Campaign Meeting at Tangent.

An "Oregon Dry" delegation from this city held an enthusiastic meeting at Tangent last night. Twenty-one young people of the Methodist church went in a "Tally-ho" and four others in a private conveyance, making the whole region resound with "Oregon Dry" songs and yells. Rev. W. S. Gordon and Clyde Williamson did the speaking, and were greatly encouraged by the cheers of the large audience as well as the good backing of the home team. If the scribe is any prophet, Tangent precinct will go dry as the dust of Arizona.

West's Meetings.

S. A. Devaney, of Philomath, reports a fine meeting last night when Oswald West spoke. Nearly everybody there will vote for him, probably not a dozen against him. Mr. West will speak in Albany Tuesday night and will no doubt be given a big house.

BUG JUICE SOCIETY.

Tall Timber, Oct. 27.—Last night I awakened in the early hours and a great thought came to me, and it was about pests. It is easy to keep the codlin moth under control. Just form a home rule association and let them resolve for a greater Oregon. They will then take some portions of Oregon and decide on what trees they will destroy, and those they will pass by, and we will have them under control. See! for those little corners that are controlled by the moth home rule association are going to license the moth, and while the moths are destroying the trees, the moths will be getting the revenues from trees, and if they go beyond the limits license, and if they go beyond the limits of their territory what of that. All we have to do is just to be controlled under the title of the Greater Codlin Moth Home Rule Association, and the moths will do the rest. All we have to do is to corner them under the name of the Greater Codlin Moth Home Rule Association, then give the codlins a license, and we will get rich, unless we stop and figure the difference between the license money and the value of the loss by wormy apples. We might corral the San Jose scale, cut worms and chintz bugs in the same association, and simplify the name by calling it the Greater Oregon Home Rule Bug Juice Association.

"The Woman He Married"

A Domestic Drama of Today by Herbert Bashford

PRICES.—$1.50, $1.00, 75c, 50c, 25c.

Empire Photoplay PROGRAM TONIGHT.

"The Iconoclast."—A ...Biograph drama. It is a helpful picture throughout. Not alone is it good dramatically, but it teaches the dissatisfied that wealth does not bring all that may be wanted. It is a sermon in ethics, and deserves wide circulation.

"The Vagaries of Love."—An American Pathe drama. This is a picture that keeps one guessing, ending beautifully. The tactful husband pays his beautiful wife back in her own coin, and teaches her a good lesson.

"Mrs. Remington's Pride."—A drama with a good moral to it. The innocent are very often made to suffer by someone else's wrongdoing. A slight misunderstanding may wreck a life. But it is all brought out beautifully in this Lubin picture.

"Resourceful Robert."—Love never does run smooth. But Robert has the tact to bring things to pass in this delightful little comedy, and it ends with the old man's "Bless you, my children."

Illustrated Song—"Tiddle, on your fiddle, play some rag-time," Miss Croson.
