APPLE FAIR OPENED.

A Splendid Display of Apples Here.

Albany's third annual fair began this afternoon, somewhat incomplete, not being completely set, but with much the finest display of apples ever shown in the central Willamette Valley, a credit to this valley with its wonderful resources.

The people of Albany have made splendid preparation for the fair, the committees doing thorough and energetic work.

The merchants have made excellent decorations for the event, the stores being alive with apple displays. Among fine displays in addition to those mentioned are those of the Elite, where a pretty wheel with Albany as the Hub is shown. W. M. Parker also has a good one along this line, the Blain Clothing Co., the Commercial Tea Co., L. Viereck, S. E. Young & Son, Sternberg, Chambers & McCune, the Willamette Valley Co., the Fogory, Tomlinson & Holman, Gilbert Bros., the Albany State Bank, with the name in apples, Conrad Myer, Foshay & Mason, the Woodworth Drug Co.

The Sox Hardware store, the Crest, Holt Again with the name in apples. H. Hofflich, C. G. Rawlings, the Linn & Benton Real Estate Co.

Two immense bunches of celery raised by Chas. Crocker attract attention. Rufus Bros. of Salem, have a display of hot house flowers, covering a wide variety, a splendid assortment. Geo. L. Allen's dahlias, 46 varieties, fill a table, a beautiful display. J. A. Nimmos has on display some fine Albany grapes. Quinces immense are there and some big vegetables.

For tonight an elaborate musical program has been arranged, to consist of music by the orchestra, a song by a male quartet, a solo by Mr. Graham, a reading by Miss Harkness, a selection by the Treble Clef Club, a solo by Miss Smith, the official song "In the Land Where the Big Red Apples Grow," and a selection by the orchestra.

The opening exercises have been delayed until 7 this evening at the gymnasium. The musical program will be in the Christian church.

Tomorrow will be Willamette Day. A big reception will be given the crowd at noon, three hundred arriving at noon. Postmaster Van Winkle will give the address of welcome and F. G. Diefelbach of Salem will respond, and the key of the town will be given the visitors from everywhere.

Hon. W. S. Duniway, state printer, a former Albany boy, has consented to deliver a response to the address of welcome of Judge Howitt at the home coming meeting Friday evening at the Christian church. Congressman Hawley is also down for a ten minute talk at this time, by virtue of Mrs. Hawley having been a former Linn county "girl" and Mr. Hawley a next door neighbor.

RECTORY OPENED.

The new rectory of Father Lane was formally opened yesterday, and a large number of Albany people enjoyed the hospitality of the popular priest, both afternoon and evening, the rooms being well filled. The residence is a modern structure, splendidly arranged and richly furnished, equipped for comfort and entertainment, a strong factor in the work of a church. Choice refreshments of ices, cakes and coffee and tea were served. An impromptu program was rendered in the evening, particularly favored in including Father Datin and his accomplished niece, of Brooks, who also assisted materially during the day in the entertainment.

Father Servais, the assistant, is proving a capable help in the work of the church, and has a suit of rooms in the rectory. A richly furnished room always awaits a visit from the Bishop. Several pictures were the work of Father Lane's mother, and a sword of General Lane, once presented him on an important occasion, hangs on the wall of the grandson, a relic to be proud of.
