UNION DFPOT ON MONDAY.

Beginning next Monday the new de-pot will be a union depot in fact. Then all the C. & E. trains will leave and all the C. & E. trains will leave and arrive at the union depot, where all the business will be done, such as the sale of tickets, etc. It will make the tracks crowded for a while until more trackage is secured after the removal of the old depot and other buildings.

Twenty four passenger trains daily will then do business at this depot, making it a busy place. The new yard will be extended as fast as possible; a job, though, that will take a year or two to complete.

ALO i IST STREET.

A busy place these holiday days.

Not a vacant store, even the little laces are occupied.

New pool room opposite Fortmiller Bros., a man selling out some furnish-ing goods just west of Ohling & Taylor.

Some splendid stocks of Christman

The Toggery is now owned by Cleek & Stevenson, Fred Ward having sold his intorest to Chester Stevensen, of North Yakima, a former Albany young man, brother-in-law of his partner, who will come back to the Willamette valley to reside.

George Rolfe is busy rearranging his popular moving picture show resort, putting in raised seats, with less arcade room in front, more audience room, made necessary by the big crowds that attend.

The store rooms in the Elks building are being finished up ready for occupancy. The corner store to be occupied by Chambers & McCune is one of the finest and most modern in the valley. The committee is busy securing furnishings for the Elk's different rooms, to be elegantly equipped as a lodge and club house.

Some cleanups along the sides of the street for the holiday gatherings will be in order.

News from Albany's Six Early Trains.

There were two crowds at the depot, one going to Portland to hear Norcica, one of the world's great singers, and the other to Salem to attend the annual convention of the State Dairynnen's Association, interested in one of the most important industries.
