MAKES ONE WEARY.

The court of appeals has decided that Harry Thaw must remain in the insane asylum, where he was committed. Thaw was acquitted of murder because insane. This was simply an excuse to save his neck, for it is known that he actually is no more insane than a good many other men with pretty good reputations for clear-headedness. It was an old game to save his life. He might have waited until the case had cooled off a little and given the public a rest, but at once he began his schemes to get out of the asylum, in the usual way, making a farce of the whole business. This is simply a sample of the insane dodges of the day, and is one of the things that keeps a patient public in a weary condition.

THE ELECTRIC ROUTE.

People at Peoria and Oakville are greatly pleased at the prospect of an electric road running into their country, something which is a country builder. Wherever the electric lines go there are built up strong communities, which are thus brought close to the markets of the world. The ability to get in and out on short notice is an immense inducement to improvement. This route is a particularly good one because there is no road in it now, thus opening up a new section. People along the proposed line feel elated over the route chosen and are confident they will make good in furnishing business for the road that passes by that way.

AN ALBANY GIRL TELLS ABOUT GIPSY SMITH.

An Albany girl in Chicago, tells about Gipsy Smith, the world's greatest evangelist, in the following way: "I went one night this week to hear Gipsy Smith, and like him very much. He is not in the least sensational, never mentioned hell, and speaks in such a simple, straightforward way, using plain but good English, and not one word of slang or suggestion of vulgarity. In spite of this he holds his immense audience in a wonderful way, for he has a magnetic personality and such a gentlemanly bearing. Something I didn't know is that he can sing. He has a beautiful, sweet, clear voice and sings with unusual feeling. The song of the meeting, such as was kept on Praying or 72 or 74 in the Albany revival, is 'Oh, Love of God That Brought Me Here,' a simple, useful melody. On two of the choruses Gipsy Smith sang alone, the chorus at the same time softly humming the tune, and I have never heard anything more beautiful or moving, and even men were moved to tears.

"In the middle of his sermon something that might have been sensational happened. A man in about the center of the house sprang up and ran up the aisle with his arms above his head and crying. Beneath the platform he fell, flat on his face, in a faint, I suppose. Several workers had gone forward to meet him and they at once led him away. Every one began craning their necks, when immediately Gipsy Smith, with good judgment and presence of mind, asked for all eyes to be turned front, and he himself started the song, 'Oh, Love of God.' The incident was forgotten

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

H. C. Bushnell, of Eugene, is here looking after the Lane county exhibit. Dr. Carter, of Newport, returned home this afternoon from an Albany visit.

Miss Edna Groves, of Corvallis, arrived this noon on a visit with Miss Ora Harkness.

J. D. Dickover came up from Portland this noon to look after his Linn county fruit orchard.

Mrs. Dr. Price of Monmouth, and Mrs. Gilfillin, of Grants Pass, arrived this noon on a visit at J. S. Morgan's.

Hugh Cummings, of Halsey, returned this noon from Seattle, where he had been with two car loads of goats for mutton eaters.

The report of the marriage of Miss Margaret Freerickson down in California the Democrat is reliably informed is previous. She is not married.

G. A. Flood, R. L. Tracey, Wm. Fortmiller and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Stevens returned this noon from Yaquina, with a record of six salmon and a good time.

Thos. Cummings and family left this afternoon for Portland to reside, and Albany loses some genial and good citizens, as well as a mighty hunter and fisherman.

The Lynn Street Grocery.

Geo. Dooley & Son, at Lyon and Ninth streets, are now ready for business with a fine display of fresh groceries, vegetables and produce, and will be glad to have Albany people generally call.

Basket social at Star Gauge Saturday evening of this week. Ladies bring their baskets.

in a minute. He then spoke a few words saying that it would be well if like this poor man we would all bow to the very ground before God, and closed his sermon, although he had talked only about twenty minutes.

"He didn't say, 'Come on,' but 'won't you come, God wants you,' and always with that idea. Of the several hundred who stood I am sure he didn't miss seeing one and acknowledged each with a 'thank you' or 'I saw you,' or 'God bless you,' etc. There is an inquiry room where all who stood are asked to go, and the personal work is done there after the audience is dismissed.

"The chorus is supposed to contain one thousand, but considering the size of the building and all they didn't sound any better than the Albany chorus of two hundred voices."

MODERN EQUIPMENT FOR AN ABSTRACT OFFICE

We have just added a Rectigraph to our plant.

This is a machine recently perfected for making photographic reproductions of the county records

The copies are made fac-simile which obviates the necessity of proof-reading or comparing, and eliminates the possibility of human error, with which all other copies abound.

The General Land Office at Washington uses one of these machines for making copies of Patents; the large Life Insurance Companies also make copies of the applications to attach to their policies, and the leading Abstract companies throughout the United States are rapidly installing the Rectigraph for making copies of all records affecting the title to real estate.

The machine for this county is in the sole and exclusive use and services of,

"THE SPOILERS."

Of all the great plays that have graced the stage, "The Spoilers" is one of the best and purest. It is a story of human interest, unfolding a life character in the Alaskan goldfields, so true to nature and life as to appeal with irresistible force to the audience. "The Spoilers" is from the pen of that popular writer, Rex Beach, and Henry McRae has given it a sumptuous production, and the cast is headed by that popular leading lady, Miss Margaret Oswald.

The engagement in this city will be one night, Thursday Oct. 28.

THIS IS DISH NIGHT AT DREAMLAND.
