A CHANGE

On the C. & E. Appreciated.

The recent change of time on the C. & E. between Albany and Hoover, asked by the Commercial Club has been graciously granted, and is appreciated, an important one for Albany and the people east of here. It is as follows:

Train No. 3 will leave Albany for Hoover at 8 a. m., arrive at Hoover at 11:30, leave Hoover for Albany at 12:30 p. m., arriving at Albany at 4 p. m.

OBSERVED

By the Man About Town.

The sweeper out cleaning the streets, about the cleanest yet. The city now puts in its own roads, saving over half the price. It is somewhat of a job, but it is a good investment. Tramps do very well, but it takes the broom itself to get the dirt off in good shape.

Grocers getting next to themselves in reference to competition with the mail order houses. Thousands of dollars worth of goods are shipped in here that should be sold by local people. The specialty of these mail order houses and agents is to give prices, and people often think they are getting bargains when as a matter of fact the local houses are selling cheaper, besides there ought to be a serious consideration for the fact that the local man is the one who pays the taxes, keeps up the streets, pays the light bills, etc.

Somewhat of an aviation to Lyon street prices, with indications that some day it may be a business street, which has suggested to some one the idea that the fire limit ordinance might possibly be a good thing on at least the north end of the street as far as fourth.

Two Travellers.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Wood, who made the trip from Los Angeles to Portland, 1548 miles between April 4 and June 10, on foot, are now on their way back through the valley by railroad. They pay their way selling pictures and music. Their trip north cost them $225, and they reached Seattle with 20 cents in their pockets. Mrs. Wood has a distinction of once having been director of the Mendocino Ladies Quartette of New York. It takes all kinds of people to keep things going.

The Democrat appreciates a call from Mr. and Mrs. Woods, pleasant people. They are returning by rail as much as possible going to places not formerly visited, taking their time. On their Seattle trip Mr. Wood wore out three pair of shoes and Mrs. Wood two pairs, and three sets of wheels for their little wagon they hauled. On the wagon were the words "Seattle or Bust."

Tonight they will go to Brownsville, and then to Springfield, Eugene and on south.

FRED SMITH

Says Character Is the Most Important Thing.

Fred B. Smith, a prince among men, spoke for half an hour this forenoon in the college chapel, in a manner to strike deep into the hearts of those fortunate in hearing him. Some of his paragraphs:

Learning what is important is the great thing in a student's life. The one who does not will fail.

A boy boasted that he weighed with three pounds of his rather. "Yes," said a friend, "but those three pounds are all brains."

Better be honest than popular.
If you fool away your time you will be a failure.

As a rule the crack scholars are good for nothing.

If you permit your morals to break down failure is sure.

The blackguard has been notified to quit in everything.

The greatest foot ball team in the world, the past season, Yale's, had nine Christians out of eleven, seven Bible teachers. The coach declares that character is as important as weight and speed. The man who smokes cigarettes any time isn't wanted.

The business man doesn't want men who frequent pool joints.
Get all you can in history and mathematics, but the greatest is the foundation of a superb character.

The irreligious man is shallow.

In the Mail.

Five or six letters from the Monotype Company, telling of the wonderful success of the monotype, a machine that makes not only the body type, like the Mergenthaler, but also all the display type, big and little. It must amount to something, for the type trust is already attacking it.

A letter from the Commoner, Mr. Bryan's paper, urging only democratic democrats for congress, and predicting democratic success if things are run properly, with only men in sympathy with the masses as candidates. Besides the Commoner Mr. Bryan now also publishes the American Homestead, a farmers paper.

A communication on the subject of civilization, which attacks the Christian religion, and exalts infidelity. Whatever some Christians may be, Christianity itself stands for the highest in civilization, the promotion of the arts and sciences, as evidenced by the Christian schools all over the world, and a love for one's fellow man. The golden rule is the very foundation stone of true christianity, regardless of the shortcomings of some christians who never observe it.

An advance sheet from Scribner's, principally to exploit Mr. Roosevelt's articles on his African hunt. Teddy is a good writer all the same, telling of an event with the vividness of a Walter Scott.

Some Who Passed.

The eighth grade examinations are being pushed by Superintendent Jackson and his assistants, who have a large number of papers to go through. Those from Albany passing are: Vera Barnett, John Huston, Cecil Conn, Cline Porter, Clirke Canfield, Hugh Hammerly, Rollin LeLough, Douglas Ritchie, Edos Cowles, Melvin Williamson, Cecil Joogs, Kenneth Robson, Orville Gaines, Neva Hoflich, Sarah Watson, John Stevens, Gladys White, Carrie Sanders, Willie Crocker, Clarence Putnam, Forest Wicks. The highest standing is that of Neva Hoflich, 93 1/2; but this will not be the highest in the county, for already one bright Berlin girl, Miss Bannie Woolsey, has exceeded it with an average of 95 7/9, in a set of papers remarkable for their neatness and style.

Chapman vs. Chapman

A recent divorce in Portland was that of Chas. C. Chapman, the well known advertising agent who has been in Albany several times, helping to boost Now Mr. Chapman has boosted himself out of the Chapman home; but it has all been done in a nice manner, and Mr. Chapman's letter to his wife in reference to their separation would do justice to Chesterfield himself. Mrs. Chapman will receive an alimony of $60 a month.

Oregon All Right.

Manager Struble returned last evening from Portland. While there he met Theodore B. Wilcox, just back from the east, who reported a general sentiment that Oregon will have the great, best prosperity the coming year in its history, and that Portland is to be the greatest city of the coast.
