Mr. E. A. Kelley, Beividere, Ill. writes us: "I am an ex-engiacer with 22 years active service to my credit. About three years ago my kidneys were affected so that I had to give up my engine. First I was torubled with severe aching pain over the hips. Then followed inflammation of the bladder, and specks appeared before my eyes. A sample of Foley's Kidney Pills that I tried, so benefited me that I bought more. I continued to take them until now I can safely testify they have made me a sound and well man." Woodworth Drug Co.

THURSDAY

THE SHREW TAMED

A large audience last night greeted Chas. B. Hanford and his excellent company. As an introduction the Old Guard was given, showing the versatility of Mr. Hanford as an actor.

Then came the Taming of the Shrew, which was found to contain much more than many have considered, a Shakesspearean creation of a decidedly entertertaining order. Mr. Hanford was a great Petruchio, and Mrs. Hanford, whose stage name is Miss Drofnah, being Hanford backwards, displays a fine talent. A rich character in the play is that af Grumio, the servant of Petruchio, sustained by a genius, Mr. Harrison Crofford. The coming of Mr. and Mrs. Hanford was a theatrical treat Albanv people have appreciated, and they showed it last night in an emphatic manner calling the distinguished actors forward several times.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Hanford is in Washington, D. C., where Mr. Hanford was born and educated. In boyhood days he used to spend his summers at the home of an uncle in the little New York village where the Democrat man lived, once going to the same school tor a year, and hence his visit here was enjoyed socially as well as dramatically by his friend of boyhood days, with that of his wife and here sister, Mrs. Bennett, who accompanies her.

The prospects are very flattering. The ore is genuine free gold bearing stuff, and very rich, which means a good deal for the proposition. A mine close to it, has yielded a fortune for its owners within a few years.

SUI CIE OF J. J. DUBRUILLE

Oregonian:

In a fit of despondency, J. J. Dubruille, 65 years old, made a second and, this time, successful attempt upon his life by inbaling illuminating gas in his home, 777 East Yamhill street, Tuesday afternoon.

Dubruille chose a time when he was alone in the house. Attaching one end of a piece of garden hose to a gas fixture, he climbed into bed, after turning on the gas. Placing the covers of the bed closely about his head to retain the gas, he placed the other end of the hose in his mouth and waited for death.

At 5 o'clock last evening a member of the family returned home. The strong odor of gas attracted him to a bed room on the second floor. He found the man unconscious. Dr. W. F. Amos was summoned, but Dubruille died an hour later.

Dubruille has been a sufferer from melancholia. Since he made a vain attempt to end his life last spring a careful watch had been kept upon him. He was left alone yesterday for the first time in several months.

Mr. Dubruille was a resident of Al-bany for many years, a harness maker, doing business on First street for a long time. News from Albany's Six Early

He declares that big money, big nerve and big crime can do most anything. The atmosphere at Washington just now resembles Hell. The real cause of high prices is because a few men, through the agency of stocks, take all the surplus earnings of prosperity. Since Taft went in Lawson says, seven billion dollars has been added to stock values, and the system holds the American people in contempt.
