LEAP YEAR

The First for Four Years. The Girls' Chance.

1908 is the first leap year for some time, and it behooves the young ladies of Albany to go shopping early and make their selections before some one gets in ahead of them. There are some good bargains among the young men of Albany, some of whom ought to have been captured before this. Here are a few that occur on the spur of the moment, and there are others:
Elvin Crutchfield.—Bank clerk of good character, bright smile and has the enterprise to run a canoe with two at least.
Elbert Robe.—Another affable bank clerk of splendid character, fully able to support a wife. You'll have to hurry.
John French.—First class jeweler and engraver, a genial fellow who would stand by his better half through thick and thin.
F. G. Will.—Jeweler, one of the best fellows in the world. He has seen a good many leap years, but is worth a dozen of some younger fellows.
Elba Burnett.—A muscular young man, faithful and good natured, just a little too young.
Ralph Knott.—An accomplished bank clerk who attends to business, Albany College graduate of clean character.
Erve Schantz.—Clothing clerk, fine foot ball player, steady, genial, with success assured.
Allen Stellmacher.—Drug clerk, capable and reliable, a fine fellow. Better see him Jan. 1.
Capt. F. C. Stellmacher.—Deputy sheriff, an experienced young man who has seen some of the battles of life of good character and excellent culture. Try him.
Henry Vollstedt. Delivery clerk at the P. O. Will make an Al husband who can be depended upon. No frills, but solid to the core.
Geo. Prichard.—Albany college graduate, hustling reporter.
Dave Froman.—A solid citizen in character, size and habit. Better not wait.
M. H. Gibbon.—Newspaper solicitor and hustler, used to foot ball knocks.
Robert Torbet.—Money order clerk, a model young man, perhaps already gobbled up.
Hi. Torbet.—Learning the P. O. business, worthy of an early capture.
John Kruse.—In the Democrat's list twenty-four years ago, but still in the swim.
Dr. M. H. Ellis.—Successful physician, accomplished gentleman and Albany booster.
Roy Ellis.—Grocery clerk, tall in stature, with corresponding character.
Hugh Isom.—A young plumber who may be depended upon.
Oliver Rowell.—A fine young man owning a $10,000 timber claim.
Harry Wilkins.—A popular drug clerk, good horseman and attentive to business.
Carl Huston.—Skillful barber and genial gentleman and good dresser.
Will Garrett and Kenneth Frank.—Will keep things pressed and clean, a big thing in any household.
Stanley Hammel.—A hustling hotel man, always good natured and a good provider.
Leone Faust.—Fine appearance, steady habits, polite clerk.
Hans Hoekenyos.—Efficient clerk, good musician, genial company.
Geo. Boom.—As steady as a clock, furniture clerk.
Win Royce.—Reliable operator, excellent character.
Ed. Barrett.—Fine fellow, traveled extensively and seen things.
Gale S. Hill.—Deputy district attorney, good business and always good natured.
Fred Anderson.—Expert Barber, pleasant ways, knows how to rough it.
Profs. Peacock and Zoe.—Bright, clean young men, worth the effort.
Dr. Linda Gray.—Expert dentist and splendid housekeeper.
Fred Weatherford.—Financier and genial gentleman.
Claire Dawson.—Efficient clerk and good fellow.

NEW YEARS NIGHT.

"Why Girls Leave Home" at the Opera House.

"Why Girls Leave Home" is an important question. At the opera house New Year's night will be presented for the first time in the West, a drama in domestic life dealing with the question and setting forth from one standpoint at least, the answer. The play is a dramatization by Fred Summerfield of a story dealing with the friction of domestic environment, characteristic of so many homes, and the effect upon the sensitive nature of the sister and daughter of the household. The scenes are naturally drawn avoiding melodrama yet leaving nothing wanting to the pathos, incident to all suffering, mental or physical. The presenting company is claimed to be one of the best that is touring the country, and the scenic investiture is very elaborate.
