THIS MORNING CIRCUIT COURT

News From Albany's Six Early Trains.

Miss Myrtle E. Pease, district visitor and investigator of the Boys and Girls Aid Society of Oregon, returned to Portland with a young girl for the home. Next Tuesday will be the annual gathering of Thanksgiving offerings for the home and contributions are appreciated. The home is doing a splendid work.

Father Lane of this city and Father Datin and his niece, Miss Courtesie Brooks, returned from Lebanon, where they had been to hold a mission.

Judge J. J. Whitney left for Portland to appear for the defendant in the divorce case of Mrs. Parrish, their second suit, Mr. Parrish having been plaintiff in a former suit.

Mrs. H. H. Hewitt went to Salem on a visit with her sister.

Death of Mrs. St. John.

Mrs. W. H. St. John, a former resident of Albany, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fannie Brown, in San Francisco this week. She was a Christian woman of splendid attainments and character, and will leave many to mourn her death. Mr. St. John died several years ago. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Chas. Q. Rideout, the latter of San Leandro, where Mr. Rideout is now the postmaster. Mrs. St. John was a sister of Mrs. Wait Mead, of this city, and Dr. C. U. Chamberlain, of Los Gatos, Calif.

A New Club.

Last evening fifteen jolly young ladies met at the home of Miss Velma Davis to organize a social and literary club. During the winter the young ladies expect to read many of the current books and have a good time on the side, and if last night was a "fore taste of the glory divine" the club will certainly be a success.

OBSERVED

By the Man About Town.

C. B. Winn, the Wells Fargo agent, getting instructions from W. V. Merrill, local agent of the Bell Telephone Co., which recently gobbled up the Western Union and numerous other talking and ticking companies.

Some red fez men, natives of the red fez country, selling rugs.

The Man about Town and P. D. Gilbert are now neck and neck as the reputed authors of the red barn fire, with a frog in the throat in evidence against the former.

The high school building is nearly ready for work on the roof. It is going to take hustling to finish the building by March 1.

Prof. Head says he will carry a full line of sheet music and small instruments, as well as pianos. He has been in the business over thirty years, and knows it thoroughly.

Building in the winter is slow work. Several weeks of good weather may strike us any time.

The river boats as usual are carrying freight one or two cents cheaper than the S. P., that's all, indicating pretty conclusively an agreement.

Born.

On Tuesday, Nov. 16, 1909 to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jackson, a girl, weight 8½ pounds. All doing well, their first child.
