Grouchy People.

Some people in this world get so grouchy they can't see anything good in anything, and go about like a pan of sour cream. One almost dislikes coming in contact with them lest their own disposition is also soured. It doesn't make much difference what it is or what the subject the chances are that it will run into some kind of a knock before two minutes have elapsed. Some people would knock surrounded by roses.

The Power of a Personal Letter.

If Albany people once a week were to write letters east, and keep it up, each person just one letter, there would be something doing. Suppose only one thousand people did it, that would make 52,000 letters annually sent east about this country, doing a service that could not be estimated in dollars and cents. The influence of a letter is personal and emphatic. It is always read, and the person receiving it always takes notice. Anything that is personal strikes home. The idea of Manager Struble that this should be made a practice and one day in the week set aside for it deserves consideration and development.

Just for the Trusts.

Commoner:
The tariff commission having continued in session for 'steen weeks, and being somewhat wearied by its arduous labors, the chairman remarked:
"Have the representatives of the steel industry concluded?"
They had.
"And of the sugar interests?"
They had.
"And the wool, cotton, lumber, iron, coke, coal, oil and cordage interests?"
All had finished.
"Are there any other interests that desire to be heard?" inquired the chairman.
"If you please, Mr. Chairman," remarked a small man in a timid tone of voice, "I represent a few interests that desire to be heard."
"Well what interests do you represent?" asked the chairman gruffly.
"I represent the people who have to buy what all these other interests make and control—the consumer."
Immediately the commission adjourned, almost in a gale of laughter.

Frenzied Thoughts.
