THURSDAY

10TH AND ELLSWORTH.

In keeping with the improvements made by the Southern Pacific the city expects to make the section at Tenth and Ellsworth streets a neat place instead of a junk pile, as it comes near being now.

Albany's park is going to be a fine one, and it is only right the entire section should be fixed up in keeping with it.

The impression made by people seeing the city from the depot platform is one that affects the entire city.

THREE MEN BURNED TO DEATH.

By a Forest Fire Near Hoover.

News was received last evening upon the arrival of the train from Hoover of the burning of three men in the logging camp near the Hoover mill.

A fire caught in the dry timber in the logging camp on the south side of the North Santiam and spread out over a distance of a couple of miles causing devastation and much damage, and yesterday afternoon was reaching further with prospects of getting beyond control.

Seventy or eighty men, including men from the camps of the Curtis Lumber Co. and S. V. Hall, were fighting the fire the best they could, but a change of wind or rain was needed to stop it.

Three of the men working for the Hoover Brothers, Philip Richmond, a son of H. A. Richmond, of Salem, Jay M. Brooks of Crawfordville, a member of the Elks Lodge of this city, and Frank McGoey, who recently came out from Clearfield, Penn., made a rush into the timber that was burning, after their tools, the wind changed, swept the flames upon them and they were all burned to death.

It was impossible to get a relief party to the place until yesterday afternoon, when their bodies were found.

The men had made a desperate effort to get out ahead of the fire, but were hemmed in and caught by the fierce flames.

Brooks and Richmond had worked for the company
