AN OLD GAME.

Why does Mr. Taft advise another revision of the tariff? Simply because he sees the handwriting on the wall announced from every part of the country. There is nothing sincere about it; but it is good so far as it goes. The same advice has been given before and flagrantly disregarded. So long as such men as Aldrich are allowed to dominate the schedule in the interest of the rubber and other trusts, in which their friends are concerned, there will be no genuine revision downward in the interest of the people. It will all be in the interest of the trusts as it has been in the past, and Mr. Taft knows it; but he is afraid of the people politically and hence his present finesse movement. As in the past some people will be fooled because they want to be; but there is a spirit of independence in the country that is striking, and it is quite possible there will be a manifestation of its power. That is what is troubling the politicians with jobs. They are afraid some one else will get their job. Just before an important election the president and those under him always make a grand stand play at revising the tariff or something else in the interest of their party. What the people want is the goods. They are tired of paying double price for rubber and cotton and woolen goods in the interest of the trusts.

THE PEOPLE ARE COMPETENT.

The member of the legislature of Oregon, an average kind of a fellow, during a forty days session of the legislature passes on at least five hundred different measures, and he generally doesn't get the headache either. And yet some people are claiming the average voter, who is just about as smart as Oregon's average legislator, isn't capable of passing on thirty-two measures. But he is, just the same. While there may be some people, who will be short on some of the measures, as a rule the voter will know just about as near what he is doing as the legislator does, uninfluenced by the modern lobby. It is the modern method of the people ruling, and, although there are some measures that might well be off the list as a whole it offers a good chance for the people to speak out on important affairs.

EVERY DAY WE RECEIVE

New Fall Goods

Every Day from now on you will find this store of particular interest to you

NEW FALL DRESS GOODS

Such a large shipment came in yesterday that we have hardly had time to get them all marked and ready to show you but they will be ready when you come. We want you to come and see them.

We believe our dress goods department has never been so beautifully or completely stocked as it is at the present time.

There are cloths of all kinds, panams, serge, novelties, broadcloth, in fact every kind you might desire.

Particularly pretty and desirable are the new pastels in French Serge. This makes a cloth that is in many ways superior to broadcloth for evening wraps, gowns or costumes.

Our line of trimming is also new and up-to-date.

May we show them to you?

NEW FALL RUGS

If you have not seen the excellent showing of rugs now on display in the Drapery and Rug Department you still have a rare treat in store for you.

Such a large line of new distinctive colors and patterns has never before been assembled in this town.

There are rugs of every grade, every size and color.

Rugs for every room from bedroom to library, and best of all the prices on all are very low and the qualities the highest. We believe you have never had an opportunity to buy such high class rugs as the ones we are now showing at the prices we ask.

It's easy to show them to you. Any time you can spare ten minutes come up and we will show you 120 or 130 rugs of new and pleasing design.
