

THE ALBANY APPLE FAIR.

—By W. S. Gordon—

What is all this fuss about? Trains all loaded in and out, Blushing fruit and blushing maid—

Sauces, jellies, marmalade— Pies and dumplings scent the air— Why it's Albany's Apple Fair!

"Pyrus malus King shall be," Shout the Profs. from O. A. C., 'Till every apple gets in style With the famous Billiken smile.

Balmy Indian summer air— All aboard for the Apple Fair! See the beauties, old and new—

Starks and Spitzens, Baldwins too Yellow Newtowns, Kings and Spies, Gloria Mundis Jumbo size!

Your aunts and uncles will be there, So don't you miss that Apple Fair! Sturdy stock from every clan

From Halifax to Hindostan All reach perfection in the sun Among the hills of Oregon—

So toss that headgear in the air And shout hurrah for the Apple Fair!

The Journal shows that in Portland the people are receiving several billion germs per quart more than is healthful in their milk.

Simon of Portland is the head of the political machine, and the new regime in that city is standing in with any old graft that has the mon.

We need to study public questions thoroughly in Oregon. We can't lay all the blame on the legislature, as in other states.

This imprisoning American citizens in Texas on the mere suspicion that they don't like Taft smacks too much of the progress of the Czar of Russia through his outlying provinces.

Taft in Tacoma speaking on the ship subsidy plainly said that like the tariff it was to benefit a few, to help them make money, with contributions from the public till.

If a "certain party" were not now in Africa, spontaneous combustion might supply a theory for that White House fire.

Mrs. Besant says she was "twins" centuries ago. One of her is even too many now. Glad the twins were before our day.

How will Mr. Taft ever square himself with the anti-polygamist voters after that speech to the Mormons?

The "good roads" idea is one that will have an accelerated growth, because when one town gets good roads it makes an imperative reason right then why its rival should.

Mountain climbers and explorers looking for more worlds to conquer might start right out with their instruments and observe to what altitude the price of meat is going.

A new cable code is made up of words like "Baribeguh." It means approximately, "Have arrived safely. How are the kids?"

If the atmosphere is full of astral bodies, as Mrs. Annie Besant claims, an airplane on a trial flight must cause an awful mortality among the ghosts.

Mr. Bill Burdette, of the Warren Construction Co. came down from Niagara last evening and left today for The Dalles to take part in pavement making for that city.

DR. HILL TELLS OF A MEXICAN BULL FIGHT.

Editor Democrat:—Through your valuable columns I ask to apologise to the many readers of the "Old Staidy of Linn county," the Democrat, which has been daily dealing out reliable news to the interested public for so many years it has become a household part of the existence of the "Hub of the Valley."

What do I ask to apologise for? For not giving a general writup of what I saw while in Mexico last August. Since returning I have been upbraided by many for remaining silent, where a few strokes of the pen and the large circulation of the Democrat would give information to those who have not had the chance to take the trip.

The account of the death, in the ring, of Harper E. Lee, whose name and fame was in the mouths of every one in Mexico, since last winter when he earned his greatest fame by entering the ring and killing two vicious bulls that had just killed two men, has just been received through the press. Lee had the name of being one of the most daring matadors on the turf, and his appearance in the ring was the signal for general deafening applause.

Last winter a native matador, who had retired from the ring, was left, by the death of his wife, with three children to support and but little of the world's goods to keep them with. He returned to the ring to make one more fight for a large sum of money, his name was a guarantee that thousands would attend the contest for he had triumphed over many of the most vicious bulls that Spain or the plains of Mexico could produce.

The cry went up for Harper E. Lee to take the sword. Accordingly the following Sunday Lee entered the ring dressed in the gorgeous paraphernalia of the sporting ring and the republic's pride, and like a daring American he asked for a combat with the bull that had killed Mexico's greatest matador.

The gate was opened and the bull admitted. He immediately dispatched the two horses and kept the six men who are in the ring with the matador as his assistants, jumping the fence for safety from the moment the bull entered till the contest was over. When the signal was sounded for the final killing, Lee, with unerring thrust of the sword laid low one of the worst bulls that had ever been in the ring. The next bull that had come victorious was brought in and Lee's fame went to the clouds, with applause from twenty-five thousand spectators, who, when Lee drove his sword through his antagonist rent the air with clapping hands and acclamations of "Viva el Americano!"

Harper E. Lee, American matador of the Mexican bullring and a friend and portage of President Diaz, of Mexico, who was gored to death by a savage bull in the arena at Mexico City, while a vast multitude gazed in helpless horror upon his fate. Once a college student, Lee, who was a Texan, took up civil engineering as his profession and failing, became a bull fighter.

His entrance to the ring at Mexico was always the signal for frantic cheering and cries of "Americano! Viva el Americano!" upon the part of the spectators. When killed, he was making his last appearance prior to returning the visit of the Chalmers-Detroit pathfinding tour, of last summer, whose guests were lavishly entertained by him during their stay in the Mexican capital.

The district convention of the Degree of Honor closed last evening with a fine dinner in the banquet room, splendidly prepared, with Mrs. B. F. Purdom as the head caterer, and nicely served. During the convention three fine meals were served at the rooms, a great convenience for the delegates during the stormy weather.

Resolutions were passed in appreciation of the splendid treatment received. About forty delegates were present, cut short by the bad weather.

The convention was particularly favored in having Mrs. Looney grand chief of honor of Oregon present. Mrs. Morehead, wife of Editor Morehead of the Junction Times, was press correspondent, a very genial and accomplished lady.

Eugene was selected as the next place of meeting, in April, and the following officers were elected, according to custom both Eugene members: Mrs. S. J. Dillard president, Mrs. A. Chapman secretary.

HOW TO SELL YOUR REAL ESTATE.

The following contract sells your property and protects you: Albany, Ore., 190... You are hereby given, for a period of... days from date, the exclusive agency for the sale of my property, known as... Linn County, Oregon. The legal description of the property is as follows:...

The minimum price for said property is... dollars, free and clear of all taxes and special assessments that are a lien at the time said property is sold or a contract for the sale thereof entered into. The purchaser is to pay not less than... dollars cash, balance of purchase money to be payable not more than... years after date of sale with semi-annual interest at... per cent, and secured by purchase money notes and mortgage in form satisfactory to me.

Upon your selling said property within the time above limited for the price and upon the terms aforesaid I agree, upon the consummation of the sale and the payment of the purchase money, to pay you a commission of... per cent on the minimum price above specified, and in addition thereto one-half of whatever you realize over and above said price, but I am not under any circumstances whatever to be liable for commissions or any other payments unless the transaction is actually closed, the property conveyed and the purchase money paid over.

No other broker, person or firm has authority from me to sell said real estate and I will not, until the expiration of your agency as above limited, give such authority to any person or firm, nor sell or negotiate for the sale of the same myself, but will immediately report to you any and all inquiries which I may receive during the period of the agency aforesaid.

The above agency is accepted upon the terms and conditions hereabove stated. For a quick sale list your property with the Real Estate Department of THE OREGON TITLE & TRUST COMPANY.

SCIO. The News: Scio's public schools are rapidly filling up. Lack of dwelling houses prevent many families from coming to town, who would like to send their children to the high school and the grade departments as well.

Last Saturday afternoon the fill of the south approach to the bridge was completed. When all the rubbish is removed, Scio's bridge will present a very handsome appearance.

A law suit of which R. B. Miller, of Jefferson, was plaintiff and Mr. Simmons, of Scio, was defendant, occurred in Justice Jas. A. Bilyea's court, last week. The dispute arose over 30 bushels of potatoes grown on the premises lately sold by Mr. Miller to Mr. Simmons. The suit resulted in favor of Mr. Simmons and the costs of the trial were assessed to Mr. Miller.

The Scio Condensed Milk Co. held its first annual meeting Wednesday afternoon. Just one year ago the company was organized. Since the first delivery of the manufactured product, the brand has grown in favor wherever introduced. The entire board of officers were elected, which should be sufficient evidence that their management has been satisfactory.

Miss M. P. Gilchrist, of Clarinda, Iowa, arrived last night and will spend the winter with her brother, Rev. W. M. Gilchrist of the Oakville U. P. church, who was in re to m. at her.

SATURDAY NIGHT THOUGHTS.

There was general interest throughout Oregon this week in a chase after some convicts, a regular man hunt. Desperate men at bay, with men after them, loaded to the limit, offers a chase of a character to make people take notice. Hunting fellow men, whatever their character, as one would hunt wild beasts, determined to shoot at sight, presents a spectacle for the most bloodthirsty, not a pleasant one to consider.

This week a man was formally placed in the position held by Harriman, placing him at the head of the railroad world, about the most important financial position in the world. His career will be watched with interest, the observer wondering if he can fill the shoes of the greatest railroad man in the world.

Mr. Welch says the Northwest Co. has all the money it needs and is going to make things hum in the valley. Already it has right of way men working between Eugene and Salem. The first big work, though, will be in Salem, where a system will be built. One is also to be put in at Albany later, and a road is to run from Salem to Mehama. All of which is good news to valley people, who are anxious to see a line of electric cars going through the valley, as a business and boosting proposition.

Speaking of electric lines there is considerable argument about whether they help the smaller places. Some one declares that the Oregon Electric going into Salem has been a detriment to the city, taking an immense sight of business out of it to Portland. The Democrat is satisfied cities like Salem and Albany will take care of themselves on the layout, and by the development of the surrounding country they will be immensely recompensed by the coming of the roads, and that instead of taking business away from Albany they will bring a good deal here. We have a pretty fair illustration of this in the old line roads coming into the city, immense channels of business getting.

Albany people are just now appreciating the fact that pavement is immensely appreciated during rainy weather. It is great to be able to cross the streets at any point at places where formerly there was a mass of mud. Under the pavement system the water washes the dirt on it down into the gutters and thence through the catch basins into the sewers and out into the river. One winter of pavement in the business section will make our people willing to sacrifice considerable to have pavement in front of their homes.

How much a city the size of Albany can stand as an expense account in keeping up is an important question, and one that must be worked out. It is not just a matter of sentiment.

Most people think an example is needed at this time of J. Thorburn Ross, the Portland banker sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary for violation of the banking law. It is probably true that others were perhaps more guilty than Ross; but Ross is the one on whom the criminal mantle falls and must stand the punishment. There ought to be more. Several others should also visit Sa...m.

A feature about the case of Ross is that he was a shining light in the religious world, which ought to stand for something. A man who gets business through professions of religion and then stabs his friends in the back deserves a double sentence.

The city election is approaching. There is a general sentiment throughout the city in favor of Mayor Wallace being kept in the office during another term, needed there these busy paving days, a man of splendid judgment and character.

N. F. Nelson, of Polk county, a candidate for governor, gives his views, and declares he will be there on both feet whenever people wish to know how he stands. He is for good roads and for election of senators by a vote of the people, and then admits we are all imperfect creatures. By the way who is N. F. Nelson.

The Democrat is receiving some advance notices from Chas. B. Hanford, the Shakespearian actor. This year Mr. Hanford will present the Taming of the Shrew for lovers of Shakespeare and will also appear in a modern play, specially arranged for him, The American Lord, in which he has a strong cast, with Mrs. Hanford, known as Miss. Drofna, as the leading lady.

Several Oregon farmers will attend the national farmers convention at Raleigh, N. C. next month, among the agriculturists to go being Farmers Tom Richardson and William McMurry of Portland, Mr. Kerr a leading tiller of the soil of Corvallis and W. M. Colvig who has a garden back of his law office in Medford.

The boys at Newport say Tom Cummings name should be changed to Tom Sawyer. Recently on a fishing trip on the boat H. N. Cockerlin had a big bite and excitedly pulled in his line, with nothing on it. Cummings had jerked the line while Cockerlin's face was turned. Tony Austin had the same kind of a bite, which was about all the fish caught, according to the story.

Some one kicks because not permitted to go inside the new high school building and examine the woodwork, which experts are declaring is not up-to-date, made in Grants Pass on a Eugene contract. When the building is completed it will be easier to judge of the workmanship of the building. The builders have an excellent reputation as workmen and appreciate the reputation of a good job.

MISFITS.

Can Lovett fill Harriman's shoes.

Make the timber barons pay for their monopolies.

The corporations always want their taxes reduced.

More lights, will be a burning question for this city

Bet Teddy strikes something that will make people take notice.

The timber land holdings of outsiders should be assessed high.

Willie Hearst can always make a big noise anyway; but that is not votes.

Candidates for mayor in New York are throwing hot words at each other.

Some people probably think Cook ought to have brought the pole itself back.

Alabama's new prohibition law is known as the Fuller bill. What's in a name anyway.

There is to be no politics in the coming census enumeration. A very good October joke.

With North Pole and aviator heroes galore where will Roosevelt be when he arrives home.

One Sir Thomas Lipton thinks he would like to try it again. His six hundred stores must be paying.

A Sacramento man yesterday was fined $250 for kissing a girl; but Long is married. Nothing is charged in Albany.

Judge Robert S. Lovett, the new Harriman president looks too much like Rockefeller to suit the average American.

Col. Hoter, of the Salem Journal, recently paid $2.50 for a bed at Boise City, and yet some people declare editors don't have any money.

Roosevelt's story in Scribner's is getting fierce. A Chicago man kills a leopard bare-handed, a second David, or old foot ball player perhaps.

Gov. Johnson and Senator Johnson have both recently died. This probably is portentous of the fact that Jack Johnson is about to be licked by a man named Jeffries.

An Albany man has counted seventy-three people here dealing in real estate, either exclusively or in connection with other business. A good many for a place of this size.

Tom Richardson and Congressman Hawley will both be in Corvallis on the same day, glory enough for one town. Thesame is liable to happen in Albany, for both are to be here next week.

An Albany man gave the Democrat an advertisement for a girl to do general housework, at 8 o'clock in the morning and at 10 o'clock had a girl hired, and from the advertisement, five, and a half hours before the paper was out.

TELEGRAPH.

PORTLAND, Oct. 21. — Mrs. Rose Heiney threw herself and babe across the O. W. P. tracks this morning near Gresham and both were killed.

EUGENE, Oct. 21. — County Judge Chrisman has resigned going to Southern California it is said. Gov. Benson has appointed Heimus Thompson.

SALEM, Oct. 21. — Albion Smith was found guilty of robbing Hinges store, also Louis Arstell an ex-convict, who attempted to hold up McDonald on the Liberty road. Both will be sentenced on Saturday.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. — Lovett was elected president of the Union Pacific today.

SALEM, Oct. 21. — Martin, alias Whit-eaker, claiming to be a deserter from the army and wanted at Leavenworth for killing the Sergeant of the guards, with $1500 reward over him, today surrendered to Minto. He has been working as a plasterer.

SALEM, Oct. 22. — Math Jancijag, murderer of Mary Smreker, his sweetheart, at Oregon City in Oct. 1908, was hanged at 12:32 and was dead in 12 minutes. He was resigned to his fate and made no demonstration. He said he believes he will meet his sweetheart in heaven.

While the death march was in progress some other convicts poured coal oil in a cuspidor and set fire to it thinking to raise an excitement, but the guards got next to it and stopped the fun.

PORTLAND, Oct 22. — Jew Nun, a chinese murderer, was pardoned Saturday by Gov. Benson. He was hurried to San Francisco and left for China. The whole thing was done in secret and a scandal may follow.

Holley's Oil Prospects.

Brownsville Times: — Mr. C. F. Reynolds, of Marys, Ohio, has been here prospecting for oil at Holley. He has 1100 acres located and is now after machinery to prosecute the work and as soon as he returns will begin in earnest. Mr. Reynolds says that this is the best formation for oil he has found in the state. If the prospect is as good as Mr. Reynolds thinks it is, it will give this country a boom it never knew before. The oil and gas will become a commodity of value and the gas is expected to be different from the gas around the Holley store.
