THE ERA OF CONSCIENCE.

The great event of the Chautauqu course was the address of Ex-Gover-nor Jos. W. Folk, of Missouri, whom the Democrat hopes to see the next President of the United States. It was clean, masterful, forceful, backed by an official record that has comby an official record that has commanded the attention of the world.

Mr. Folk said in part:

There has been a great awakening on the part of individual responsibility for the affairs of city, state and nation within the last few years. The public conscience has been aroused against evils and things are not tolerated use that a few years ago were erated now that a few years ago were submitted to in silence. Will the men.

For the majority of the people here and everywhere will do right when

One of the obstacles to the progres of rightcousness everywhere mistaken view that it injures or state to prosecute wrongdoing. I have heard men deplore the exposure of public corruption because it hurts a city: I have seen men oppose the enforcement of law against gambling and liquor lawlessness because it ininres the state: I have heard men ob-jures the state; I have heard men object to prosecuting trust and monopolies because it hurts business.

The highest civic virtue is in the overthrow of civic depravity. Grafters, whether in St. Louis, Philadelphia, Chicago, San Francisco or Pittsburg always endeavor to have it appear that a fight, against them is a slander gainst the city in which they operate. Criminal wealth when assailed always tries to hide behind the skirts of legitimate business, and claim that business is being attacked.

The spirit exhibited as soldiers of war we should show as soldiers of peace in the noblest work to which the patriot can be called.

patriot can be called.

The most conspicuous fault of state and city government in the United States today is that they are governments by the few and not by the people. There has been improvement in the last few years, but there remains much to be done in the direction of better things.

tion of better things.

If corruption exists anywhere the people are to blame. If corruption is to be eradicated the people alone can do it. What is needed is more of the kind of patriotism that fights for city, state and county every day; the kind of patriotism that will go into battles of peace as readily as into battles of war.

A majority of the people are honest and want good government, but do not, as a rule, work for it, while the minority was permissionally active all

A doze streakers can make more noise than five hundred law abiding citizens, but they do not count for much against the united efforts of the law abiding. Good men are divided and bad men are united. If good citizens could only be induced to join hands in patriotic endeavor before the election and stay joined after the election, the forces of error would be vanquished like evil spirits at the dawn of day.

The law for the regulation of the saloon or the prohibition of the liquor traffic should be as rigidly enforced as other laws, for the business is one of depredation. breakers the reign of law means the falle of the people. The moral revolution that is now sweeping over the land is mere-ly a revival of the rule of the people. If the American republic is to sur-vive it must be saved by the efforts of the patriotic citizens who want noth-ing for themselves but the advantages that accrue from the general public

I am not an alarmist, and I do no believe that the United States of America will cease to exist as a re-public today or tomorrow. The conditions that caused the downfall of old republics, now almost forgotten, were the same that will cause the downfall of the American republic, if it is not to endure. The dangers lie in the hearts of the people

The larmer must not only be personally opposed to weeds, but he must cut them down and make an active war-lare against them, or his crops will be ruined.

When an official takes an oath to enforce a law, he has no right to vio-late the oath, and excuse the non-en-forcement of certain laws because they are, or seem to be unpopular.

forcement of certain laws because they are, or seem to be impopular.

When a law is passed it must be assumed it is what the people want, and it should be enforced until the people demand and secure its repeal.

The future of our government rests upon the integrity of the citizen and upon its activity in public affairs. Good government must begin at home, in cities and towns and proceed from there to state and nation. This government rests not on the wealth of a few, but upon the character and integrity of the average individual.

How much people are be-ing fooled will be better known when the direct primaries come off.

ARIZONA'S CONSTITUTION.

Oregon methods are being advocat Oregon methods are being advocated in Arizona for incorporation in its first constitution. Taift has the final say-so, but Arizona people have "called bluffs" before. When Roose-welt declared that Arizona must come in the Union as a part of New Mexico or stay out for 25 years, Arizona called that bluff hard. Taft says no Oregon initiative will be permitted to get past him. Here's hoping Arizona passes the warmest initiative yet exhibited in captivity, and if she has to remain out of the union in consequence it will out of the union in consequence it will all be for the best. When she does come in she will be a real state and not a satrapey of Wall street and the Morgenheimers.

A SALEM DUEL

When E. Hofer, of the Salem Jourhal, was a candidate for collector of customs of Portland, L. H. M'Mahon of Salem sent a letter to the depart-ment at Washington everlastingly scoring the Col. The Journal itself ment at Washington everlastingly scoring the Col. The Journal itself publishes the letter and answers it. M'Mahon protested in the name of common decency. He charged that Hofer had run a paper in the interest of the republican party, the people's party, the free silver republican party and as an independent, that his general reputation was that of a grafter. eral reputation was that of a grafter, which M'Mahon could prove by the leading men of Salem. The Col. de-nies all the charges and asks Mr. Me-Mahon to look in the glass. The duel is an interesting one.

The railroads have only one thing to sell, and that is transportation, and the people of this country are willing and anxious to pay for the transportation—all it is worth. We are not mendicants, and we ask for nothing at a price less than it costs.

He who tries to incite class-hatred and make it appear that there is war on, between the railroads and the people is a wicker-sham. The railroads thrive only as the people thrive, and every railroad manager knows it.

The program was high-class, and therein the committee showed a long head, for it has given the Albany Chautauoua a reputation. The ground and tauqua a reputation. The ground and surroundings have been ideal, the management has been excellent. All the details were well looked after. It was splendidly advertised.

A splendid lecture was Grapes of Gold, Saturday night by H. V. Adams, a prince as a lecturer. It was on the subject of suggestion, a powerful illustration of what good cheer will do in

The crowning event of the Chautautau was the lecture of Ex-Gov, Jos. W. Folk Sunday afternoon, before an audience of twenty five hundred people It was a masterly effort and made many friends for the great Missourian. President Ellis presided at the immense meeting, Rev. Stephen A. Douglas, a former Fibe Coulty Missourian, offered prayer, and Hen. J. K. Weatherford, a Missourian, introduced the speaker. A pretty incident occurrations before. Little Alicen, botter known as Gir'. Stevens, a daughter of a Missourian, presented Mr. Folk with a large and beautiful bouquet of roses. He stooned and gave her a kiss and the audicate echoesed.

The Chautauqua Orchestra, an organization of Chicago girls, gave the final con-est. Their numerous pegrams were clearly appreciated. The charts chore order 4. C. Irvins was beard in several congs, when the plant

J. Clem's Version.

Hon. J. Clem, a former Linn county

Hon. J. Clem, a former Linn county state senator on the populist ticket, now a Lane county republican. writes that the recent account of the Lane county assembly given by the Sage Rooster, was not correct, though he could not be blamed, as ne is a Missourian. He says:

"The Sage Rooster should be shown by some one beside a Jonathan Bourne hireling "The assembly was well attended by some of the best men in Oregon, as near harmonious as we expected, the delegates being elected without dissension. The selection of county candidates was deferred to a later meeting, which will win at the primaries and be ratified in November. We will not need to sen! for Scott, Fulton or George, though they would be welcome, but we will not be led by Johnsthan Bourne. Believing therestill remain some honest politicians I want to be shown."
