This will be the last sermon before conference, as I go Monday afternoon, and possibly my farewell to Albany. Gordon.

MISFITS.

Already some people want it to stop raining.

One good thing about winter weather. It knocks the flies.

The most incompetent officials in the world made splendid promises before they were elected.

Col. Roosevelt has now had another week's rest of everything but his tongue. That has kept going.

People are waiting with wide-open ears for Mr. Abraham to tell what the Hughes-Taft-Roosevelt policy is, a trinity that is not mixing very freely these days.

Even down in Portland the anti-assembly vote is going to surprise people, and they say for a fact that Pat McArthur and the other boys will be beaten so bad it will make their heads swim.

This wet weather reminds us of how Congressman Hawley helped boost the rubber trust, by voting for an increased tariff that has nearly doubled the price of rubber goods, while the rich trust regularly declares big dividends on watered stock.

What a nice little mess it is in any way. Two republican candidates at St. Johns threw short and ugly words at each other, and now Col. Hofer is going red hot for Dimick, a compliment to Dimick, and in the same breath exalting the saloon.

Strange that registrations have not been larger, is the cry everywhere, in many places being only about half, not only in this county, but all over the state. Not so very strange either. There is quite a big disgust over matters generally and a good many voters don't care much how things go; but they should.

WHAT IS MY NAME?

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR

The Athon Co. Harrisburg.

Eugene Guard:—We have seen comedies, and then more comedies, but it remained for the Athon Stock Co., a popular priced organization, to get more genuine laughs out of its audience last night, than has been heard in the Eugene theatre in many moons. The large audience was kept in one continuous laugh for nearly three hours and it was the unanimous verdict that "The Truthful Liar" is one of the best comedies ever seen in Eugene. The Athon Stock Co are equal to most of the high priced shows, and a more evenly balanced, clever organization would indeed be hard to find. Every member of the cast is an artist in his or her line, and Mr. Athon is to be congratulated on getting such a clever lot of people together in a popular priced organization.
