

UP TO THE MINUTE JEWELRY NOVELTIES

Just last week we enlarged our Jewelry Department, until now it takes a very important place among all the others. Several splendid new show cases right at the foot of the stairs to the balcony are aglow with many sparkling and vari-colored novelties in Belt Pins, Brooches, Necklaces, Ear Rings, Bracelets, Hat Pins, Beauty Pins—yes all the dainty effects in every conceivable shape and coloring, any of which will give a pleasing finish to collar, belt, hat or dress. Of jet which is just now so popular, there are some very elegant things in Pins, Necklaces, etc. A number of antique effects in filigree work—dull gold finish or tinted in colors with exquisite stones mounted thereon. We want you to visit this new department and notice while there the very low price at which all are selling.

STOP—LOOK—LISTEN!

The ladies of this city are making a wondrous effort toward the goal for a Greater Albany. Their aim is a City Park, which will mean more to Albany than her citizens can now realize. To raise funds for so great an undertaking, they are giving a Chrysanthemum Fair in the Armory Wednesday and Thursday afternoon and evening. Afternoon admittance free. Evening admittance, 10 cents.

They have arranged an evening program that would put Belasco & Frohman's star attractions to shame. They have on their program for this evening's entertainment three of the world's most famous celebrities, Mme. Patti, Soprano; Mme. Carcano, Pianist; Sarah Barnhart, in recitation. They have also arranged an artistic exhibition of living pictures under spot light (John Court would feature this attraction alone at $1.00).

The ladies have not been unmindful of us of the sterner sex whose taste is principally in our mouth, and have provided booths where the choicest viands of all nations are artistically served.

Do your drug shopping early. Our store will be closed at 8 o'clock to enable our employes to attend the Fair and help boost Woodworth Drug Co.

Hot weinermus, Schmeer Case, and Sandviches mit the flowing steins will be in evidence at the Dutch booth, where pretty Dutch girls with wooden shoes, will be at your service.

The Oriental Booth is an interesting feature, and through the influence of Albany's most favored son, Mr. Fisher, U. S. Consul to the Orient, the Mikado has been persuaded to send us 4 of his most charming almond eyed beauties to preside over the Tea Pagoda.

Candy Booth, by a unique arrangement with "Tuffy," the Candy King, delicacies here served will be surpassed only by the grace and beauty of the fair attendants.

Men, don't go home to supper, eat at the Fair. Any man failing his duty tonight will be branded a coward.

Come up and boost! Last but not least—Domestic Science—the backbone of the human structure. This booth will be presided over by Mme. Roarer, assisted by four of the world's most famous Cuisineres.

JUST A MATTER OF LAW ENFORCEMENT. IT IS AN IMPORTANT THING.

A great many people do not believe in capital punishment, and do not like to see any one hanged. In fact they believe that hanging does not operate to prevent crime. Men have a right to their belief in such things. That is not the question. So long as hanging is the punishment the law should be enforced. Over ninety murders in Oregon suggests a few hangings or something in the interest of Justice.

A BASEBALL CONGRESSMAN.

W. W. McCredie is the first baseball magnate elected to Congress, and as President Taft is quite a baseball fan, people of the second Washington district have strong hopes that their representative will be able to get unusually close to the executive. Other baseball players have gone to Congress, but McCredie will have the honor of being the first club owner to essay the role of a lawmaker. Having served some time as interpreter of the law, Congressman McCredie is as familiar with legal vagaries and phraseology as he is with balls, strikes, drops and whatnots. When he reaches the national capital, it is expected that he will introduce some new curves into the political game.

IN PORTLAND.

In Portland the streetcar trust makes $100,000 a year from the strap-hangers in its overcrowded cars. The people of that city obtain hygienic exercise hanging on straps for which the trust does not charge a cent. It is all thrown in for the small price of one nickel. Considering that the worth of an average streetcar ride in a large city is just three cents, perhaps two cents may be considered as paid for the vibratory thrill of electric car as it bumps around a curve.

We always have an idle waiter to wait on you at the Idle Hour.

Every move for raising money for the making of the depot park deserves the hearty and liberal support of the people of Albany. It is an improvement that will do a great deal for the city. At a place that has been characterized as the gateway to the city, observed by all entering it by rail, and by many passing through it is of immense importance to have it a place of beauty, one that shall speak for the entire city, for it is a fact that often depot surroundings stand for a city in the judgment of those seeing them. But no argument is needed, our people are united in their enthusiasm for this improvement, and the thing now is to make it crystallize into action and become a reality.
