2 1/2 TIMES AS MUCH LIGHT FOR THE SAME MONEY

Tungsten Lamps Make Electric Light Much Cheaper

They have two and a half times the efficiency of the ordinary carbon lamp hitherto in general use. The filament is made of a rare metal called Tungsten, which has an intense brilliancy at low cost. In shape and size the bulb is just like any other electric incandescent lamp. Why not try a Tungsten lamp yourself? Get one of the 40-watt and use it somewhere in your house in place of one of your carbon lamps. Then observe the great difference. Note the clear white light, exactly twice as brilliant and costing you one-fifth less for electricity. Tungsten lamps are destined to displace all others, for both store and house lighting.

MISFITS.

Albany chairs go all over the coast.

November has been a soaker for sure.

Railroads radiating out from Albany will boost.

Albany is already the best trade center in the valley.

Some people just live in the future. There is a big present. Do something now.

The Union Furniture factory is running night and day to meet the demand for its superior furniture.

Binger Hermann is to be tried now says Henev, just as soon as Mr. Hermann gets ready to be tried, that is, names the date.

Several Harrisburg people the other night saw a huge ball of fire in the air north of Harrisburg. It suddenly burst and fell. And this is a dry county.

Mrs. Stetson has been excommunicated from the Christian Science church and will now start a new church of her own, and perhaps excommunicate Mrs. Eddy herself.

M. J. Monteith came over from Albany yesterday to see how it feels to be where there is something doing.—Corvallis Gazette-Times. Just for a little quiet after the Albany hustle.

Albany is coming right along. It has paved 35 blocks of its business streets, has 12 miles of cement sidewalks, and in addition to electrifying its street car line, building is moving along at a steady clip.—Eugene Register. Oh, thanks.

Keane Coming.

Bly's theatre was crowded last evening to witness the initial performance of "Held for Ransom" in which James Keane is starring in a four-nights' run. The play is a one act farce, presented by four characters. Mr. Keane taking both the part of the hero and the bandit chief, widely dissimilar characters, showing the versatility of the actor.

It is the story of an actor, who is stranded in a Mexican town, and falls in love with a Spanish maid. His uncle in New York refuses his consent to the youth's marriage, or to aid him financially, until the young man wires him that he is held for $500 ransom by Mexican bandits. The uncle comes post haste and meets Dolores the young man's sweetheart, who impersonates the daughter of the bandit chief, telling the uncle of her father's cruelty to the captive, his nephew. The captive appears in chains, delirious and wild-eyed and after going back to his dungeon appears again as the bandit himself, flourishing his knife and not only gains the consent of the uncle to the marriage of Dolores and the nephew but secures the $5000 that the uncle has with him. He reveals himself and is pardoned by the uncle on condition that the uncle is returned sufficient money to take him back to New York. The work of the "Uncle" is clever, although Mr. Keane has most of the heavy acting.—Salem Statesman.

The above company opens for a four night stand at the Dreamland Theatre in this city commencing next Wednesday night, November 24. This company carries its own scenery which is typical of the City of Mexico, which will give our patrons a rare treat and by far the best show ever presented here. Price of admission will remain as usual.
