MONDAY.

KILLED BY THE CARS.

Burly C. Holcomb Cut to Pieces.

Burly C. Holcomb, of East Albany, where he has run a hog ranch for several years, was run over and killed by a train of cars during last night. His body was found by the track badly cut up early this morning.

It is not known what train struck him, but probably a late passenger. He was seen around town in the evening under the influence of liquor, which was undoubtedly to blame for the accident. It is said he had been drinking heavily for two weeks.

He went home along the railroad track, and was hit by the cars near the Mitchell place. There was no snow under his hat indicating that it was before it began snowing.

A coroner's inquest was considered unnecessary. Holcomb had been a resident of Albany for several years, he was single, and it is said had no relatives here. A brother resides in Pennsylvania.

Causes a Replevin Suit.

A barrel of liquor, evidently whiskey, from the smell, is creating some contention, in Albany. Consigned to W. E. Francis, from a Portland house, but intended for some one else, instead of being delivered where it was intended, the wrong drayman got hold of it, and actually delivered it to Mr. Francis. It came by boat, and the O. C. I. Co. finding that Mr. Francis had it, demanded the liquor, which was refused, whereon a replevin suit was at once brought by the Company, the agent of which evidently knows who should really receive it, and the whiskey or whatever it is, was taken charge of by Constable John Catlin, who will hold it for three days, until next Wednesday, when if no one claims it, it will be turned over to the Company, who will see that the right drayman delivers it to the right place.

Whose is it, and why was Mr. Francis name used as consignee.

Fifty-five Albany boosters helped to put Harrisburg on the map last Saturday afternoon. The annual meeting of the commercial club of the city was made almost a holiday. Business houses closed and the hall where the meeting was held was packed.

Farmer Burton, of Harrisburg, presided in an able manner, and the Albany men did most of the talking. Postmaster Van Winkle, Manager Wallace B. Struble, Judge Stewart, Revs. Geselbracht and Esson, and E. L. Jones. The following booster song, written by Manager Struble of Albany, made a hit:

Harrisburg's a growing place, And it's surely in the race— It can be a lively city of old Linn; Get before the people's eyes, Spread your story, advertise, And it won't be long till you begin to win.

Chorus Boost, Boost, Boost, for population, Tune up boosters and they'll come, And before you hardly know You'll begin to grow and grow, And two thousand will call Harrisburg their home

Old Linn County is the best Of all counties in the West; It's as big as two Rhode Islands, and then some; Let us boost things all together Whether calm or stormy weather. And as sure as sure can be, we'll make it hum.

Then the Albany crowd were taken to the hotel and given a lunch, and came home enthused.

Kicked to the R R Com.

L. H. Campbell, of Brownsville, has complained to the railroad commissioners about the delay in handling baggage at the Albany depot, declaring that baggage waits while the employees take care of empty chicken coops, etc. That is the W. F. stunt and the baggage men have nothing to do with it. Baggage is handled here as fast as it can be with the immense rush of business at the railroad center.

About 15 years Mr. O'Brien has been proprietor and manager of the St. Charles hotel in Albany, selling same a few months ago. After looking over the situation he decided to locate in Roseburg. He has been here for several days, investigating details and local conditions and just before boarding the train for Albany this afternoon told a Review representative that he had purchased the Hotel McClallen in this city. "A Plan for Better Laws and Better Law Enforcement" at the Christiana church Wednesday, Feb. 2, 7:30 p. m. Good speakers, good music, good time in preparing for Oregon Dry 1910, and for other needed reforms.

It is all right for an evangelist to quarrel with the devil and his emissaries; but when an evangelist at once begins quarrelling with the other churches, over hair splitting doctrines, he does more harm than good in the long run, and the so-called converts secured as a rule don't count for much, and often don't have enough real conversion to put in a tumbler. Eugene has been having a dose of it.

AN EXPERT

Does Wonderful Things with Pool Balls.

Chas. E. Blodgett, the champion Chinese billiard expert of the world, last evening at Eagle's gave an exhibition in the manipulation of pool balls that was wonderful, showing what long and continued practice will do. With two cues he rolls the ball down against the object ball, making his pool every time and some in a marvelous manner, putting an English on that can hardly be given a ball with the cue itself. Then he juggles the balls on the cues, presenting many tricks beyond comprehension. The balls are made to roll up hill, two in opposite direction, completely at his command, etc.

Besides many interesting tricks Mr. Blodgett gives a history of the game, three thousand years old, first played on the ground, then on tables. Englishing a ball is from the name of the man who discovered the trick.

Billiards and pool are not only clean games in themselves, but they are healthy ones, giving one the kind of exercise that most develops, offering a splendid recreation and change from the business of life, said Mr. Blodgett.

Mr. Blodgett is a man sixty-four years of age, a veteran of the civil war, being in it when a boy, well preserved, with prospects of a long life. He has been at Chinese pool player for twenty-eight years, and is certainly a genius with the ivory.

Mayor Watters, of Corvallis, returned from a trip to Medford, called there by the death of a child, a relative. Medford expects to pave about ten miles this year, at least has petitions for that amount.

News from Albany's Six Early Trains.

Marion Anderson Has It.

That fine automobile seen in the window of the Woodworth Drug Co. for several months, having won out in the voting contest. She is a daughter of Edward P. Anderson, of the first ward, a fine girl, who will make good use of it. The Democrat man is looking for a ride at an early date.

Among those next highest were Willie Exiles, Nola H. Wheeler, Ferns James and Virgil Buckner.

A good deal of interest was taken in the contest. Ralph McKechnie, of the First National Bank, counted the votes.

A Humane Officer Needed.

Complaint is made to the Democrat office that Ah Swill, just east of the city keeps his crew-bait team out in the open, without any protection, that even in the cold weather, they are not housed at all, and during the snow yesterday one was lying in it hardly able to get up. There is no regular humane officer in the county, but the matter is one that should be taken notice of by some one, for which there is some provision under the laws of the state.

Old Post Office Bill.

Uncle Sam is settling up his old accounts, and is now paying bills that were neglected years ago. A list is given due former Oregon postmasters.

Among them are two items of $36 and $360 due Postmaster E. A. Freedland, of this city, in 1864-66 and 1870-72. Three items are due Hiram Smith, of Harrisburg, three H. A. Johnson, postmaster at Jefferson in the 60's, three S. H. Claughton of Lebanon, one S. A. Smith, at Peoria, of $43, two E. E. Wheeler, and one of $100 D. P. RUN OVER, A Bridge Carpenter Loses Both Legs.

A serious and very peculiar accident happened on the Springfield road this noon. Mr. Sam Cochran and a young man, bridge carpenters, who had been working at Priceboro, were coming this way, five miles this side of Coburg, on a velocipede, in a dense fog, both sitting on a board placed across the car. They did not observe the approach of the train from behind until it was almost on them, when the young man managed to fall off away from the track. This let Mr. Cochran fall directly upon the track in the middle, tangled up in the velocipede which was hit and smashed under the train. Both of Mr. Cochran's legs were run over, one at the ankle, the other higher up. The engineer saw the men and stopped the train at once. Mr. Cochran was brought to the hospital at this city, attended by a Brownsville surgeon and Dr. Kavanaugh of this city, where the legs were amputated, being mashed to a pulp.

One was taken off near the knee, the other at the foot.

Mr. Cochran is a man about sixty years of age, and has no relatives here, his folks residing in Ohio.

In the Mail.

A statement from San Diego, Calif., showing why it is the proper place for the celebration of the opening of the Panama canal, instead of San Francisco. It is the nearest, California began at San Diego, that part of the state needs exploiting, and it was first to suggest such a celebration. Nevertheless there will be two celebrations, and the best will win.

A pamphlet giving the answer of the magazines, to the statement of the government that second-class postage during the past year showed a deficit of $4,000,000. Instead it was only about $4,000,000. The R. F. D. deficit, wrong charges for transportation, over charge on city delivery, etc. make up the balance, showing that there has been some mean juggling with figures. The second-class rate should remain as list, a splendid thing for the people.
