FRIDAY.

THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving day was generally observed in Albany. The banks were closed all day and the stores nearly all day. The local newspapers took a rest.

A large audience enjoyed the Thanksgiving services at the U. P. church yesterday morning. Rev. J. C. Elliot of the Grace Presbyterian church preached the sermon, an interesting and able one, covering a wide field.

The earth is evidently just the place for men. Mercury would be too hot, and Neptune too cold. He is a very small thing and God could not find him if not infinite.

The north temperate zone is the one of power and this is the best place in it. Life is a battlefield, a continual fight for righteousness, and the enemy is on the run.

Like Waterloo, Yorktown, Sebastopol and Gettysburg this the crucial time of the warfare and marvelous things are shown. The gospel of Christ is reaching out over the world.

There have been wonderful changes. Witchcraft had to go, dueling has been stopped, gambling is less and less, an outlaw, the drink habits decreasing, slavery has been done away with in this country.

In thirty years it is said the Gospel will be in every place, building up a Christian civilization. There is much in the progress of the world to be thankful for.

Concert Nov. 29.

The second number of the Albany College Lecture course, the Central Grand Concert Company will be given at the United Presbyterian church on Monday evening, Nov. 29. The company is composed of four musical artists of exceptional ability, and is guaranteed by the Lyceum Bureau to be the best musical talent to be obtained on the coast. Watch the papers and other announcements as to the individual members of this company. Reserved seats on sale Saturday and Monday at Woodworth's.

The Weather.

Thanksgiving was a pleasant day, though the temperature was low, 48 degrees being the highest. During the night it dropped to 36 degrees.

The rainfall was .12 inch. The river is between 22 and 23 feet and falling steadily. Prediction: cloudy and probably showers tonight and Saturday.

Be thankful all the time. Miss Carolyn Cannon, of Portland, is visiting at D. P. Mason's.

U. G. Berry, of Peora, lost four hundred sheep by the recent floods.

Manager Struble returned this noon from Portland, where he ate turkey. Born on Thanksgiving evening, to Mr. and Mrs. Traver, a son. All doing well.

If a thing stands for anything morally the Oregonian sets its mud gun to firing.

Miss Smith, of North Bend, Wash., is visiting her sister, Miss Smith, of the college.

Ashland says it doesn't want a double service and is fighting another telephone franchise.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Washburn, of Portland, ate turkey with father and mother Washburn.

The fact that near-beer joints cause intoxication right along is sufficient reason to make them go.

Mr. and Mrs. Witham, of Corvallis, have been in the city on a visit at the home of E. A. Thompson.

A team of Corvallis boys came over this noon to play a mixed Albany team of boys, known as the Curtis club.

Will Alma Bell go into vaudeville or on the lecture platform, or do the proper thing, remain in obscurity.

The Presbyterians of Corvallis have bought a $4,500 Kimball pipe organ, for $4,000, says the Gazette-Times.

Guy Thompson left last night for San Francisco, after a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bell, of Eugene, spent Thanksgiving at the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. L. L. Swan, in this city.

Notre Dame, which defeated the great Michigan team, was unable to beat Marquette of Milwaukee yesterday, the score being a tie.

A live crowd of boys arrived this noon in their special car from Portland, Salem, Hillsboro and other cities, with their own yells. There will be 15 to 100 boys here in all.

E. L. Thompson, a former Albany man, has been elected president of the Portland Live Stock Association. Mr. Thompson has become one of Portland's most successful business men.

Robert S. Lovett, the new head of the Harriman lines, has been in Portland. He left for Seattle, will return to Portland and will then go south, passing through Albany early next week, and we can sit on the cement walk, there being no seats, and see him go by.

Dr. W. E. Stewart arrived home Wednesday evening after a trip to Chicago. He has secured an outfit for an office and contemplates settling in Tacoma, Washington. Since graduation he has been with the Chicago and Milwaukee, looking after the medical wants of construction gangs, getting a varied and valuable experience.

Chas. V. Galloway had a mighty narrow escape from death. By mistake he was locked by his assistant George Brown in the land office vault in the evening, Brown leaving the office. But he had forgot to turn off the light and went back, when Galloway succeeded in making him hear by pounding with a seal, and he was released. He would have been suffocated in four or five hours.

Foot Ball

There was a Thanksgiving game of foot ball in Albany without any previous announcement. The freshmen and sophomores of the high school went up against the rest of the high school, and the result was a tie, with a goal for each side.

It was played on Rumbler park. $10 was wanted for a game on the college grounds. The game between the bankers and post-office men was not played. It was evidently a piece of high finance anyway.

O. A. C. won a great victory by defeating Multnomah 11 to 8 in a sensational game.

U. O. lost to Washington at Seattle 20 to 6. U. O. secured one goal by a brilliant run of Latourette.

Mrs. W. W. Parrish.

The many friends of Mrs. Mary E. Parrish, wife of the late W. W. Parrish, will learn with regret that her death is hourly expected. Mrs. Parrish is one of the oldest and most highly respected of the early pioneers. Her father, David Froman, Sr., still lives in this city on Seventh and Maple streets. About a year and a half ago she went to the home of a daughter, Mrs. Etta Parrish Dixon, who resides in San Diego, Calif., in the hope of improving her health, which had gradually failed since her husband's death about four years ago. The improvement was of short duration however, and she has been confined to her bed for many months.

Another daughter, Mrs. Edna Parrish Lewis, is also at her bedside. Her other child, Mrs. May Fisher, of Portland, Or.; Mrs. Alda Parrish Burke, Alameda, Calif.; and W. E. Parrish, Dayville, Or.

Came Through Water.

Coming from Portland this forenoon the train went through a good deal of water the other side of Oregon City and one could almost reach the water out of the windows. This side of Oregon City to the train went through water but not as much. The crest of the flood is now there, and one can hardly see the Willamette falls at Oregon City.

Young People's Meeting.

At the young people's meeting last night the theme was methods of study, an important one in the development of character. Tomorrow afternoon the subject will be equipment for service, and it is desired that there will be a large attendance, the meeting of the boys club being private it will not conflict.

THE BOYS IN

TEAM CONFERENCE.

Eight bright, clean looking boys, from different parts of Oregon showed up at the Christian church last night at the first session of the conference of the boys clubs of Oregon. The session was a good one.

Manager Wallace R. Struble, of the Commercial Club gave the address of welcome, showing that he understands boys pretty well. Rex Hammerly of McMinnville, was on hand with the response.

Will White, of this city, presided and announced the committee on nomination. Messrs. Lewis of Portland, Gile of Salem, Gilbert of Corvallis, Terrell of Eugene and White of Albany.

A couple Salem and Corvallis boys told what the ywere there for, the securing of better ideas in the running of boys clubs and the nomination committee reports; the following officers selected for the coming year, taking their positions at once:

President—Rex Hammerly, McMinnville.

1st vice president—Geo. Walling, Portland.

2nd vice president—Claire Wilkes, Hillsboro.

Secretary—Clarence Farnham, Dallas Ass't Sec.—Bob Dryden, Corvallis. J. Irving Gilbert gave some good ideas on building the body indoors. The young man signed having broken a rib in a foot ball game at Salem, R. R. Perkins spoke on building the body outdoors.

Albert Gillette was heard in a neat solo and Harry Mills and Lawrence Carlson, two musical geniuses of Salem, who are furnishing the accompaniment on the piano and violin, gave a duet that received a warm encore.

P. W. Lee, assistant physical director of the Porriand Y. M. C. A. gave an excellent address on the care of the body.

In the day sessions the program as published is being well carried out, prolific of much interest. The Bible was read this forenoon, among the papers being a good one by Edward Viereck of this city.

This afternoon the different ways to have a good time and yet be good boys was a prominent theme.

Messrs. Perkins, Clark and Lee of the Portland Y. M. C. A. are doing splendid work in the convention, and A. C. Schmitt, of this city, is active in seeing that the boys are cared for and that the convention goes off smoothly.

Tonight at 6 o'clock at the U. P. basement a banquet will be served followed by toasts in charge of A. C. Schmitt, with some campfire scenes and talks by Clark and Wyman.
