Fortmiller were former townsmen.

The packing house of Lasselle Bros. will start up tomorrow, and there will be work for all wanting it during the packing season. There are already two car loads of dried prunes on hand, and driers are running full time everywhere.

The price, about 6 cents for 30's, has put the industry on top this year. The output of 150 car loads promised will undoubtedly be realized. This will mean a business of over $200,000.

PAVEMENT BOOSTING.

Albany People Appreciate the Movement.

G. W. Wright has begun an active campaign, following up the resolution of the city council, for the pavement of some of the business streets, believing the rapidly improving conditions, justify such an improvement. He already has the following signatures:

First street, Ferry to Broadalbin—Mayor J. P. Wallace, D. P. Mason, S. E. Young, Dr. A. Stark, F. G. Will.

Other's will also sign.

Mr. Wright has not yet worked on the Broadalbin-Ellsworth block, but will later, and also proposes if possible to secure signers for the pavement of Second street and the intervening streets.

Eugene people declare that paying there has been a wonderful stimulus to other things, one of the best things the city has ever done.
