The boy is a fi.ished product for the gin mill. Every man who votes for the saloon votes for the result. At the close a collection was taken under Mrs. Armor's direction for the work in Linn county and over $600 raised in a few minutes for the fight for rightneousness, for the home, for continued prosperity and for a saloonless Albany. Albany.

During the evening a double quartet was heard several times in patriotic temperance songs. The speaker was continually applauded at her rousing remarks and great good was undoubt-edly done. At the beginning, in a short talk, Rev. McCullough, who was at Pendieton, told about the disgraceful attair there, lead by a wealthy business man, in which eggs were thrown at members of the Presbyterian assembly, a sample of the whiskey way of doing things, law-less at every turn.

 g42 actual cases, the details in some of them, indicting the saloon as a crim nal.
 Mr. Hackleman in closing makes a few remarks to the jury, showing the responsibility of the jury, the voters of the state, and their dury to render a verdict against the infamous traffic.
 He shatters the old quibble that prohibition is trying to make people moral by law, by giving the Blackstone definition: "Law is a rule of civil conduct prescribed by the supreme power in a state, commanding what is right and prohibiting, auditery, murder the liqu F business is wrong and cannot be made respectable, because alcohol is a pcison, and wherever drunk tends to produce the same fleect.
 The liquor men themselves are the ones doing all they can to prevent prohibiting, and their position is the same after and on the prohibit.
