KEEPING TOGETHER

There was a good crowd last night at the monthly Get-to-Gether meeting of the Albany Commercial Club. It was a good one, full of snap and fellowship. Vice President E. D. Cusick presided until Chairman Marvin of the entertainment committee arrived.

Major C. B. Winn, just home from the east, to which he has made twelve trips declared this to be the garden spot after all, and made some suggestions.

C. W. Tebault, also just back from an eastern trip, the guest of honor at a recent barbecue, was asked to explain the shortage of beef cattle.

P. A. Young, who recently returned from New York City, where he said he had a hot time, a big contrast to our cool weather, made a good talk, and told the true story of the eastern commercial traveller who was taken out through the country to an adjoining town by an Albany livery man. At a farm house they saw a pig drive up a Chinese pheasant and the farmer who was there with his gun shoot it. The pig a little further in the field drove up another, which was also shot. The drummer's eyes bulged open, when the livery man remarked: "That's a regular Poland China setter." "I would never have believed it if I hadn't seen it myself" said the drummer. So it is about this wonderful valley.

Prof. Smith, a new Albany man from Medford, gave a splendid talk, declaring he had made the right move in coming to Albany, and that we can raise and market just as good fruit as there, if we will use their excellent methods, and in boosting the great secret is specific facts of successful farming and fruit raising.

Dr. Davis spoke to the point in reference to the development of our fruit interests through the big Linnhaven orchard.

D. C. Green, of the water and light company, R. E. Michael, Lawyer Johnson, who came here through the influence of the commercial club because it looked the best of any of the towns, were made to show themselves, and Johnson's Best told of his Medford experiences.

Secretary Van Winkle read a letter from eastern people wanting to buy a general merchandise store doing a $75,000 to $100,000 business.

Chas. J. Stackland, just after a correspondence with the club, coming from Cove, said there $4,000 had been made on an acre of Spitzenbergs. W. C. Stalker, another newcomer being from Colwell, Idaho, declared that a good fruit country, but the Willamette Valley has the climate and they haven't there for a home and the enjoyment of life.

Dr. Shinn who recently returned from the east, said he had burned all the bridges behind him this time, and presented four rules of life: Do unto the other fellow what you would have him do to you and do it quick. For strength of muscle, heart and pocket book cooperate. Have something for everybody to do and do it. Mix business and brotherhood.

M. Senders declared there were plenty of specific facts in farming right around Albany, big earnings in our diversified farming. A feed and social time followed. Next month another one.

THIS MORNING

News from Albany's Six Early Trains

Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Phelps, of Lebanon, went to Portland, where Mr. Phelps will buy the machinery for a saw mill at Gist, Crook county, where he has been for some time, the old mill having burned down. A former newspaper man.

Several left for Seio to attend the fair, among them M. McAlpin, who was there yesterday. He reported the races slow, but a better program for to-day. Cass Scott, a prominent candidate, also went out, and A. J. Banta, one of the Homestead's hustlers.

Miss Grace Brownell left for her home at Aberdeen, Wash., after several very enjoyable weeks in Albany. Her many young friends here were delighted to have her with them for awhile, and regret it is not permanent.

Commissioner Butler returned to Jefferson. He reported four car loads of steel on the ground for the bridge, with three more due, and until they arrive very little can be done.

Mrs. D. Brodi went to Clackamas to join Mr. Brodi and spend a couple of weeks.

Chas. J. Stackland, of Cove left for home, stopping off at Salem. He is looking through the valley.

W. D. Washburn went to Brownsville, Elder Williams, of Tallman, left for Washington to preach to the heathens up there.

Miss Edyth Alderson, of the Portland schools, left for home after a visit with her sister, Mrs. R. L. Burkhart.

Mrs. Henrietta Brown went to Portland for a visit with Miss Elizabeth Irvine, in the hospital, and doing well.

Claud Mackey, of La Grande, left for home after a visit with the Bussards. He is quite a booster for that country, but Bussard says he can't fish except from a basket.

Arthur Purdom went to Portland to spend labor day. His mother went down yesterday to meet her daughter, Mrs. Pearl McHale, on her way home from Montana, Ill.

A depot rumor is that there are to be some minor changes around of an interesting order.
