

PARISH AGT. PARRISH.

A Divorce After Many Years.

Oregonian:
After having been shunted about between the Circuit and Supreme Courts nearly four years, the Parrish divorce case has been disposed of, Circuit Judge Gatens granting a decree yesterday afternoon to Luelia C. Parrish separating her from Edward E. Parrish. The husband put in no appearance, technically, although he was in the courtroom nearly all yesterday forenoon, about five hours being spent in reaching a settlement of property rights. It was stipulated just before 3 o'clock in the afternoon, that Mrs. Parrish should receive $2750 within ten days, in full of all alimony claims. It is also stipulated that a suit for maintenance brought by Mrs. Parrish shall be dismissed, and that two suits brought by her against J. J. Whitney and Percy R. Kelley for $10,000 damages from each be dismissed as soon as her attorneys are paid.

Then follows an account of some of the sensational developments of the case familiar to Albany people, not necessary to repeat Mr. and Mrs. Parrish were married in 1878, have two children and the suit for divorce was first begun in 1906, with many and sensational features since then. Now the docket has been cleaned, and congratulations are in order.

MONDAY

FUNERAL OF PROF. SANDERS

The funeral of Superintendent A. M. Sanders, at the Baptist church yesterday forenoon was attended by a large number, the church being well filled, a splendid testimonial of appreciation. Many young people going in a body. Rev. Douglas preached a sermon deep in feeling, like that of speaking for a brother, paying a splendid tribute to the deceased, whose life had always stood consistently for Christ in service and conduct. The pall bearers were the board of directors, with the clerk N. C. Macdonald and J. C. Wray. The remains were taken to the noon train and thence to Roseburg, accompanied by Rev. Douglas and the sorrowing relatives.

Albany and the state have lost a high-class citizen, one who played his part well.

The Review says: "A man of absolutely unblemished character and of quiet demeanor, it may truthfully be said that no person ever resided here who was held in higher esteem by the citizens generally."

Girls' Debating League.

The Girls' Collegiate Debating League Saturday evening elected Miss Elizabeth Mardis, of McMinnville, president; Miss Lucille Hart, of this city, vice president; and Miss Minnie Price, of the O. A. C., secretary.

It was arranged that McMinnville and O. A. C. shall meet in a preliminary debate of the question of incorporating all transportation companies doing interstate business under federal government except those known as interurban lines. Albany will then debate with the winning team.

Willamette withdrew from the League, a matter to be regretted.

The First Vetch.

An item has appeared in several papers, including the Democrat, to the effect that the first vetch was brought to Oregon by Wallis Nash, formerly of the Oregon Pacific, who owns property over in Lincoln county and is making his headquarters now at Nashville, named after him.

A subscriber telephones the Democrat this morning in a manner to make the vetch tangle, that Nash was not the first man to bring vetch here, but that Mr. Waldon of Granger, Benton county, was first, being several years ahead of Nash. He brought it in a letter, sewed it in a garden, and it came forth, and is now all over the valley, a popular hay for cattle.

Basket Ball.

Eugene and Albany high school basketball teams will play at this city Friday night. The Guard says it is a good deal for them to expect to win, but they propose to make the score a small one, which suggests that the Albany boys had better not be too confident. BROWNSVILLE BOOSTING.

One thing taken up in dead earnest was that of the train service, a demand going forth unanimously for the annulling of the present schedule and the restoration of the old one.

One enthusiastic booster suggested the building of a line from Brownsville to Albany to connect with river transportation.

During 1909 freight shipments into Brownsville more than doubled, a remarkable record, and outgoing freight shipments increased 66 per cent. The passenger earnings had increased ten per cent and the postal receipts 15 per cent. The hotel register showed a doubling up, land sales had increased 100 per cent and the values greatly.

The same fellow that was knocking in the Corvallis Gazette is now trying to knock in the Eugene Register, but that paper refuses to publish his stuff without his signature, and of course he won't give that, and if he did it probably has no standing.

—By Jones—
The hog, the hog, the merry little hog, He roots and grunts and grunts and roots on sidehill and in bog. At last he takes a journey the city folks to see and send back ready money that the farmer folks can see. He must have struck it rich down there, we'll send his brother, too. Perhaps he'll turn up checks enough to help the mortgage through. His sisters and his cousins, his uncles and his aunts, we know that for the city each heart in longing pants. Send 'em down and maybe they'll send a chug chug back to scot us all, around old Linn, instead of the old hack.

A Wise Judge.

It transpires that in the debate at Salem the judge who voted for a decision in favor of Albany was Pat Arthur, the able private secretary of Gov. Benson, who saw a clear case for the Albany team. The other judges were former Salem high school teachers, a d should not have been asked to serve in this capacity.

GOV. BENSON AND OTHERS.

Pay a High Tribute to the Late Supt. Sanders.

This afternoon beginning at 2:30 o'clock the students' instructors, directors and people of Albany generally, at the United Presbyterian church, paid a stirring tribute to the worth of Superintendent A. M. Sanders as an educator and citizen. Quickly gotten up it was a splendid testimonial for a good man, who did things quietly and unostentatiously.

Prof. Bradley, of the high school presided. Miss Emma Sox was heard in the prelude.

President Crooks of the college offered prayer.

Superintendent J. H. Ackerman, a friend for many years, gave a sketch of his life, showing his splendid record as an educator and citizen.

The high school quartet were heard in an appropriate song.
Prof. L. K. Alderman of the U. O. gave a warm eulogy to his memory.

Gov. Benson, a former fellow citizen at Roseburg for five years, delivered a short address, paying a high compliment to the deceased.

Was at Brownsville

Corvallis Gazette-Times:
P. L. Cate has just returned from a trip to Brownsville. He says the people of that city are enthusiastically optimistic over the outlook for their city. Many new people are coming in, and there is much inquiry. A Brownsville real estate man in the east, giving lectures on Oregon says he finds a large audience every place he goes and believes there will be a tremendous immigration to this state this year. The recent extreme weather has made many people disgusted with the east and middle west.

At the Presbyterian church frequent by a layman is heard in the pulpit in the evening service, a good thing in the line of service. The Democrat predicts the time when the minister will be more like a coach, leading his people into service, and instead of doing about everything himself the members will be more active in all the departments, including the pulpit.

Senator Miller spoke on the subject of the conservation of our resources, which in his introduction the pastor said was in the line of patriotism, which is good religion. Conservation is the wise use of our natural resources, in which our government is now taking active steps since President Roosevelt first called out the subject in 1903.

Pinchot has high ideals, while the methods of Ballinger, liberal in the use of timber and land, would gradually lead to a monopoly by a few.

A happy medium is for the state to control in the state, the government, interstate.

The government does well to prevent waste and we need to take account of our resources, and God certainly wants their protection and their proper use.

Great is the opportunity in Oregon, where we have one-sixth of the standing timber of the country, soil, climate, mineral wealth, salmon and other wonderful resources.

Dr. Lowe the well known optician will be in Jefferson Friday afternoon, Jan. 31, Halsey Tuesday till noon Feb. 1, in the afternoon at Harrisburg. Don't fail to have him test your eyes for glasses.

WEDNESDAY.

IN THE MAIL.

A marked copy of the Christian Science Monitor, showing an exact reproduction of a letter from Mary Baker Eddy, with Christmas Greetings, which establishes the fact that Mrs. Eddy is really alive and has a fairly firm hand.

A marked copy of the Roseburg Review, showing a poster article headed "Know Your Own County First," which seems to be the slogan of the new booster, and a good one. There is also a note from the new $4,000 manager, signed Darby Richardson, indicating that the gentleman doesn't propose to get mixed up with the Portland Tom Richardson. He is undoubtedly a man of snap and executive ability with a fertile brain.

A proposition from a circulation increaser who wants to put on a voting contest with an Alaska trip or something of that character. The only circulation that counts is that built up by merit. When you get a subscriber who takes a paper because he likes it and wants the news and thought it is in the habit of giving, you have something worth having. No voting contest for the Democrat.

A letter from another F. P. Nutting, up in Seattle, who had received a letter, misdirected, for a Mrs. F. P., and thinking it belonged to the Albany Nutting had sent it down here; but strange to say it did not. It was for his mother back in Denver. The letter addressed simply with the name and street number had reached Seattle in red ink. An odd incident.
