SELECTING A

A range is not bought every day. A few dollars more or less in price does not determine whether a range is cheap or dear. You want the best; that is the very first consideration.

The lasting quality is the main thing. Other points to be considered are: How much fuel does it require? Is any part of it likely to give out, to crack, break on warp? Does it heat up the kichen, or is all the heat put to use in cooking and baking? Will it wear well?

The "Quick Meal." Factory is 50 well equipped with latest and most improved machiney, that "Quick Meal." Steel Ranges are made more perfect and economical than any other Range, and in selecting a "Quick Meal." you get the best for no more money than what you would have to pay for the ordinary, cheaply constructed range.
