ARIZONA AND NEW MEXICO.

The admission of Arizona and New Mexico as states has again been shelved and will go over to the next session. Different excuses have been given, but they are simply excuses. These states have long had the requisite population and are entitled to a place among the states of the nation on equal terms. They are no longer frontier communities, but progressive places that are just as much entitled to their part in government as New York and Pennsylvania are. Politics of the low down kind that have been dominating the country for years, have been operating in this case to the discredit of the United States. It is time quibbling stopped and Arizona and New Mexico were given their rights.

HOW MUCH SLEEP.

Thos. A. Edison would have a person sleep only six hours a day and work eighteen, which would not even give one time to eat. Edison is a fiend for work. It is a splendid thing to be industrious; but it is suicidal with the average person to work all the time, without recreation. People do well to get a little of the sauce of life, as they go along, and in fact demand it for recuperation. The average person would wear out in a little while under the Edison plan. It is possible a person could work up to living on six hours sleep a day; but most people need more, and it is nature's demand, regardless of Mr. Edison's version that man got in the habit because in early times he had to go to bed at dark, having no lights.

THE DIFFERENCE.

Because the chairman of the state central committee invited prominent democrats to a banquet in Portland, where matters would have been talked over, the republican papers are trying to make capital out of it in the interest of the assembly, which is decidedly childish. Assemblies called together to take the nominating power out of the hands of the people is what the masses are opposed to. If members of a party wish to get together and talk politics there certainly can be no objection; but there is objection to their making nominations, provided for in different ways. And that is the whole republican assembly plan, which the people will gloriously squelch.

THE VALUE OF SENSATION.

One often wonders how much sensational things amount to in building up a city, that is, affairs that take nerve and money to secure, but which in themselves have no intrinsic value, for instance, Schumann-Heink, the Damosch orchestra and the Hall flying machine in Eugene, all attractions worth seeing, but which cost a good deal of money. Such things in a measure give a place to a certain character for enterprise; but is it the kind that builds up permanently? This is asked in an earnest way, not critically. It brings out one of the problems of the day a city must face as it grows, and an interesting one for consideration.

TIRED OF THE BOSS SYSTEM.

In Iowa six congressmen have been nominated by the insurgents, a great showing notwithstanding a loss for the nomination for governor. It indicates that the future will see some still greater changes, for the move is a new one and hardly out of the shell. The people as a whole are tired of boss dictation. For years congress has simply been bossed, and there is a demand everywhere for a change, one that shall give the people themselves a chance to have a say in the affairs of government. It is coming.

REGISTER EARLY.

Don't wait until the last minute. It is always well to do a thing on time, and just as easy when one gets in the habit. Particularly attend to this matter of registration, which puts one in line for a vote at Oregon's first November election. A good big showing will help the county. It speaks for the enlightenment of a people when they get out and vote, and this registration is a part of it.

SCIO'S R. R. ABANDONED

The News:
Much to the regret of Scions, generally, the project to build a railroad connecting Scio with West Scio, has been abandoned. Those who had paid their subscriptions in whole or in part, had them returned. It will be remembered that the first plan was to build from Scio to Mukers and subscriptions were solicited with this understanding. It was found impossible to raise a sufficient amount of money for this purpose, so the plans were changed to build to West Scio only. Money was in sight to accomplish this end, if the subscribers would all pay. But a number refused, because the plans were changed. Scio will, probably, have a railroad, some day. Those who refused to pay their subscriptions, are responsible for the failure at the present time.

SATURDAY NIGHT THOUGHTS.

A striking event this week was the snubbing of a member of Congress by the President because he had taken a prominent position against him in a public matter, as he had a right to do, no more emphatic than that of a good many others. The act was beneath the dignity of the President of the U. S., who in his official capacity should never stoop to personalities; but it is being developed continually that the President lacks those qualities a president should possess.

This week Roosevelt finished his stay in Europe, starting for home. Probably no American ever attracted more attention in Europe than this man with his marvelous individuality. His career has certainly been one to make the world stand up and take notice of what he was doing.

There has been just as much Johnson-Jeffries slush as ever, the big papers giving their training affairs as much attention as the doings of the President of the country, every act being closely reported. Think of a contest in which the victor has to knock the other such a blow that he cannot rise in a certain length of time, the essence of brutality, deserving being ignored by the press.

In Oregon Portland's rose fair has been the center of attraction, a fine display of the finest flower that grows and with it a show for the people. We need such gatherings in our lives, an occasional event offering a pleasing diversion.

The week ended with a fine rain, much needed in the country. It doesn't take a very long dry spell for the resident of the Willamette Valley to ask for rain.

Albany's Twilight league baseball tournament was due to end this week, but did not. These games have offered some fine sport both for the players and Albany people interested in clean sport, and have been carried on in a splendid spirit of fairness and good will, a friendly contest. Next year there will be a better and more closely organized league.

(FRIDAY.)

ONE OF THE SPEAKERS.

Charles Howard Plattenburg will deliver the lecture that made him famous, "Worms Beneath the Bark," at the Albany Chautauqua Assembly.

While crossing the Atlantic several years ago, Mr. Plattenburg participated in a mock trial. A young Georgia college student was arraigned for cheating at cards. The ship's captain acted as judge and 12 lady passengers served as jurors. The young man was prosecuted by an Emory College professor and Senator Mason's secretary. He was defended by a young attorney from Kingston, Jamaica, and Mr. Plattenburg. It was previously agreed between the judge and jury that the young man should be found guilty and the Captain as a joke was to order him placed in irons. In his closing speech defending the boy, Mr. Plattenburg drew a picture of the boy leaving home for the first time; his falling into the hands of the card-sharks; his temptation and fall. He described the old Georgia home and the mother awaiting the return of her boy and pleaded with the jury not to blacken the boy's good name and break the mother's heart. After an hour's discussion, the jury disagreed; three ladies of the jury declaring that after that plea, they would not for the world vote to convict the boy, even in joke.

Base Ball Tonight.

Get your dinner early tonight and go out and see the game between the Merchants and Pie Eaters for the championship of the Twilight League. It will begin at six o'clock, some of the players not being able to get out earlier, and promises to be a warm number. The nines will be confined strictly to the Clubs. The Merchants will be there with Arnold catching, Stevens pitching, Stevens, Gene Dooley and Coates on the bases, Rowell ss, Senault, Wilbur and Kennedy in the field. The Phi Alpha Pi lineup is not certain, but will probably be: Engstrom c, Geo. Dooley p, Ralston, Bain and Eugene on the bases, Archibald ss, Stalnaker, Shinn and Crowell fielders.

BRUSH IS GREAT.

Edwin Brush, the magician, who will appear on the Albany Chautauqua program Friday evening, July 15, was recently introduced to a large merchant in a prosperous Michigan city. All went well for a while when Brush stopped over to a bystander and pulled a sack of buckwheat flour from the back of his neck. Another man was found to have a can of salmon in under his coat. Another lemon extract, and still another a few bars of soap. The merchant said he would not prosecute the men as that was the first time he had ever known the gentlemen to do a dishonest thing.

Perhaps the most surprised person to become the victim of Brush on that occasion was a very modest young lady clerk, who for the world wouldn't do anything wrong. She was about to say goodnight to her employer, having made ready for the street, when Brush turned to the proprietor with the question, "Has she bought anything to take home?" He was told she had not, but Brush tip-toed over to where the young lady was standing and pulled forth a pair of overshoes from underneath her heavy winter coat.

THE COLLEGE.

Commercial Commencement:
The commercials had their day last night at the Presbyterian church, when they formally received their diplomas at the hands of A. C. Schmitt secretary of the board, who advised them not to be satisfied with today, but to make tomorrow better.

The program was opened with a song by the sextette of girls, sweet voiced. C. C. Chapman, an advertising agent of Portland, spoke on personality in business, showing what a force it is. The world is looking for men and women for certain work and the right person is wanted, so be a job picker rather than a job hunter.

Clean methods are necessary to the highest success.
Be what you pretend to be.
The mere ornament is useless.
And always boost, don't knock.

Prof. Flo presented the class and after the receipt of the diplomas the sextette sang again and Rev. Elliot pronounced the benediction.

Tonight at the same place the regular commencement of the conservatory will take place with an interesting program.

The diploma for graduation from the complete conservatory course in piano will be given to Miss Vera Taylor and from the complete course in voice to Mr. C. Victor Yates. Diplomas will also be granted Miss Star Thomas and Miss Margaret Boyles for completion of the course in Public School Music.

They are also both juniors in the complete conservatory course. The program for tonight is as follows:
Invocation, Rev. Essen.
Piano, The Secret, Misses Anna Dawson, Isabel Young, Janet Dawson.

Vocal, On the Shore, Is Not His Word Like a Fire, Mr. C. Victor Yates.
Vocal, Miss Star Thomas.
Vocal, Summer Fancies, Misses Taylor, Thomas and Boyles.

Piano, Maxurka, Morning Mood, Miss Vera Taylor.
Vocal—Voices of the Wood; Irish Love Song—Miss Margaret Boyles.
Presentation of diplomas.

Piano—The Yellow Jonquil—Misses Sox, Markley and Smith.

To morrow the baccalaureate will be presented at the United Presbyterian church, with the address to the Christian Associations in the evening at the M. E. church.

Monday afternoon will be class day and the President will give a reception at Tremont hall 2 to 5.

Rained on Them.

The Merchants and Phi Alpha Pi's last evening at 6:10 began to play their championship game with some good teams in the field. But it rained, too much for ball playing and the game had to be postponed to some future day. Phi Alpha Pi started out with four runs, and the Cubs made one, the score being 4 to 1 at the end of two innings when the bats were sheathed. The score of course does not count, it taking five innings at least to make a game.

Class Day.

The college class day exercises this year will be a novelty. They will be held on the college campus Monday evening at 6:30. Admission free, but 10 cents will be charged for seats. The program will open with the presentation of the key of knowledge by the president, followed by a one act comedy of a neat turn. Then the prophecy will be given being acted out in a new and original manner.

Some one has to select the city hall site. Let the councilmen do it, and don't kick. Everybody can't have their way in such things.

One Roseburg real estate dealer has sued another for slandering him in an advertisement in a local paper. A newspaper has a right to exercise a censorship over advertisements.

The brewers back east say they are opposed to strong liquors; but it is simply a game. If they really were there would be a fight with the distillers; but all of them are hustling together.

Albany tagged everybody who went to Lebanon in big red letters, and the Gazette-Times of Corvallis wants the people of that city to get busy and do likewise. By all means and use the magic word Albany.

Objection is being made to a street railway coming in on the Salem road because the only road from the east side, and this was the reason the ordinance was continued. Councilman Marshall raising this point.

As usual the rose fair awards are causing great trouble. It seems impossible to secure judges for anything who will give satisfaction, or who will really decide according to merit, so many other things playing a part.

Portland Journal: Remarking that a street sprinkler is needed, and that "it is terrific without sprinkling," the Albany Democrat adds: "It is time the bull was taken by the horns." But would that sprinkle the streets? Wouldn't it only raise more dust?

The Democrat said that a new comer said there is more work in Albany for its population than any city he has been in; but poor fellow he had never been in Corvallis. The Gazette-Times swallows a crowbar and declares that the fellow is a fooler, whatever that is, that if he had been in Corvallis he would have found everybody so busy they haven't time to cut the weeds, a sure sign of people being busy.

THE BEST ROSES.

"What do you think of the awards of the rose show at Portland?" asks an Albany expert, who knows roses, who was there. "Well, some of those judges certainly forgot their spectacles when they gave a prize to Mrs. John Laing over the Marie Henrietta, and something must be the matter. Then there is the Glorie Lyonnaise placed above the Marman Cochet and Kaiserine. Why our old standard pink La France is far superior the whole year through.

"While I think of it what is the matter with some of us little fellows getting together some fine June day and deciding for ourselves what are really the finest roses anyway."

TELEGRAPH.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Commenting on the results of the primary election in Iowa yesterday, Senator Cummins, who is in the city today, stated that the result is a victory for the progressive element in the republican party which he is sure will continue in the future. He said there may be some disposition in Washington and through the country to get the factions together and it may prevail. He stated that the united party must be had in future elections, but if one element is proved right, the other should abide by the result.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The Oregon delegation has joined in a request to the state department to instruct Henry H. Miller, consul at Belfast, Ireland, to investigate deciduous fruits in European countries. Miller is a Eugene man, versed in fruit lore.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—President Taft today declined to receive Representative Francis Burton Harrison, Democrat of New York, who called at the White House in company with two other representatives to introduce a number of Jewish rabbis. The president received the delegation and chatted with its various members for fifteen minutes or more. So adroitly had the situation been handled by Secretary Norton that none of the callers knew of the incident until Harrison returned to the Capitol and there stated he had been rebuffed by the president.

Harrison made a statement in which he says in part: "It is unfortunate for the president that he cannot stand criticism, unfortunate for the country he cannot stand the truth. My newspaper statement, at which he takes offense, was merely an exposition of a scandalous fact."
