Consul Miller as an Irishman.

Hon. H. B. Miller is now settled in his work at Belfast, Ireland. The change proving a decided benefit to his health. Mr. Miller stood high in Yokohama, and the papers there speak very pleasantly of him in connection with his new job. One paper at Yokohama says: "He is a good fellow wherever he is. Shure he's a broth of a boy and when he strays be the side of the dirty wathers at the river Liffey, or steps a jig on the green at Donlybrook, perhaps he'll think of us Irish here and remember the Hibernians. We shall miss Consul-General Miller, his wife and his family mightily, but we shall always remember them with pleasure." Another one: "His friends all know he is a stalwart republican; all Americans know that the moment an Irishman lands in New York he becomes a democrat, so it seems to us that the president has decided the best way to drive out the democratic party is to send Genl. Miller to Belfast and make every Irishman a good republican before leaving the country."

King Dodo.

"King Dodo," the Pixley and Luders comedy opera par excellence, under the direction of John Cort, will be the attraction at Albany Saturday night, Dec. 4, and its presentation should mark an epoch in the season's most fashionable and eventful occurrences. "King Dodo" is in a class by itself, and is entirely dissimilar to all predecessors. While it absorbs the eye with its glittering pageantry, it fascinates with its tuneful melody and irresistible humor.

The Jefferson Bridge.

Review: The members of the Linn and Marion county courts were here Tuesday and looked at the hole in the water where the $4,000 pier should have been. They promise to repair the bridge temporarily as soon as possible, and talk most favorably toward replacing the old structure with a steel bridge next summer.
