A lameda. To the DEMOCRAT man he expressed his appreciation of the courte-ous treatment here. He had an easy time in this city, with which he was well impressed, and liked the business men of the town. Albany was the seventh city visited by him and he has about eight others, fifteen in all to go to before reaching Washington, which he thought would be in about a month. Albany people may expect to know the site selected about the first of Novemb-er. He does not make his report until he gets back to the capital city. He saw as many business people as possible, and in order to draw them out, talked freely about the different sites, but it is, though one might possibly do some pretty close guessing. At the present time there are fifteen men out from the treasury department selecting sites ordered by the last con-gress, covering the country. Mr. Yoa-kim has been in the department eight years, seven in Porto Rico, but his was hts first site inspecting trip.
