RICHARDS CAMPAIGN.

W. S. Richards, a working man, of this city, this morning began his campaign for governor of Oregon, the regular socialist nominee for the important position. Mr. Richards will speak today at Brownsville, Tuesday at Coburg, the 28th at Springfield, Cottage Grove the 29th, Yoncalla the 30th, Grants Pass Oct. 1st, Gold Hill Oct. 3rd, Talent the 4th, Ashland the 7th, Medford the 8th and Klamath the 10th, and will go as far as Klamath Falls.

He will make an issue of the idea that the whole people should own the means of production and distribution, producing for actual use, not for profit, the surplus always belonging to the producer, not to a few capitalists who lock it up.

Birthday Party.

A birthday party in honor of the ninth birthday of Nathel Donaca was held at the residence of her aunt, Mrs. T. J. Stites, on last Saturday afternoon, which was attended by the following young friends of Miss Nathel: Aileen Stevens, Dorothy Lee, Margaret Coen, Clarabel Seeley, Alice Seeley, Marcelle Austin, Beulah DeLancey and Wilma Junkin. It was a most pleasant gathering. It was most pleasant gathering of Miss Nathel's friends and will long be remembered by those who were present. The decorations were pink and white and refreshments were of the kind.

At the Dreamland.

Two of the best comedies ever shown and made by the Biograph company; "Maggy Becomes a Hero," a tale of a love who turns out to be some fighter; "The Romance of an Egg," a romance which is spoilt in a funny way by cold storage; "A Roman's Wife," a tale of the Gypsiess telling the old motto "love flies out of the window when starvation enters." "Pranks of Betsy," a rip roaring chase comedy with a dog as chief comedian. "Pete has a Good Time," more laughs.

Oswald West, democratic nominee for governor, was born in Ontario, Mich., May 20, 1873, and came to Oregon with his folks in 1877, spending all his life here but four years, a thorough Oregonian. He has made good in everything he has been connected with, a splendid representative of the people. In the banking business, in the land office, as railroad commissioner he has shown a marked capacity for work, and superior executive ability.

Lucille Hart went to Eugene this afternoon.

Wm. Corbett, a plumber, was fined by Recorder Redfield today, charged with being drunk and disorderly, the price being $5, which was paid, Mr. Corbett is the third plumber up before Mr. Redfield within a week or two.

Mr. Jos. Poister, of Kingstown, was not today with the Kingston vote not a very big job, as only a few were cast. Mr. Poister has the distinction of having taken the Democrat since it started, in fact the original Oregon Democrat published by DeLeon Smith father of Sheriff Smith, back in 1860-1.

THE PRIMARIES

The Insurgents Make a Great Showing.

Altogether it was a great Anti-Assembly victory in Oregon, Saturday. As anticipated Jay Bowerman was nominated by the republicans for governor by a small margin over Dimmick, due to there being three candidates in the field, and far from a majority. With one opponent he would have been badly beaten.

Hawley is nominated for congress in this district, and Lafferty, an insurgent in the second district.

For supreme judge H. J. Bean, an insurgent beat McCammant, and T. A. McBride was nominated for the six term.

F. W. Benson gets the nomination for secretary of state. T. B. Kay, an insurgent beats Hoyt bad for treasurer.

Willa Dunningway completely routed the assembly nominee for state printer, A. M. Crawford knocked Hart, the assembly nominee out for attorney general, L. R. Alderman of course is nominated for superintendent, F. J. Miller for railroad commissioner, John H. Lewis for engineer, J. T. Chinook, an insurgent for water commissioner.

The democrats have nominated Oswald West for governor, with splendid chances of his election, R. G. Smith for congressman in this district and Harry Lane in the second district, W. T. Slater and W. R. King for judges, Jas. G. Jeffrey for state printer, and probably J. B. Horner for superintendent.

In Multnomah count every assembly candidate for the legislature was defeated, including the great and only Pat McArthur, and Jack Labourette. The anti-assembly candidates swept things.

Commissioner Butler returned to Jefferson to complete the new steel bridge there, uniting Linn and Marion with a band of steel. Teams will begin running over it tomorrow, the ferry boat will then go out of commission, and Wednesday the structure will be done, a good job.

E. H. Rhoades went to Jefferson to look after his big prune crop, about half of which has been attended to. He will have about 150,000 pounds, worth up to 65 cents a pound for 40's, probably $9,000 worth in all, meaning a cleanup above expenses of $5,000 to $7,000. A booster for the fruit business of the Willamett.

District Attorney E. R. Bryson and Lawyer A. C. Woodcock, of Eugene, came down and went to Corvallis, Mr. Woodcock was a leader in the non-partisan judiciary movement, which deserves consideration.

A. P. Blackburn and daughter, of Lebanon, left for McMinnville.

W. J. Monteith left on a trip north.

Harry Elkins and Walter Huston came down from Lebanon.

Rev. Knott left on a Marion county trip.

Lawyer S. M. Garland came down from Lebanon.

J. D. Alkire left for Arlington.

W. S. Risley went to Salem.

Harry Shea left on a hide buying trip down the river.

Mrs. C. E. Fox returned from Halsey accompanied by her mother.

M. S. Durbin, of the U. S. forestry service, and wife, of Waldport, left on a trip to Portland. Mr. Durbin reported building seventeen miles of trail this year, completing a trail from Yaquina, near Toledo, to the Siuslaw, 52 miles in all. There was very little fire in his district this year, the damage being small.

Mrs. Alice Nagel, and daughter Mrs. Bradford, left for Tacoma, after a visit with Mrs. E. D. Sloan.

Albany College Lecture Course.

Captain Jack Crawford, the Post Scout, appears Friday night this week at the United Presbyterian Church. This is one week earlier than the date on the tickets. Capt. Jack was a boy soldier in the Union army and later for many years was chief of scouts on the western plains. He won renown as a story teller around the campfire and wrote unique and pleasing poetry. He has been on the lecture platform for years with very great success. He appears in his own outfit and explains why a scout wears his hair long. He tells the thrilling story of his famous ride of hundreds of miles, as well as of experiences in London and New York. Every five minutes a poem is recited. Sample verses follow: What do I know? Poor little me! I need a microscope to see What I do know. I understand That towering pines and mountains grand Beyond their peaks I cannot see, But God is there. And everywhere, And that is good enough for me.

A Popular Comedy

During the past season no comedy attained such a degree of popularity as "The Lottery Man" which ran for over eight months at the Bijou Theatre, New York. Strikingly original in title, name and treatment, the brisk little play swept over Manhattan like a refreshing breeze on a sultry day. Then everybody began talking about it—every body said it was a good thing. Alton Dale confessed that it kept him awake laughing over the situations—and its fortune was made. The Schurts are the managers, and Rida Jonsen Young, who wrote Brown of "Harvard," the author.

"The Lottery Man," with a company including William Russell, Vivian Ogden, Florence Watson, May Donahue, etc. came to Albany, Friday, Sept. 30.

Range of temperature 74-39.

Forecast: Fair tonight and Tuesday.

D. S. Smith, the present efficient sheriff, has been renominated for the position by the democrats of the county. This was the only contest in the party, hence the very light vote in the county.

Following is the vote:

Crawford gives Smith 15 majority and Jordan 20, making his majority approximately 100.

The Democrats.

M. A. Miller is nominated for senator on the democratic ticket, W. A. Kinney for county treasurer, Geo. M. DeVaney for recorder, and probably F. J. Denney, C. L. Shaw and A. A. Tussing for representatives; but the vote is incomplete on this and will not be known for certain until the official count is made, which is true also of the clerkship. A good democratic ticket will be in the field.

West carried this county over Myers nearly three to one.

Howard Nelson left this noon for the Shetland with his son, Robin going by way of Sheridan. Robin will soon be able to prove up on his claim. He has settled steadily on it for four years and will have a valuable property, a fine start for a young man and worth the sacrifice, if there is any of residue over a year in the wilderness.
