

Ladies Tailored Waists

Simplicity is the keynote of most waist styles. Tailor made effects are very fashionable. Net waists in pretty conceits and in the new tailored styles are much in evidence. This is a brief of the waist style news. A visit to our waist department will show a varied and charming expression of these tendencies. Their agreeable low prices will not be the least of their charm.

New Showing of Scotch and French Gingham

Stripes and Plaids 25c per yard
Dotted, Plain and fancy Swisses 15c to 75c per yard
Shirting and Madras for tailored waists, beautiful in finish, great variety 15c to 50c per yard
Bordered Lawns and Dimities 15c
Reps in plain colors, good quality 25c
Gainsa plain washes well, strong and serviceable for boys waists and suits new patterns.

THIS MORNING

News From Albany's Six Early Trains.

F. E. Fenton, of Portland, a former Albany merchant, returned home after a visit with his folks in Beaton county. His father has sold his place there, but will remain several weeks.

Mr. Hoover, of the Hoover saw mill, was waiting for the train. He reported a suspension bridge across the Santiam at Detroit, recently erected by Mr. John Outerson, of the hotel, a long needed improvement. It will enable people going there to cross the river to the popular camping ground, with ease. It is well constructed with large cables, and is safe.

H. M. Clancy, of Ft. Morgan, Iowa, after a short visit here, went to Portland, before returning home.

Mrs. E. E. Warner came down from her farm.

Mrs. F. H. Colpitts went to Portland to join her husband.

W. W. Pollock went to Salem.

Misses Patton and Bain, prominent high school students, returned from a visit at the Patton home at Halsey.

Miss Rector, of the county treasurer's office, returned from a Halsey visit.

Election of Library Society.

St. Mary's Library association met last night for the annual election of officers, who will serve for one year.

Miss Minnie Luggler was elected president, Miss Margaret Dooley secretary and Miss Maggie Shea treasurer.

The society was organized three years ago and has a large membership among the young people of the church. Literary and social meetings are held twice a month and a select library is being gradually built up.

The Crusher Crushing.

The rock crusher began this forenoon to crush Niagara rock into small pieces for the pavement of Albany's streets, as well as others. The big bins will be filled before the actual beginning of paving, so that when operations begin there will be no waiting for rock.

Something New.

Electric heater for hot water bottles used with any bottle, keeps water at a constant temperature, current consumed, one-sixth of 16 cp. lamp. Kalkan Electric Supply Co.

Dr. Lowe uses the same methods in testing the eyes as the leading oculists of our large Eastern cities and has all that is new and up-to-date in spectacles and eye glasses. Consult him Tuesday and Wednesday, May 4 and 5 at Hotel Revere.

Dr. Lowe the well-known optician will be in Albany May 4 and 5. As he does not go from house to house consult him in Revere House.

If you have head and eye ache consult Dr. Lowe about your eyes. 19 years experience.

May 4 and 5 are the days to fix well in your memory if you have defective sight Dr. Lowe's coffee.

Coffee that's ALL coffee—high quality—Chase & Sanborn's Coffee is on sale in Albany only at Owen Beam Co.

FOR SALE.—A Jersey cow and calf. Call at J. H. Stevens, 938 Calapooia street. Red 171 Pacific.

FURNISHED ROOMS.—Two good ones at Mrs. Blyeu's 225 W. 3rd. t25

C H NEWS

Deeds recorded:

W. C. Stellmacher to H. Bryant, 1 acre, 11 4 w $ 75

R. J. McKillop to Donald McKnight, 1183 acres 3760

S. G. Wilson to King S. Barger, 2 blocks N. Brownsville 809

Jas. W. Shirley to E. E. Van Epps and wife 6 lots Crawfordville 700

J. K. Weatherford to Free M. E. church, 2 lots, Waterloo 100

Margaretha Karstens to Carl Grill, 136.16 acres 2270

Henry Karstens jr, to Carl Grill, acre 10

John W. Garland to Matilda Garland, 1 lot H's 2nd ad 1500

Mortgages for $500, $250. Releases for $1500, $250 and $1000.

Registration title Chris. Howland and C. O. Shelvik, part of block 76 Albany.

Stock brand filed by G. A. Loring.

Hunters license E. T. Price, of Portland.

College Notes.

Miss Ruth Smith of Wolf Creek, has entered college for the remainder of the Semester.

The May pole dancers are busy practicing the winding of the May pole. The program for the day is about completed and the musical number will be particularly fine. Mr. William Steele, president of the student body, will crown the Queen.

The Student Body invites every one to witness their May Day celebration. In the evening at five o'clock the girls of the Y. W. C. A. will serve supper on the college campus to which the public is invited.

New Shoe Maker.

I have secured the services of a first-class shoe maker, a late arrival from the east. Bring your shoes and have them made good as new for a little money. BURNS' SHOE STORE.

When Married

Go and buy your dishes from an up-to-date stock and right prices. The place: At Charles Knecht's.

Weed pullers, Lawn shovels to dig around the walk, All kinds of pruning goods, At the Albany Hardware Co's.

FOR SALE.—A Jersey cow and calf. Call at J. H. Stevens, 938 Calapooia street. Red 171 Pacific.

FURNISHED ROOMS.—Two good ones at Mrs. Blyeu's 225 W. 3rd. t25

THE DEPOT

PLATFORM.

R. A. Marshall, of Marshall Brothers, cement contractors, 629 Chamber of Commerce Building, Portland, has been in the city making arrangements to begin work next Tuesday on the new cement walk at the depot, for which his firm has the contract, an extensive job.

There is to be a fifteen foot platform on the north side of the depot, a twenty-five foot one on the track side, one on the west end ten feet beyond the two pillars, and a six foot walk from it to Ninth street.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

Mr. Marshall is an old printer, though he has but one arm, losing his left arm when a boy of fourteen. He had not seen a case for twenty years, and so, for the experience, when at the Democrat office last evening set a line or two and read type bottom side up as handily as when setting type on a San Francisco paper years ago. Mr. Loring, in charge of the construction work for the S. P., had also set type forty years ago; but he had forgotten the whole trick, and left the job to his genial friend.

The Gossard Corset

They Lace in Front

Do you do your figure justice? It is certain that you do not unless you have fitted it with a Gossard corset. It gently forces a woman to stand correctly. It gives her a new straightness of shoulder. Most models

$5.00

Fitted by competent fitters.

When the children grow up—it's their lookout if they buy pinch-toe shoes. Until then, its up to you to see that their tender little feet are allowed to keep the shape that a kind Providence intended. You are safe in letting us help you. We sell the natural form shoe for little folks 75c to $2.50.